DR. GRANT REBUKED BY BISHOP BURCH; LOYALTY IS ASKED

Use of Church as Forum for Speakers Who Do Not Believe in God Is Condemned.

VESTRY CRITICISM UPHELD

GRANT DEFINES HIS STAND

Condemns Church's Old Attitude on Toryism and Slavery, and Says It Has a Third Opportunity.

The Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the Church of the Ascension, was rebuked last night by Bishop Charles S. Burch of the Episcopal Diocese of New York for allowing his consecrated church to be used as the meeting place of a forum to which are invited speakers who do not believe in God, who are opposed to Government and who have no reverence for constituted authority.

The Bishop's position was made clear in a letter to the clergyman, made public at the same time as an earlier missive of Dr. Grant in which the clergyman presented his side of the recent controversy as to his alleged radical utterances and conduct.

Dr. Burch found that Dr. Grant's use of the church for the forum was "in distinct contravention of the plainly expressed terms and implication and spirit of the instrument of donation, the act of consecration and of the usages of this church which is a church of law and order." The Bishop thereupon demanded that "as rector of the Church of the Ascension," Dr. Grant "stand loyally by the Episcopal Church, its laws and its usages."

In his letter to the Bishop the rector set forth that his reference to the transport Buford, the Soviet "ark," was by way of contrast and not comparison to the Mayflower. He explained his objection to deportation as "a form of punishment alien to the spirit of American institutions," insisted the amnesty parade Christmas morning was entirely lawful, and denied that the sessions of the forum were within Episcopal jurisdiction.

Bishop Burch's Letter.

"The Rev. Percy S. Grant, D. D.,
Church of the Ascension, Fifth Avenue and Tenth Street, New York City:

"My Dear Dr. Grant—I have your letter of Jan. 15, 1920, answering my inquiries regarding utterances recently made from the pulpit of the Church of the Ascension, and happenings in said church, or in the parish house of the Church of the Ascension, about which utterances and happenings there has been much discussion in the newspapers and otherwise.

"In your letter, you confine the points at issue to three First, the comparison, or contrast, between the landing of the Mayflower and the deportation of alien anarchists on the Buford; second, your objection to deportation in general; third, the use of the assembly hall in the parish house of the Church of the Ascension, 12 West Eleventh Street, by the Peoples' Freedom Union, as a gathering place before its march up Fifth Avenue on Christmas morning, the object of said parade to express approval of amnesty to political prisoners.

"You dismiss the Mayflower matter on the ground that what you said was not by way of comparison, but by way of contrast.

"You defend yourself as to the comparison or contrast between the landing of the Mayflower and the sailing of the Buford by an argument against deportation as a form of punishment alien to the spirit of American institutions.

"You state that you have no sympathy or excuse for acts of violence, and you defend the amnesty parade on Christmas morning as an affair entirely within the law, stating that you had permission from the authorities for the assembly of those who were to take part in the parade.

"Inasmuch as these matters have been given so much publicity, and I, as bishop, have been appealed to, to take action, or to refrain from taking action, or to defend you as one of my clergy, I feel that it is desirable that both your letter and my answer should be given publicity to remove misconceptions that seem to have found lodgement in the minds of both your friends and our opponents, not alone in the Church of the Ascension, and in the city and State of New York, but in many different parts of the country. Having your permission to use your letter to me, as Bishop, in such wise as I have indicated, I shall give to the press both your letter and my answer at the proper time.

Bishop Counsels Rector.

"But let me say first of all, that this letter is written with the distinct understanding that I, as Bishop of the Diocese of New York, have no law of the Church behind me on which to proceed against you on either of the points named in your letter, even though I wished to inaugurate such proceedings, but that I write by way of counsel, as your Bishop, believing that I have a clear duty in the premises to offer such counsel as I may deem advisable.

"I write not only as one who knew you long before I became a Bishop, nine

INFLUENZA NEARS EPIDEMIC STAGE

CITY VOTES $80,000 FUND

Influenza is assuming the proportions of an epidemic in this city, health authorities admitted yesterday after 1,332 new cases of influenza and 23 deaths were reported for the twenty-four hours ended at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. In the same period there were 406 cases of pneumonia and 79 deaths. New cases and deaths by boroughs were:

The Board of Estimate yesterday granted Health Commissioner Dr. Royal S. Copeland $80,000 to provide sufficient nurses and additional inspectors to visit homes and for medical supplies in the fight on the disease. Dr. Copeland told the board the disease was reaching dangerous proportions, but he hoped to control it before it reached the same level as in Chicago.

Extra Police Aid Provided.

At a conference attended by the heads of the Health Department, the Sanitary Superintendents and the heads of borough offices every phase of the fight for preventing the spread of influenza was discussed. Police Commissioner Enright assigned twenty additional policemen to help the fifty that comprise the Sanitary Squad, and instructed the police to see that ordinances against spitting, smoking in the subways and other forbidden places, and keeping food exposed were obeyed. Twenty new Sanitary Inspectors were appointed.

As long as influenza prevails the Health Department offices in Manhattan and the borough branch offices will be kept open twenty-four hours each day. Arrangements have been made to provide laundry service for private homes where the nurses report the housewife ill. When a call comes to a hospital the ambulance surgeons have been instructed to determine whether the case is suitable for hospital or home treatment. If the latter is deemed best the department will provide home care.

All Vaccines Worthless.

Dr. Copeland announced that experiments had demonstrated that all anti-influenza vaccines were worthless, and that the vaccine said to have been discovered by Dr. W. H. Park, Director of Laboratories of the Health Department, and used extensively during the 1918 epidemic, will not be employed this time.

"The department laboratories," said Dr. Copeland, "made an extensive study of vaccines during the last eighteen months. In one place where much labor is employed 1,500 were vaccinated against influenza and 1,500 were not. That establishment had 5 per cent. of absentees in each group. The only difference was that the unvaccinated ones showed a health return one-tenth of 1 per cent. worse than those who had been vaccinated.

"This composite vaccine, consisting of germs supposed to be responsible for colds, influenza, pneumonia, and the

URGES ONE VALOR MEDAL

COFFMAN HITS SECRETARY

Says That Recommendations Were "Ruthlessly Changed"—Badger Thinks Morale Unharmed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Legislation designed to differentiate sharply between decorations awarded naval officers and men for "meritorious and distinguished" service and for "valor" was proposed today by Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight, senior member of the board that passed recently on medal recommendations, to the Senate sub-committee investigating decoration awards.

One reason for the existing controversy, Admiral Knight asserted, lay in the fact that there was no medal available except the Congressional Medal of Honor, awarded only in very exceptional cases for acts of extreme heroism.

Admiral Knight took issue with Secretary Daniels's contention that commanding officers of ships sunk or seriously damaged by the enemy should receive the Distinguished Service Medal whenever their conduct was meritorious.

"Officers who lose their ships," the Admiral told the sub-committee, "should never be so rewarded unless they take offensive action against the enemy or succeed in saving their ship through unusual ability."

He said that in the case of Commander D. W. Bagley, Secretary Daniels's brother-in-law, no decoration was recommended for any circumstance in connection with the sinking of the destroyer Jacob Jones, because Commander Bagley did not engage the enemy. A navy cross was recommended for the officer, he said, for good seamanship displayed in taking off the crew and passengers of the torpedoed British steamer Orama.

Suggests Medal for Valor.

Admiral Knight suggested that Congress revise the entire medal legislation and create a decoration to be given only for valor in cases where the act of heroism was not remarkable enough to warrant awarding a medal of honor. At present, he said, the navy cross was awarded for heroism when the act was not sufficient to earn a Medal of Honor and for distinguished service when the service was not important enough to warrant a Distinguished Service Medal.

"Thus," he added, "when you see a naval officer wearing a navy cross you do not know whether he got it for valor or distinguished service, and in fact the only medal we have that stands only for valor is the Medal of Honor."

The Admiral suggested as a temporary expedient that the Navy Department authorize the wearing of a clasp marked "for valor" on all navy crosses awarded for heroism.

Chairman Hale of the sub-committee said the Admiral's suggestions would be given careful consideration and would be included in the committee's report with a view to framing legislation along the lines suggested.

Discussing Secretary Daniels's order that the board reconsider all awards and submit a new report, Admiral Knight said:

"The board will modify its former report as it deems necessary and make changes if they are found desirable. We hope to render a new report within a few weeks."

Coffman Charges Interference.

Admiral Coffman indicated in his testimony that the recommendations of the Knight board had been "ruthlessly" changed by Secretary Daniels. Asked by Chairman Hale if his own recommendations had been ruthlessly changed, Admiral Coffman replied that he did not like to answer the question "in that form," but said:

"I do know they were changed, and I think the officers recommended for

Bread Prices to Rise One or Two Cents Despite Warning of Food Administrator

Housewives may expect an immediate advance of 1 or 2 cents a loaf in the price of bread, due to the increased cost of flour, according to a number of bakers who attended a conference with Federal Food Administrator Arthur Williams and United States Wheat Director Julius H. Barnes at the office of Mr. Williams, 130 East Fifteenth Street, yesterday afternoon. Some large baking concerns, Mr. Williams said, do not contemplate increasing prices of bread and will continue to sell the sixteen-ounce loaf at 9 or 10 cents, as at present.

The conference was a continuance of one held a few days ago, and was for the purpose of deciding whether to give official approval of an advance in wholesale bread prices to 10 cents for the sixteen-ounce loaf and 14½ cents for the twenty-four-ounce loaf. Twenty or twenty-five bakers and a number of grocers were present. At the conclusion of the conference Mr. Williams announced:

"The Fair Price Committee could not approve an advance in the established price of wheat bread. Each manufacturer must continue to charge not more than cost, plus a fair profit, and be at all times prepared to show that his price accords with this rule."

Mr. Barnes objected to what appeared to be a concerted movement on the part of the bakers for an increase in price of bread. He said he felt there were some bakers who were willing to continue making bread at present prices, but that if the committee approved a higher price these bakers would raise. He suggested blending flours, or a smaller-sized loaf, in order not to get away from the "sentimental 10-cent" loaf to the consumer.

A suggestion by Mr. Williams that the bakers consider operating without profit for three or four months met with no approval. John F. Hildebrand of the Shults Bread Company announced that his company would put up the price of bread and be prepared to show to Government accountants that it is making only a fair profit. In fact, he said, it would be willing to take 5 per cent. profit on the turnover. Where bread prices are increased, Mr. Williams said, the bankers must be prepared to show that they are only receiving cost plus a fair profit, otherwise they will be answerable under the Lever act relative to profiteering.

Silver Speculation Rush Causes Disorder in Berlin

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The general scramble for silver which has set in since the National Bank offered to redeem the outstanding coins has resulted in sharp competition between speculators and the Government.

Speculators have posted themselves in front of the National Bank building and carry placards announcing prices in excess of those paid by the Government. Those patriotically inclined who attempt to turn the coins into the bank are molested on the curb by speculators to such an extent that the police are frequently compelled to clear the streets.

National silver coinage not yet uncovered is estimated to be in excess of 500,000,000 marks. The Government proposes to secure it by enacting a law prohibiting traffice in silver coins.

URGE AID TO EUROPE BY LOANS TO LATINS

WOULD SAVE ON EXCHANGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Recommendation that proposed relief for Europe from the United States be furnished through the medium of loans to the countries of South and Central America, the proceeds of which would be used to pay the debts of those countries to Europe in the form of foodstuffs other necessaries, was considered tonight by many delegates to the second Pan-American financial congress as the outstanding conclusion of the congress, which closed its sessions today.

The European relief recommendation, presented to the congress by Dr. Jose Luis Tejadas of the Bolivian delegation, was embodied in a series of eighteen resolutions setting forth the conclusions reached at the meeting

Dr. Tejadas and other delegates pointed out that, as Europe acted as the financier of Latin America before the war, many of the Southern republics were indebted to many European nations needing relief, and were in a position to pay those debts with the needed commodities. The United States, it was asserted, would confer a double benefit by allowing the Latin-American countries to act as the "middlemen" in proposed relief measures. The existing exchange rates would work to the advantage of all concerned, Dr. Tejadas said, and at least $1,000,000,000 could be made immediately available to Europe through the plan.

The Congress at its closing session heard addresses by W. P. G. Harding, Governor of the United States Federal Reserve Board; Dr. Enrique Martinez Sabral of the Mexican delegation, Dr. Carlos Cesar de Oliveria Sampaio of Brazil, and Dr. Tejadas of Bolivia.

In bidding the delegates farewell, Secretary of the Treasury Glass declared: "The congress, I feel sure, has accentuated the sentiment of common purpose and strengthened the bonds of co-operation between the American republics. It has tended to improve the relations of cordiality and affection and to unite them in service to each other, to humanity, and to the world."

Tomorrow the delegates will visit the Naval Academy at Annapolis, and Monday and Tuesday will be spent at the Hog Island Shipbuilding Yards, near Philadelphia, and in New York, the final function being a dinner in New York Tuesday night given by the Pan American Society of the United States.

The recommendations of the congress, to which Bolivia, Brazil, and Venezuela noted reservations dealing for the most part with amplifications of certain sections or recommending changes in wording, were set forth in a statement tonight.

In addition to the recommendation that the name of the International High Commission be changed to "the Inter-American High Commission," the better to indicate its constituency and sphere of work, they recommend increased freight and passenger service to South America and measures to facilitate railroad transportation and postal and telegraph communications.

Certain States of this country are urged to modify their legislation so as to permit operation of branches of Latin-American banks within their jurisdiction, under proper regulation, so as to secure equality of treatment.

Equality in laws regulating foreign corporations in South America is urged, and the increased use of acceptances covering financial transactions involving import and export trade recommended. The establishment of an international gold fund, and uniform laws on the subject of checks are also advised.

Other financial recommendations include: Methods to avoid simultaneous double taxation of individuals and corporations in Latin-American countries; ratification by all American countries of the Buenos Aires plan of 1910 for an international bureau of registration for trade-marks at Havana; ratification of the Buenos Aires plan concerning patents and copyrights; amendment of the Webb law to permit American companies, importing or dealing in raw material produced abroad, to form under proper Government regulations organizations enabling such companies to compete on terms of equality with companies of other countries, and the extension of the commercial attaché system.

The congress also recommends that a simultaneous census be taken by all

HOLD MEETING OF PROTEST

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Republican irreconcilables in the Senate today threw a monkey wrench into treaty compromise machinery, stopping its wheels and perhaps damaging it beyond repair.

They called Senator Lodge into the office of Senator Hiram Johnson of California, and told him that they represented "a very large number" of Senators who would vote for the utter rejection of the treaty rather than accept changes in the Lodge reservations substantially weakening them.

This meeting, designated by Mr. Lodge a "protest meeting," was the climax of a day of great activity by the treaty's bitter foes, in the effort to prevent the bi-partisan conferees who have been meeting in Senator Lodge's office from agreeing on compromise reservations. The activity was based on reports which became current yesterday that the Democrats and Republicans, who have been acting as a conciliation committee, were about to come to terms upon Article X.

Knowing that there was an expectation that the agreement would be reached today, the irreconcilables timed their protest meeting so that it conflicted with the meeting hour of the bi-partisan conference. As a result there was no bi-partisan conference and the hoped-for agreement was deferred, if not made impossible.

Early in the day Senators Borah and Johnson, leaders of the "bitter enders," circulated energetically among Senators, spreading the word that Senator Lodge was weakening on Article X. and other Lodge reservations. The word "betrayal" was used in connection with Mr. Lodge's supposed weakening.

Sherman Threatens Party Bolt.

The irreconcilable leaders succeeded in creating considerable of a flurry. They got Senator Sherman of Illinois so wrought up over the reported "perfidy" of his party leader that he announced himself as a bolter from the Republican Party if an inch were yielded on the Lodge reservations. Senator Sutherland of West Virginia also spoke in emphatic terms against any proposed compromise, telling Senator Lodge that if he yielded, it meant that Mr. Sutherland would vote to reject the treaty if it was the last act of his political life.

Senators Borah and Johnson spent some time gathering information among their colleagues and the Democrats as to the status of negotiations in the bipartisan conference. What they learned evidently strengthened their resolution, for they let it be known that if Mr. Lodge pursued the course along which they said they had reason to believe he was headed, they would refuse longer to recognize his leadership in the Senate and would carry their fight on him into the Republican campaign and the Republican National Convention, of which he is slated to be temporary and permanent Chairman.

Soon after the Senate met, Senator Johnson conferred briefly with Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, and not long afterwards the protest meeting was called. Those who attended it were Senators Johnson, Borah, Knox, Brandegee, Moses, McCormick, Sherman and Poindexter.

Senators Lodge and New, members of the Republican group of bipartisan conferees, were called in to hear the protest. Senator Knox's appearance at this meeting was his first at the Capitol in some time. All of the eight voted in the Senate to kill the treaty.

Bipartisan Meeting Called Off.

While these Senators were gathering, the bipartisan conferees went to Senator Lodge's office at the hour set for the daily conference. The Democratic conferees expected to give the Republicans a definite answer concerning a concrete proposal made by the Republicans which had been tentatively considered, and which seemed to promise hope of agreement.

Senator Lodge telephoned to his colleagues that he would be unable to join them for ten minutes. Later he telephoned that he would be detained indefinitely, and, with their spirits somewhat depressed, the conferees disbanded.

After the protest meeting Senators referred questioners to Senators Lodge and Johnson. Senator Lodge made this statement:

"We have been hearing some gentlemen who wish to protest against any change in the reservations. They represent a large number of Senators who are opposed to any change. We represent nobody but ourselves, of course, and must hear both sides."

"Are you as hopeful as you were last night?" he was asked.

"We shall see," he replied.

"Did you have a pleasant time?"

"Oh, perfectly."

"Have the bipartisan conferences been called off?"

"Oh, no; we shall meet again tomorrow at 10:30."

DUTCH REFUSE TO GIVE UP EX-KAISER; DECLARE TREATY IMPOSES NO OBLIGATION; TRADITION AND HONOR FORBID SURRENDER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—State Department officials made it plain today that the American Government intended to continue to wait and observe the manner in which the Allies carried out the announced decision of the Supreme Council at Paris to reopen Soviet Russia to foreign trade before this Government undertook to formulate in any respect its attitude and policy in the matter of such trade.

As this is the attitude of the Washington authorities, American clearance papers will not be granted for the present to ships destined for Bolshevist ports.

Until the situation in Siberia, which is now very chaotic and confused and believed to be full of elements of grave danger, clears up, American trade with Siberia will be discouraged owing to possible complications with General Semenoff, the Buriat Hetman, the Social Revolutionaries centred at Irkutsk and the Bolsheviki who are approaching that place.

Soviet Purposes to Insist On Its Own Terms

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A wireless dispatch from Moscow, referring to the resumption of trade by the Allies with the Russian co-operative organizations, says:

"The economic policy applied by the Entente to Esthonia, Latvia and other countries, which consists of extorting most precious raw materials in exchange for clothing and cigarettes, is unacceptable to us. We can only accept such an exchange of goods as will re-establish our industries and means of transport."

COURT CONVICTS HEAD OF HARPER'S

C. T. Brainard of Special Grand Jury Attributes Prosecution to His Work There.

FIRM ISSUED "MADELEINE"

But Mr. Brainard Denies Advance Knowledge of Publication Alleged to be Improper.

Clinton Tyler Brainard, President and Treasurer of Harper & Bros., and Secretary of the Extraordinary Grand Jury which investigated some municipal departments and public officials, and the Mayor's charge of collusion against officials and employes of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, was convicted in Special Sessions yesterday on the charge of violating Section 1141 of the Penal Code by the publication of objectional reading matter. The corporation was also convicted of the same offence.

The charge originated in the complaint of John S. Sumner, agent for the Society for the Prevention of Vice, who was the chief witness when Mr. Brainard was held for trial in $500 bail by Magistrate Simpson in the Washington Heights Court on Dec. 12. The publication complained of was a book entitled "Madeleine," which purported to be the autobiography of a notorious woman who had reformed.

Justices Voorhees, McInerney,, and Herrman heard the case yesterday and rendered their decision after Mr. Brainard had taken the stand in his own defense and had declared that he had no personal responsibility for the acceptance of the book for publication. The decision to publish the volume, he said, had been made by a literary conference composed of six members or employes of the publishing house. He was in Europe part of the time that negotiations for publication were in progress, and he had not heard of the book nor read any part of it until three days after the summons had been served upon him to appear in the Magistrates' Court.

"I read the book three days after the summons was served," testified Mr. Brainard. "With the exception of one chapter I think that the book would be one of the greatest books in the world for uplift purposes." On cross-examination he admitted that he did not consider "Madeleine" a good book for a girl of 16 years to read. He said Harper and Brothers had never published previously a book like it.

Questioned about the wording of an advertisement having to do with a publication in which he was concerned in the firm of Clinton T. Brainard & Co., which was said to read: "Not for prudes, children or young ladies," Mr. Brainard replied that this quotation was taken from a decision by Supreme Court Justice Morgan J. O'Brien. In reply to another question Mr. Brainard said:

"I have never stated at any club or to a college professor that I was an authority on erotic literature. I did not compose the advertisement refered to, but sanctioned its publication. It concerned an oriental book. The literature of Latin countries is different from that of Anglo-Saxon."

Sentence was suspended for a week pending further investigation of the case. Mr. Brainard was released in the same bail of $500. The maximum penalty is $1,000 fine or one year in the penitentiary or both.

Brainard Alleges Persecution.

In a statement made last night Mr. Brainard said two active Vice Presidents of Harper & Brothers, John P. Gavit and Henry H. Hoyns, and the six members of the Literary Conference of Harper & Brothers were all more closely

NOTE DELIVERED IN PARIS

HOLLAND'S DUTY HER OWN

So She Cannot Withdraw from Former Emperor the Benefit of Her Laws.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The reply of the Dutch Government to the note of the Supreme Council demanding the extradition of the former German Emperor is a firm refusal. The reply received here this morning by the Netherlands Legation was deciphered by the staff and delivered to the Foreign Office late this afternoon.

The document reads as follows:

"By verbal note, dated Jan. 15, 1920, given to the envoy of the Queen at Paris, the Powers, referring to Article 227 of the Treaty of Versailles, demand that the Government of Holland give into their hands William of Hohenzollern, former Emperor of Germany, so that he may be tried.

"Supporting this demand, they observe that if the former Emperor had remained in Germany the German Government would, under the terms of Article 228 of the Treaty of Peace, have been obliged to deliver him.

"In citing as premeditated violations of international treaties, as well as a systematic disregard of the most sacred rules of the rights of man, a number of acts, committed during the war by German authority, the powers place the responsibility, at least morally, upon the former Emperor.

"They express the opinion that Holland would not fulfill her international duty if she refused to associate herself with them, within the limit of her ability, to pursue, or at least not to impede, the punishment of crimes committed.

"They emphasize the special character of their demands, which contemplate, not a juridical accusation, but an act of high international policy, and they make an appeal to Holland's respect of law and love of justice not to cover with her moral authority violation by Germany of the essential principles of the solidarity of nations.

Treaty Not Binding on Holland.

"The Queen has the honor to observe, first, that obligations which for Germany could have resulted from Article 228 of the Treaty of Peace cannot serve to determine the duty of Holland, which is not a party to the treaty.

"The Government of the Queen, moved by imprescriptible reasons, cannot view the question raised by the demand of the Powers except from the point of view of its own duty. It was absolutely unconnected with the origin of the war and has maintained, and not without difficulty, its neutrality to the end. It finds itself then face to face with facts of the war in a position different from that of the powers.

"It rejects with energy all suspicion of wishing to cover with its sovereign right and its moral authority violations of the essential principles of the solidarity of nations, but it cannot recognize an international duty to associate itself with this act of high international policy of the powers.

"If in the future there should be instituted by the society of nations an international jurisdiction, competent to judge in case of war deeds, qualified as crimes and submitted to its jurisdiction by statute antedating the acts committed, it would be fit for Holland to associate herself with the new régime.

"The Government of the Queen cannot admit in the present case any other duty than that imposed upon it by the laws of the kingdom and national tradition.

Traditions and National Honor.

"Now, neither the constituent laws of the kingdom, which are based upon the principles of law universally recognized, nor a respectable secular tradition which has made this country always a ground of refuge for the vanquished in international conflicts, permit the Government of Holland to defer to the desire of the powers by withdrawing from the former Emperor the benefit of its laws and this tradition.

"Justice and national honor, of which respect is a sacred duty, oppose this. The Netherlands people, moved by the sentiments to which in history the world has done justice, could not betray the faith of those who have confided themselves to their free institutions.

"The Government of the Queen is pleased to believe that the powers will recognize the good grounds of these considerations, which rise above any consideration of personalities and which seem to it so peremptory that they could not reasonably give rise to wrong interpretations."

PREPARE ADDRESS TO KAISER.

By GEORGE RENWICK.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The Pan German faithful are preparing a great address of loyalty to William II on the occasion of his birthday, Jan. 27.

The Reichsbote, a paper which under the old régime had a reputation for being so unenterprising and decorous that it could be read in the most innocent court circles and still enjoy the support of the anti-republican "society," is superintending this manifestation of devotion to the exile of Amerongen. A pompous address has been drawn up and printed on sheets, on each of which there is room for forty signatures. These sheets have been distributed all over the country and are returnable by Sunday at the latest. The address reads:

"Your Kaiserly and Royal Majesty.

"On the 27th of January, once a day of joy and pride for the German people and now one of doleful remembrances of a better past, royalist men and women approach you, in true love and devotion, in order to offer you our most reverent devotion.

"May God's grace be vouchsafed to you. May the almighty hand of the Highest preserve and strengthen the precious health of your Kaiserly and Royal Majesty. May He lessen the painful impressions created by previous experiences, and after bitter days of trouble may the future be lighted through His marvelous Providence."

"As your Majesty was joyfully and enthusiastically honored and exalted by us in the days of brightness and good fortune, so in days of darkness and hard trials, we wish to make known most emphatically that our monarchical feelings remain unshaken—away over the frontiers of the Fatherland our hearts find their way t oyour Majesty. A dividing frontier cannot loosen the bonds which tie the German and Prussian people to the Kaiserly and royal house to which they owe so much.

"What has grown up together for 5,000 years cannot be parted by any confusion, by any force, by any shame or by any outrage. The greatest and most elevating memories of our history bind the ruling house and the people together inextricably.

"In this case it is also true that whom God hath joined let no man put asunder. We hold firmly to the ideal of the unity of the Kaiser and the Empire which are like parents together. We will not give up our ideals, which were the ardent hopes of our fathers and will be a holy legacy to our children. With this solemn vow we do homage to your majesty with deepest veneration."

On Monday all the sheets, which have been returned, will be sent by a special messenger to Amerongen. It will be his duty to hand them to the ex-Kaiser.

At the offices of the Reichsbote, where the address lies awaiting signatures, there are no queues, and judging by the smiles of joy with which the few royalists who put in appearance are received there does not appear to be any great popular enthusiasm for this flamboyant address. Of course, large quantities of the sheets will be signed somehow or other.

DENY BARRIER PLAN.

London and Paris Disclaim Intention to Send Troops to Caucasus.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A statement issued today on behalf of Premier Lloyd George says there is no truth in reports that the British War Minister, Winston Spencer Churchill, and the General Staff advocate the sending of troops to the Caucasus or any other part of Russia.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—The recent announcement of the imminent dispatch of an extensive military expedition to the Caucasus was an erroneous deduction, caused by the fact that the British had given notice of inability to furnish their quota of troops for the plebiscite areas, according to a statement from the Foreign Office today.

The fact is, it is pointed out, the Supreme Council has specifically rejected propositions to send even small contingents of troops to help the Georgians and Azerbaijans and has decided to confine its aid to material and supplies.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—It is authoritatively affirmed here that the British Government is taking what it regards as the necessary measures to protect India and Persia against the Bolshevist military diversion toward those regions. The expectation in quarters acquainted with the situation, involved in safeguarding the back-door approaches to India, is that British-officered Indian forces, together with Persian troops, will be used to meet any aggresive activities by the Soviet army that has crossed the Caspian Sea.

SHOWS ERZBERGER SOUGHT BRIEY MINES

CHANGED HIS POLICY LATER

BERLIN, Jan. 23 (Via Copenhagen).—The Erzberger-Helfferich trial is filling the pages of the daily papers. Today Helfferich tried to justify his imputations concerning Erzberger's connection with the mining magnate, August Thyssen, declaring that Erzberger was a great annexationist as long as he was a member of the Board of Directors of the Thyssen concern.

Erzberger then even demanded the annexation of the English islands of Jersey and Guernsey, it was declared, because of their mineral riches. It was also said that Erzberger pestered Helfferich, at that time Imperial Minister of the Interior, with proposals that the Briey District Mines be awarded to the House of Thyssen, but when Erzberger became a confidant of the "Traitorous House of Parma" he changed his opinion and refused to support any annexation scheme. Erzberger had tried to ride both horses, that of Thyssen and that of Parma, simultaneously, it was said, until Thyssen rudely shook him.

Both Erzberger and Helfferich displayed great anxiety that Thyssen should testify, but the aged mining magnate wrote that he was ill and could not come to Berlin. The Judge decided to send a commission to examine him.

Erzberger frankly admitted that he had been a member of the Thyssen Board of Directors and had received 40,000 marks annually for his services. He had never made a secret of it, he said. There was no law prohibiting members of the Reichstag from accepting such positions, and he mentioned a number of noble friends of Helfferich who had been in the same position for years without anybody finding fault.

The Finance Minister admitted having advocated the awarding of the Briey mines temporarily to Thyssen because the latter was threatened with the loss of his mines on Normandy. Besides, he held, Thyssen had proved that Germany would lose the war unless her resources of iron ore for the manufacture of guns and ammunition were increased. Thyssen's remonstrations were unavailing, and German firms had to buy iron in Sweden at a terrific price.

Erzberger said he always contended that the Briey mines should only temporarily be turned over to Thyssen's use or if possible exchanged for Alsatian potash mines if France could be induced to enter peace negotiations. He admitted that Thyssen had urged the annexation of the Briey district, which finally led to Erzberger's resignation from the Board of Directors.

Helfferich offered a copy of a memorial written by Erzberger in the first few months of the war and submitted to Bethmann Hollweg, the General Staff, and other high personages in which Erzberger advocated a most extensive plan of annexations, including parts of Belgium and France. Erzberger admitted having been the author of this, but declared that he changed his view completely as soon as the truth about the Marne battle became known, when he told Bethmann and others that now Germany must consider herself lucky if she escaped by the skin of her teeth.

Erzberger admitted that later he might have regarded Germany's position as bad, but he always preached that peace be made while Germany was yet strong. It was for this reason, he said, that he urged his peace resolution in the Reichstag in 1917, not as Helfferich suggested, to serve Austria's "traitorous" intrigues to obtain a separate peace.

The Finance Minister said that he early recognized Helfferich's "evil influence" on the Kaiser, whom Helfferich and his clique were declared to have systematically misinformed, they having formed a ring around Wilhelm impenetrable by any member of the Reichstag. When finally Erzberger and Dr. Suedekum did obtain an audience they were shocked at the Kaiser's ignorance regarding the sentiments that caused the Reichstag to pass the peace resolutions.

"That was a clever trick in your resolution," said the Kaiser, "that permits us to take in the east what we must leave in the west, but still we may pocket some French contributions and English oil, cotton and other raw products."

His monarchical feeling received a heavy blow that day, hearing the Kaiser echo the views of Helfferich, who was present, Erzberger exclaimed.

GERMAN LEADERS CLEARED IN SCANDAL

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Jan 23 (via Copenhagen).—The public prosecutor is hastening his investigation in the Sklarz case, being materially aided by a private investigation conducted by the Social Democratic Party. It is expected that the trial will begin early next month.

The private investigation was instigated by Scheidemann and Noske, who have been accused by certain reactionary organs of having been on intimate terms with the Sklarz brothers and of having awarded public contracts to them from which they derived exorbitant profits which, it was intimated, those two and other statesmen shared.

The brothers are also accused of many other dishonest practices. Among them is the charge that they, in connection with Dr. Helphand, alleged to have been a profiteer, who was Lenin's and Ludendorff's confident, and Brockdorff-Rantzau, Scheidemann, and other politicians and diplomatists, some of Danish nationality, bought up valuable lands in Schleswig-Holstein which were to come under Danish rule.

The Social Democratic Committee investigation acquitted Scheidemann and Noske of these charges, which emanated mainly from the Sklarzs' former bookkeeper, Sonnenfeld, who, after being charged with embezzling 1,500,000 marks, fled to Holland, where he was arrested.

In a memorial submitted to the Socialist committee at the investigation, Scheidemann denied that during the war he entered a conspiracy with Dr. Helphand and Sklarz to make shipments to Lenin in sealed cars from Switzerland through Germany into Russia, for which service all three were said to have received enormous rewards from the German Government, and that besides Scheidemann had received millions from the same source to start a revolution in France.

Scheidemann characterized all these charges as absurd inventions, and avowed that he never received any money from the German Government.

LETTS TAKE REGZIZA AND PUSH ON EAST

LANDWEHR DID GOOD WORK

By WALTER DURANTY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

RIGA, Jan. 22.—The Letts achieved a great success yesterday by the capture of the Letgalen capital, Regziza (sixty miles northeast of Dvinsk), with prisoners, field guns, a train of armored cars, and other material.

According to the latest news the advance is continuing eastward toward the junction of Lutzen, about twenty-five miles distant, two-thirds of which distance is already covered.

Further south the Poles are making equally rapid progress in a northeasterly direction and more than two-thirds of Letgalen is already cleared.

One of the most satisfactory features of the situation as far as Letvia's future is concerned is the high tribute paid by the Commander of the Second Lettish Division to the Baltic Landwehr for the good fighting and valuable assistance on his right in the taking of Regziza. The Landwehr is a volunteer corps of Germanic origin whose leaders are descendants of the Teutonic conquerors of 700 years ago and which, before the great war, formed the local aristocracy and conducted nine-tenths of the business which had made Riga a fine and prosperous city. But after delivering the city from the Bolsheviki last Summer with German help the Landwehr passed under German influence and attempted to seize local control altogether. They were defeated by the Letts and only permitted to exist on condition they were under command of a young English officer, Colonel Alexander. Naturally, there has been considerable ill feeling between the two factions, which some of the Landwehr chiefs augmented by ill-judged intrigues—with Bermondt, for instance.

Fortunately, Colonel Alexander is not only a born leader of men, but exceedingly diplomatic. On the one hand, he won the confidence of the Landwehr, made them see the folly of attempting to rewin all the old predominance, restored their shattered morale, and brought them to a high state of military efficiency. On the other hand, he convinced the Letts the Landwehr could and did form a valuable part of their army. This is the first occasion the Letts officially have had a good word to say for the Landwehr, and it augurs well for the healing of the breach which the country's best friends regard as highly desirable for its future welfare.

Among the prisoners captured around Regziza were elements of five communist regiments, though by no means were all five present in full strength, which shows the efforts the Reds are making to avoid defeat. Further north, too, they were throwing in men freely in vain counterattacks.

This sector, which from the military viewpoint was the key to the whole front, has just been visited by allied military representatives, the English General Burt, the French Colonel Duparquet, and the American Colonel Daly, accompanied by Colonel Ballod, the Lettish Commander in Chief. From one of the members of the party I received the following impressions of their trip:

The party traveled by special train as far as Pultovova Junction, and so were spared the horrors of shunting delays en route. From Pultovova they went to the front in sleighs. For the last two miles of the drive the track ran parallel to the front, which is only about half a mile away. The Reds perceived a rather more imposing cavalcade than customary, and promptly attacked with vigor, the result being bullets soon were whistling over their heads—fortunately the Bolsheviki always fire high—of the distinguished visitors. The attack was held by the Letts, but the road was seriously enfiladed by rifle and machine gun fire, so that the party was forced on the return journey to make a detour of three or four miles across country. I gathered that this part of the trip made them appreciate to the full the transportation difficulties facing the Lettish Army. They were greatly struck by the spirit and good quality of the Lettish troops.

The "Partisans," the volunteer corps of local peasants, create a very favorable impression. The original force is fairly well armed and equipped, but as the advance proceeds it is being joined by almost every man of the liberated population capable of bearing arms, so bitter is their feeling against the Bolsheviki. The best clothes equipment they can get is from the dead Bolsheviki, but as the latter are very short of boots many of the Partisan newcomers are almost barefooted in the snow.

On the return from the front to divisional headquarters at Bolofsk the party inspected the feeding, training, and sanitary establishments. They found the Lettish conservation of food exceedingly good. Everything is made to go as far as possible and even the bones of meat are sent back to Riga to be made into fertilizer.

Reds Cut Off the Crimea.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Russian Soviet forces have virtually cut off the Crimean Peninsula from the mainland, according to an official statement issued at the War Office in Moscow and received here by wireless.

"Our advancing troops are fighting about six miles north of Perekop, and have repelled enemy counter-attacks about nine miles west of Genichesk," the statement says. "In the Steppe region, further east, we have defeated the Third Kuban Division, capturing its divisional staff."

Another Moscow dispatch reports anti-Bolshevist forces evacuating Elizabethrad, in the northern part of the Government of Kherson, and hurriedly retreating toward the Black Sea coast.

Sergius Sazonoff, former Minister of Foreign Affairs of Russia, has arrived in Warsaw to confer on steps to be taken in opposing the Bolsheviki, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. It is said that from Warsaw he will go to Southern Russia to begin negotiations with General Dinikin.

In connection with the partial raising of the blockade against Russia, announcement is made by the Esthonian Legation that the transit of goods through Esthonia destined for Russia is to be free of customs and transit duties.

A dispatch to The Central News from Helsingfors says the Bolsheviki are trying to force the population of Russia to work every day in the week and have introduced a compulsory working day of twelve hours. All working classes are affected. It is said the new rule is being enforced with the utmost severity.

HARBIN, Manchuria, Jan. 23 (Associated Press).—Following the assumption by General Semenoff of authority over the territory under his control, Lieut. Gen. Horvath, Vice President and General Manager of the Chinese Eastern Railway, issued the following proclamation to the Russian population along the railway:

"On account of the interruption of communication between the supreme ruler and the Central Government organization, I consider myself forced, pending a renewal of contact, to assume full power over the railway zone. At the same time I would call the attention of the population to the fact that according to the treaty with China the sovereign rights of this territory belong to China and that the satisfactory working of the railway as a Russian enterprise on foreign territory can be attained only by the maintenance of friendly relations between the Russian and Chinese people."

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 23.—Peaceful revolution has broken out in Kamchatka Peninsula, where the military, in league with the population, has arrested officers and civil officials, according to advices received here from Helsingfors.

Violent fighting is said to be in progress at Irkutsk, where the All-Russian Government has had its headquarters, between partisans of General Kolchak, former All-Russian commander, and rebels.

SAYS BRITISH POLICY IS STILL CONFUSED

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Reports from Paris of a "split" in the British Cabinet over the Government's policy in regard to Russia and demands from some quarters that Lloyd George shall give a clear definition of that policy are dealt with this morning by The London Times, which claims to be able to give some of the facts. As regards the rumors, The Times points out that they were to the effect that Walter Long, Winston Churchill, Lord Beatty and Sir Henry Wilson hurried to Paris at the end of last week unbidden, in the hope of upsetting the Prime Minister's policy of trading with the Russian co-operatives; that their attempt had been unsuccessful, and that, as Churchill's policy in regard to Russia had been discarded in favor of the policy of the Prime Minister, serious friction had arisen between the two men; that the policy of sending eleven British battalions to police the plebiscitary areas defined by the Peace Treaty has been radically modified, in view of the decision to send a large number—200,000 men were mentioned—to the Caucasus.

"These rumors," says The Times, "were nourished by a Paris message to an evening journal which dilated upon the divergence between the Prime Minister's views and those of the Secretary for War, and stated that Churchill and Walter Long had hurried over to Paris 'when the lifting of the blockade was announced, in order to put a baton in the wheel of the Prime Minister's policy,' and by a long attack upon Churchill in The British Weekly, a journal closely associated with the Prime Minister."

As regards the facts, The Times says: "They appear to be that toward the middle of last week dispatches from the British Military Mission at Denikin's headquarters represented the position as menacing and caused some alarm as to the safety of the mission itself. Instructions were consequently drawn up in view of this apparent emergency with the object of providing for a safe withdrawal of the British mission and of as many wives and families of loyal Russians as possible. The plans are said to have contemplated the dispatch of a small British force in the case of need to assist in protecting the embarkation of the British mission and others for whom accommodation might be available. These plans were communicated to the Prime Minister in Paris, who on receipt of them summoned Walter Long, Churchill, Lord Beatty, and Sir Henry Wilson to Paris, where they arrived after the decision of the Supreme Council had been taken to trade with the Russian co-operatives.

"Until they reached Paris they are stated to have been entirely unaware that any such scheme was under discussion. It appears to be true that the number of British battalions selected for service in the plebiscitary areas has been diminished from eleven to three, but that the dispatch of a large British force to the Caucasus or elsewhere has never been contemplated. One effect of the rumors and insinuations has been to intensify the feeling that the British policy in regard to Russia urgently requires definition by the only authority qualified to define it, that is to say, the Prime Minister himself. He is felt to have broken the pledges which he gave spontaneously to the House of Commons on Nov. 13, that the Government would inaugurate no new policy in regard to Russia without giving the House the fullest opportunity of discussing it."

The Daily Mail's political correspondent, writing on the same subject, insists the differences between Churchill and the Premier did exist over the latter's Russian policy, and did develop at the Paris conference, but that they now have been composed, Churchill not now proposing to take any action which the Premier does not approve.

CALLS IT "ZIGZAG POLICY."

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Speaking at Cambridge tonight Herbert H. Asquith, former Premier, severely criticised the coalition Government's "zig-zag Russian policy of compromises, improvisions, insincerities, and inconsistences." He said a large community such as Russia must for good or ill decide its own form of government.

"The heaviest indictment against the Peace Conference," Mr. Asquith declared, "is that while repainting the maps and distributing everywhere among the late enemies intolerable and impossible burdens, it made no serious or sustained effort to secure even the foundation of the possibility of peace with Russia."

MILLERAND CABINET RETAINS WEAK HOLD

Chamber Vote Thought to Have Reduced It to a Stop-Gap Ministry.

PRESS CONDEMNS OUTBREAK

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—Today the Millerand Cabinet does not exactly know where it stands because late yesterday in the Chamber the attack of a Deputy on one of the Ministers precipitated a bitter debate which ended in half of the members abstaining from voting on a motion declaring confidence in the new Cabinet.

Perhaps it is true enough that there was more behind the row than this single accusation, but nevertheless an American who has heard so much abuse in his own Congress may be permitted to agree with a majority of the French press today that it was not an edifying reception which the Millerand Cabinet received on its début before the French Congress. M. Briand's paper L'Eclair, calls yesterday's performance a foolish Bourbon show, that being a play on the name of a famous French music hall, the Folies Bergère. When the curtain went down M. Millerand's Cabinet had a vote of 272 against 17, but there are 617 Deputies, and this means that more than 300 did not vote.

The Cabinet will remain in power for the present, but the situation seems to justify belief that the present Cabinet is merely a stop-gap until Deschanel takes office and Briand takes power.

The real reason back of the trouble is that Millerand went for a large part outside the beaten track in picking his associates. That has displeased many of the Chamber groups, who believe they were neglected by the new Premier. But that reason adds little to the dignity of the performance in the chamber.

After M. Millerand had read his carefully prepared and beautifully phrased declaration Leon Daudet, editor of L'Action Francaise and the Royalist leader who won much credit during the war by exposing spies, poised a question as to M. Steeg, Minister of the Interior in the Millerand Cabinet. He said Steeg had succeeded Malvy of the Painlevé Cabinet as Minister of the Interior after Malvy had been accused of disloyalty and that Steeg was as much of a traitor as Malvy. Daudet declared that Steeg was the tutor of a child that Malvy had by a spy named Nelly Beryl. This started a row which almost broke up the proceedings.

Millerand said he demanded confidence in the whole Cabinet. It was proposed that confidence be voted in all the Cabinet except Steeg. Millerand refused, demanding an unqualified vote of confidence. Then followed a heated debate, in which M. Accambray, another member of the new Cabinet as Under Secretary, was accused by Prince Murat of having shirked military duty during the war. Steeg, who had been absent, entered and made a blanket denial of all Daudet had said, claiming he was as good a patriot as lived. Then the vote was taken, with the result already given.

Le Matin says:

"One or two more sessions like yesterday's and a Cabinet of peace will be more unpopular than a Cabinet of war."

After regretting the appearance the session gave, Le Matin says:

"It is a question of the discontent of a certain group on seeing certain men come into power and certain men remain out of power. The gravity of the real situation disappears in a tumult of furious defiances and thwarted ambitions."

In conclusion, Le Matin says it is too early to predict what will happen to the Millerand Cabinet.

The Echo de Paris says the choice of M. Steeg was a mistake, but that M. Millerand should not take the vote too seriously, and that if he replaced Steeg he can get a better vote. It adds:

"We don't believe M. Steeg will regard himself as indispensable to the safety of France. The Chamber gave him good advice yesterday."

Several papers comment on the fact that the only section of Millerand's declaration which was applauded was his reference to the good work of Clemenceau.

The Petit Journal observes:

"The declaration, except for the passage rendering homage to M. Clemenceau, was received in calm and silence. It appears to us more long than vigorous."

Le Journal says:

"The situation caused by yesterday's session ought to be straightened out at once. Perhaps it will be done next week on the occasion of questions upon the Cabinet's interior policies."

The Victoire says:

The Victoire continues:

"If the Chamber wishes to do any real work it will do well to choose a President who can preside. That is an indispensable condition if the lamentable spectacle of yesterday is not to be repeated."

L'Eclair remarks:

"M. Millerand was questioned only upon the composition of his Cabinet. Only with difficulty did he obtain a vote of confidence. The number of abstentions is such that the situation of the Ministry after this debate reduced to the level of personalities rests very undecided.

"At any moment of our national life such a state of things would be serious. At present, the moment when the Government has need of the greatest confidence in the interior as well as abroad, it takes on a character especially grave.

"Some of the political writers find the real difficulty in the composition of the Bloc National, formed by Clemenceau to whip the Socialists last November and which has so many divergent elements that it cannot agree on a united policy."

Humanité says:

"The Chamber gave yesterday a very sorry spectacle. It was rowdy, violent, agitated and torn by low personal discussions. We now watch for the Bloc National to dissolve before our eyes."

Humanité thinks the result of the vote condemns the Millerand Ministry.

M. Daudet, of course, in his journal, l'Action Française, says that M. Millerand must get rid of Steeg or quit power. He says that there was nothing in Millerand's declaration that meant anything, that it was full of glittering generalities. He threatens to start another row if Steeg stays in, and the indications are that he will find supporters in other attacks on the new ministry.

GIVE THE JUGOSLAVS MORE TIME TO REPLY

Three Days Additional Granted by the British and French Governments.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The time in which the Jugoslav Government must give a definite reply as to whether it will accept the settlement of the Adriatic question reached by the Supreme Council early this week was extended today for three days by the British and French Governments.

SAYS KOLCHAK'S LIFE IS NOW IN DANGER

Harbin Correspondents Report He Will Be Tried—Semenoff Aids Evacuation.

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 24.—Confirming the report that Admiral Kolchak, former head of the Omsk Government in Russia, is a prisoner of the revolutionists at Irkutsk, The Daily Mail's Harbin correspondent, in a dispatch dated Thursday, says that the indications are that he will be tried and that his life is in danger.

"Various reasons are current," says the correspondent, "why Kolchak was surrendered by the Czechs, to whose protection he had been confided by the Allies, but it would be premature to accuse the Czechs of bad faith."

RED CROSS NEAR PETROGRAD.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—American Red Cross workers have established headquarters within twenty-five miles of Petrograd and are preparing to extend considerably the activities of their organization there. A serious situation has arisen in Eastern Finland, and necessitates immediate relief measures in Karelia and Ingermannland, two small States lying along the shores of Lake Ladoga.

The base of supplies for this work will be at Viborg, and distribution in the interior will be made by means of sleds. Reports indicate that conditions are almost critical, and it is expected 1,500 tons of supplies will be necessary to feed the people. Colonel Edward E. Ryan of Washington, D. C., in command of the Red Cross organization for Western Russia, is in charge in the new field.

HOUSE APPROVES HIGHER NAVY PAY

NO PROVISION FOR OFFICERS

They May Be Looked After Later, but First Consideration Is to Keep Men in Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Increase of approximately one-third in the base pay of all enlisted men in the navy and the coast kuard, except recruits, is provided for in a bill passed today by the House and sent to the Senate. The vote was 311 to 10.

The increase, retroactive to Jan. 1 last, would continue until July 1, 1921.

No increase for officers was provided by the bill, Representative Kelley, Republican, of Michigan, who had charge of the measure, explaining that it was desired to hurry pay relief for enlisted men, who are leaving the navy "at an alarming rate." He added that officers might be provided for later. The increase for men was estimated at $10,000,000.

"The navy is short forty to forty-five thousand men on its normal strength," said Mr. Kelley. "A majority of the ships are tied up for lack of personnel, particularly all of the Pacific Fleet being held at Mare Island and Bremerton."

Parliamentary tactics of Republican leaders in calling up the bill under a rule preventing amendment were denounced by Democrats.

Under the measure an annual bonus of $480 would be given to commissioned warrant officers and of $240 to warrant officers, while the monthly base pay of other enlisted men would be fixed as follows: Chief petty officers $126, acting chief petty officers $99, petty officers, first class, $84; second class $72, third class $60; non-rated men, first class $54; second class $48, third class $33; firemen, first class $60; second class $54, third class $48; cabin stewards and cooks $84; wardroom and steerage cooks and stewards $72; warrant officers, stewards and cooks, $60, mess attendants, first class, $42; second class $36, third class $33.

BAKER OPENS INQUIRY ON ALLEGED TORTURES

Will Investigate Treatment of Objectors at Alcatraz Island, Civil Liberties Bureau Hears.

Secretary of War Newton D. Baker yesterday started an investigation into the alleged "iron torture chambers" which are said to have been introduced at the military prison at Alcatraz Island, San Francisco Bay, where a score of conscientious objectors are incarcerated, according to a telegram received from Albert de Silver, Director of the National Civil Liberties Bureau at 41 Union Square.

Mr. De Silver is in Washington, and this announcement was made in a communication sent to this city by him following a conference with the Secretary of War, it is said. Doubt has been expressed as to whether the War Department had in the past taken any action concerning the alleged torture of conscientious objectors at Alcatraz.

A telegram said to have been sent as far back as Dec. 24 informing the War Department that a plan for "the reign of terror" was to be inaugurated at Alcatraz was made public yesterday by Jules Wortsman of 302 Grand Street, Brooklyn, through the Civil Liberties Bureau.

Alvarado, Freed, Is Coming Here.

EL PASO, Jan. 23.—General Salvador Alvarado, former Governor of Yucatan, recently arrested as a result of his political activities, has been released, according to advices received today by Alberto Ruiz Sandoval, Acting Consul General for Mexico. General Alvarado shortly will leave Mexico for the United States, it was said.

specific or to supply details of the meeting.

Stands by "Irreducible Minimum."

Senator Johnson was equally reticent as to the manner in which the protest was presented. He said:

"After months of deliberation and debate the Senate agreed on certain reservations which of themselves represented a compromise. It was admitted by everybody that these reservations, called the Lodge reservations, were the very least that should be done for the protection of America. In the language of Senator Lodge, they constituted the 'irreducible minimum.'

"Personally I am unable to see how there can be any compromise on the least possible protection to America or upon reservations which are the irreducible minimum in safeguarding American institutions. For one, I desire to express this view. To me there can be no compromise with American honor or of American protection. 'They enslave their children's children who compromise with sin.'"

He added that the information concerning the imminence of a compromise, upon which he based his protest to Senator Lodge, was obtained from the press, as the bipartisan conferences had been held under a pledge of secrecy.

Senator Borah said he would withhold what he had to say for forty-eight hours. He gave the impression that if certain events did not accur within that time he would announce a break from Senator Lodge's leadership.

It was learned that most of those attending the conference expressed the opinion that the bipartisan conferences should never have been begun and that they should immediately stop, on the ground that no compromise of an irreducible minimum was possible. One Senator said that the meeting was "lively all the way through," and another said that it approached "the parting of the ways."

Aggressive Speech by Sherman.

Senator Sherman, in a vigorous speech in the secret session, said that Wall Street financial interests had obtained control of certain Republican Party leaders, preventing them from taking a stand against the League of Nations, and announced that if the Senate Republicans yielded an inch on the Lodge reservations he would bolt the party.

Outside the conference room Senator Sherman voiced his views thus:

"If the Republican Party at the Chicago convention wants to stand on the Lodge reservations I would accept the decisions and would support the platform. But if there is the slightest yielding on the Lodge reservations I am through with the party.

"Let there be no misunderstanding as to my position. I will not support the Republican organization in the Senate or in the country if it compromises on the Lodge reservations.

"In plain language, I'll bolt even to the point of supporting a third ticket."

Senator Sherman thus joins Senator Borah and Brandegee, who, on former occasions as well as the present one, have threatened to leave the Republican ranks if the party did not accept their views on the treaty.

After the Senators had left the meeting room it was stated that the conference did not produce any definite results.

"We think," observed one Senator, "that we have put out the fires of compromise, at least for the present. Of course, they will go on conversing for a while, but they won't get anywhere. Before anybody is committed to accept any compromise both sides will have learned through a canvass how many votes will support it."

Borah Hopes for Support by 38.

Asked to estimate how many Senators were represented in the "very large number" spoken of, Senator Borah said that he was unable to do so, but gave it as his personal judgment that thirty-eight Senators, including some Democrats, would vote for the rejection of the treaty rather than for a compromise vitiating the Lodge program. Thirty-three Senators can prevent ratification.

The rest of the week is to be spent, it was understood, in lining up both sides of the chamber on the proposed compromise, the centre of which is Article X. The pending proposal on this point is understood to be a declaration that the United States assumes no obligation to use anything but moral suasion in helping to prevent wars of aggression.

Senator Hitchcock, one of the Democratic conferees, said that he could not predict what effect the protest meeting might have at tomorrow's bipartisan conference.

"It does not of course affect us Democrats in any way," he said. "Senator Lodge knew all along that the men who protested today were against the treaty, for they all voted against it in the Senate."

Ashurst Rebukes Presidency Seekers.

Senator Ashurst, Democrat, of Arizona, in a vigorous speech in the Senate today, called on that body to quit wasting time and liquidate the war. He discussed the Senate's failure to ratify the Peace Treaty and the general failure of both parties in Congress to legislate on post-war problems, and paid his respects in brief to Herbert Hoover as a Presidential possibility.

"The Democratic Party today can stand convicted of inefficiency in the matter of liquidating this war. The Republican Party is equally guilty of gross inefficiency in liquidating the war," said Senator Ashurst.

"Here is the Peace Treaty, lodged in the Senate. We are unable to do anything. Here are all the other nations of the earth making forward moves while partisan politics dominates our country and candidates for President are bombarding the circumambient atmosphere, thinking they are going to get elected on a speech, whereas they could be elected by doing their duty here.

"We are thinking only of politics in this day when action is required. We are not making a record on this side or on the other side.

"The League of Nations convened the other day. The country inhabited by the Ottoman Turk was conspicuous by absence when the league convened. Germany was conspicuous by her absence. We were conspicuous by our absence.

"I do not mean that we should at once ratify the treaty as it is written, because that cannot be done. Sane men know that the treaty cannot be ratified as it is written. Why, therefore, does not the President recede? He cannot as a matter of honor. Shame on him if he would recede and leave his allies.

"Therefore it is the duty of the Senate, without regard to what the President thinks or does not think, manfully, courageously, to press forward and ratify the treaty as the Senate thinks it should be ratified. But here we are bound, planning, scheming, plotting as to who is going to be the next President and all of us demonstrating that none of us is fit to be President.

"Now we have some fifteen or twenty men in the Senate who want to be President. I should like to see the next President a Senator. There is no reason why the Vice President or some United States Senator should not be elected, but we must begin, if we are going to be taken seriously by this country, to demonstrate that we can do business."

Cites Hoover as a Man of Action.

Senator Ashurst then referred to the boom for Herbert Hoover for President, saying:

"I was amazed at the popularity and enthusiasm that greeted his name, although he will never be President. He will never be nominated. The enthusiasm and admiration for his candidacy arise, not because he lived in England some twenty-five or thirty years ago, but solely because he can do the thing instead of talking about it."

Senator Harding of Ohio interrupted Senator Ashurst to remind him that unless the bill to recompense builders of wooden ships for losses sustained through cancelled contracts were passed in the next twenty minutes it would have to go over for future consideration.

"I do not wonder that the Senator from Ohio dislikes to hear this speech," replied Mr. Ashurst. "He, with the other Presidential candidates, has been equally guilty of a lack of constructive statesmanship here."

Taft Confers with Mild Group.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (Associated Press).—Ex-President Taft appeared at the Capitol today and conferred on the treaty with Senators McCumber, Kellogg, Colt, and McNary, mild reservationists. He also saw Senators Cummins and Harding in reference to other questions.

Mr. Taft addressed briefly representatives of a local committee which had invited him to talk at a mass meeting here in behalf of the treaty, saying that he did not think that any good would come of addressing such a meeting. A compromise on the reservation affecting Article X of the League of Nations covenant, he said, would not "kill" the League.

"The matter of the ratification of the treaty is in the hands of the Senators," said Mr. Taft. "It must be worked out by them. Every one knows how I stand on the treaty. I believe that the best way is to let the knowledge of the public desire that the treaty be ratified trickle in to the Senators.

"At present about eighty Senators are in favor of ratification, about evenly divided on the reservations. Only those fourteen reservations stand between them. It seems to me that compromise can be had and the treaty ratified.

"The attitude of the President in regard to what he will do is not quite clear. It has been said that Article X of the League of Nations covenant is the heart of the League. And it is in that it embraces the intention of the members of the League to co-operate in putting an end to war.

"On the other hand, as a practical proposition, Article X will rarely, if ever, be invoked, for under Articles XVI and XVII any attempt to bring about war will be put down. So I believe that a compromise on Article X can be made without killing the League."

URGE AID TO EUROPE BY LOANS TO LATINS

American countries at least every ten years, observing uniformity of statistics; that the metric system of weights and measures be universally employed, and until such time as that is done articles marked by the standards used in the United States also be marked according to the metric system.

That the plan of arbitration of commercial disputes in effect between the Bolsa de Commercio of Buenos Aires and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States be adopted by all the American countries.

That the Inter-American High Commission be asked to study the creation of an Inter-American tribunal for the adjustment of commercial or financial questions involving two or more American countries.

That the importation of raw materials into any country shall not be prevented by prohibitive duties.

That the banking interests of the United States study the possibility of financial relief to Europe by repaying Latin-American obligations held in Europe by means of new loans granted in the United States to the respective Latin-American countries.

Dr. Enrique M. Sobral of the Mexican delegation declared that Mexico was making a strong effort to repay foreign investments.

"Five years ago our paper currency was practically worthless," he said. "Today Mexico is on a gold basis and is practically the only country using gold currency, not even having banknotes.

"I want to convey to you the impression that a country which can, in spite of the abnormal world war conditions and the internal troubles which you know about, re-establish finance and trade deserves confidence and is a country which is picking up and developing."

Brazil is planning to reorganize its banking system and make sharp reductions in public expenditures, Dr. Carlos Cesar de Oliveria Sampaio, Minister of Finance of that country, said today before the conference. Efforts also will be made to increase production and reduce imports in order to stabilize exchange. The Government also plans to take up development of irrigation projects and welcomes the advent of American capital, the Minister said, adding that American investments in the meat packing business and in the development of the sugar industry were particularly desirable.

American capital will be employed in aiding Europe "to get back to productive work," not because of "attractive rates of interest," but to restore normal conditions and to open markets for American export, Governor W. P. G. Harding of the Federal Reserve Board said.

"Our people must be aroused to the consciousness that after all we may be living since the close of the war in a fool's paradise, and that more work, economy, and liberal investment in foreign securities are necessary if we wish to make our present apparent prosperity real and permanent. It is important that the world should get back to work, and in order to provide steady employment for the people of our own country even it is necessary that there should be a sustained demand for products, and in order to maintain this steady demand it is necessary to supply markets abroad for our surplus production."

To enable Europe to produce things necessary for its own support, Governor Harding said, American raw materials and equipment must be exported and the exchange for European products facilitated. He called attention to the new "Edge act" providing machinery for financing these undertakings, which, he said, gave exporters, producers, manufacturers, and American investors the means of co-operation to solve the problem before them.

"European nationals can produce many things which we either do not produce at all or cannot produce as cheaply as they can," he continued, "or it may be that they can produce things needed in South American countries or in the Far East. As American importers have constant dealings with South American and Oriental countries, it follows that European credits available in China and Japan, Argentina, Chile, Brazil, and other Latin-American nations will be just as effective in liquidating European obligations in the United States as direct European credits in New York would be."

awards by the board deserved what they were recommended for, and when they were changed it was a matter I felt, and felt very deeply."

Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, former Commander-in-Chief of the Atlantic fleet, and De Witt C. Coffman, former commander of the second battleship force of the Atlantic fleet, whose testimony closed the investigation, with the exception of the hearing of Secretary Daniels, who probably will appear Tuesday, said that in their opinion the morale of the navy would not be permanently affected adversely by the present decoration controversy.

"I have such a firm faith in the good common sense of the officers and men of the navy," said Admiral Coffman, "that I do not think the service morale will be injured by the present controversy."

"I believe the loyalty and good sense of the navy," agreed Admiral Badger, "will prevent any permanent injury to morale from disputes growing out of the present situation."

CLERGY AT VICE INQUIRY.

Two Ministers Say They Had No Personal Knowledge of Incidents.

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 23.—The Naval Board of Inquiry which is investigating conditions at the naval station here heard today the testimony of two of the ministers who signed a letter addressed to President Wilson on Jan. 10, in which complaint was made of "certain deletrious and vicious methods" used by the navy.

The witnesses were Rev. A. T. Peters, pastor of the Union Congregational Church, and Rev. W. J. Lucas of the Mount Olivet Baptist Church. Both testified that they had no personal knowledge of incidents to support the charges contained in the letter, but that they had read a transcript of testimony taken at the trial of Rev. Samuel Neal Kent before the district court at Newport last August.

Mr. Lucas said he had "relied upon the veracity and integrity" of the committee of ministers which drafted the letter for assertions of fact not covered by the testimony in the Kent case.

He testified that the two men referred to in the ministers' letter as having been placed in charge of certain enlisted men of the navy and as having given them instructions of an improper character "to entrap certain designated individuals" were Lieutenant E. M. Hudson and Irving Arnold. Lieutenant Hudson was present at the hearing and was granted the privilege of questioning the witnesses briefly. Their replies brought out nothing in addition to the direct testimony.

PALMER UPHOLDS RED REPRESSION

Replies to Federal Attorney Kane, Who Opposed Raids on Radicals.

ACCEPTS HIS RESIGNATION

QUOTES THEIR MANIFESTO

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Attorney General Palmer tonight issued a statement in justification of the recent raids on the Communists and the general attitude of the Department of Justice toward radicals and their organizations. The statement was in the form of a letter to Francis Fisher Kane, attorney for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, who on Jan. 12 sent his resignation to President Wilson and apprised the Attorney General of his action, and in both letters gave as the reason for his resignation his lack of sympathy with the attitude of the Attorney General and the Department of Justice toward the radical elements.

Mr. Kane, just before the series of nation-wide raids on the Communists, had protested against the plan in a letter to the Attorney General, who had replied that the protest was too late. In his letter of resignation Mr. Kane not only condemned the raids and the general policy of the Attorney General toward radicals, but expressed his opposition to the pending Sterling-Graham sedition bill as a measure whose enforcement he would not care to aid.

The Attorney General, having received Mr. Kane's letter from the White House, accepts the resignation in his reply, in which he states the reasons underlying his acts relating to the Communist parties and other radical organizations. His chief reasons are the affiliation of the Communist parties with the Third Internationale, which declared at Moscow for the establishment of the rule of the proletariat and the overthrow of the State by force of arms, and the fact, as stated in their manifesto issued in the United States, "that the aim of the Communists of America is for the destruction of the Government."

The Attorney General also calls Mr. Kane's attention to the fact "that the organizations of Communists in the United States are pledged to destroy the great and loyal labor organization of America, namely the American Federation of Labor."

The Attorney General began his reply to Mr. Kane by saying:

"I have carefully read your views upon this matter, and in view of the frankness with which you have stated the same I feel impelled to reply at some length, in order that you may have a full understanding as to the reason in mind for the necessity for the recent actions of this department against the radical, anarchistic elements in the United States."

He then related how dissension in the ranks of the Socialist Party early in 1919 caused the formation last September of the Communist Party of America and the Communist Labor Party.

"These two organizations," the letter continued, "are identical in aim and tactics, the cause for their separate existence being due to the desire of certain individuals connected with the so-called Left Wing elements of the Socialist Party to be leaders. For the sake of convenience I shall refer to members of the Communist Party of America and the Communist Labor Party as 'Communists.'

"Immediately upon the formation of the Communist parties a program and manifesto were adopted by these parties, based upon the manifesto of the Third Internationale, adopted March 6 at Moscow. The Assembly at Moscow, as you know, was international in scope, and represented the gathering together of communists from all sections of the world, and at the meeting plans were laid to spread the doctrines of communism throughout the world. As specifically stated in the manifesto of the Third Internationale and its program, the accomplishment of its aims was not to be reached by merely the conquest of the political power of the so-called bourgeois State, but was to be reached by the destruction of the 'State.'

"Again in the manifesto is found the statement that it will be necessary 'to disarm the bourgeois and to arm the laborers and to form a communist army as the protector of the rule of the proletariat and the inviolability of the social structure. Further in the same manifesto we find enunciated the principle that in order to accomplish the aims of the proletariat it will be necessary to annihilate the enemies' apparatus of government, namely, its police, jailers, Judges, priests, Government officials, and others. One particular important statement contained in the manifesto, under the heading 'The Way to Victory,' is the following:

"'The revolutionary era compels the proletariat to make use of the means of battle which will concentrate its entire energy, namely, mass action, with its logical resultant direct conflict with the governmental machinery in open combat. All other methods, such as revolutionary use of bourgeois parliamentarism, will be of only secondary significance.'

"It is not necessary for me further to point out the ideas that permeated the minds of the persons attending the conference at Moscow to indicate that their sole and ultimate aim was to accomplish not only the conquest but the destruction of the idea of the 'State,' as understood by loyal American citizens. This destruction was not to be accomplished by parliamentary action, for it is specifically stated that it is to be by armed conflict with governmental authority.

"It is this manifesto which was adopted by the Communist parties in the United States as their program of action, and on the membership card of the Communist Party of America there is printed the fact that the organization is affiliated with the Third Internationale. However, the mere statement of affiliation was not the principal reason for the stand taken by this department against the Communist parties in this country. Not satisfied with the statement of affiliation with the Third Internationale at Moscow, the Communist parties in this country adopted in addition separate and distinct programs of action.

"In the program of the communists in the United States we find such statements as the following:

"'Communism rejects the conception of the State; it rejects the idea of class reconstruction and the parliamentary conquest of capitalism. The Communist Party alone is capable of mobilizing the proletariat for the revolutionary mass action to conquer the power of the State.'

Quotes Communist Manifesto.

After referring to the communists as being the chief instruments in causing the labor unrest of the last several months as part of the plan to overthrow the Government, the Attorney General again quotes from the manifesto:

"'The objective is the conquest by the proletariat of the power of the State. Communism does not propose to capture the bourgeois parliament of any State, but to conquer and destroy it.'

"We thus find stated in very clear and plain language the fact that the aim of the communists of America is for the destruction of the Government. This shows clearly," he continues, "that the organizations of communists in this country aim, not at the change of the Government of the United States by parliamentary or political methods, but in the overthrow and the destruction of the same by mass and direct action, by force and violence.

"Another point of particular significance which I feel I should call to your attention is the fact that the organization of communists in the United States are pledged to destroy the great and loyal labor organization of America, namely, the American Federation of Labor, which, according to the Communist Party of America, is considered to be reactionary and a bulwark of capitalism. Another particularly significant pledge of the communists of America is to carry on agitation of the negro workers of America."

"Certainly such an organization as the Communist Party of America and also the Communist Labor Party," says Mr. Palmer, "cannot be construed to fall within the same category as the Socialist Party of America, which latter organization is pledged to the accomplishment of changes of the Government by lawful and rightful means.

"The immigration laws of the United States provide that any person who is a member of an organization which advocates the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force and violence shall be deported. There is no discretion placed in the hands of the officers administering this law which permits them to discriminate between active and non-active members, but it has been the policy of this department and the Department of Labor, which has rendered hearty co-operation in these matters, to take into custody only such persons as have been actively identified with pernicious organizations of the nature of the Communist parties and who are cognizant of the purposes of these organizations.

Defends Scope of Arrests.

The Attorney General quotes the pledge which those joining the Communist Party must sign, by which the member declares his adherence to the principles and tactics of the party and the Communist internationale and agrees to submit to the discipline of the party as stated in its constitution and pledges himself to engage actively in this work, as fixing the member's responsibility.

Merely to have arrested individuals would have been as useless as to endeavor to curb a great epidemic by isolating a single case, Mr. Palmer says. It was necessary to apprehend simultaneously all persons who were active members of the organizations so that their records would not be destroyed.

Regarding Mr. Kane's criticism of deportation proceedings, Mr. Palmer says careful study has failed to reveal a single instance where injustice had been done to an alien. "In every step of the proceedings the alien is accorded a full and fair opportunity to show cause why he should not be deported," explained the Attorney General. "It is incumbent upon the Government to prove that the man is an alien and to prove that he falls within the provisions of the law. After the decision of the Secretary of Labor has been reached, and if it is unfavorable to the alien, the attorney for the alien may, if he so desires and if he feels that he has not been accorded a proper and sufficient hearing, sue out a writ of habeas corpus, and the court will then inquire as to whether or not the rights of the alien have been fully safeguarded."

Unfortunate predicaments in which the families of the arrested aliens may find themselves must be faced by every Judge when dealing with a violator of the law, the Attorney General adds.

Opposes Sterling-Graham Bill.

"I have failed to find any large number of cases of families actually in want," says the letter. "In the few cases reported wherein families have actually been in need they have been cared for by charitable organizations.

"You seem to be laboring under a misapprehension as to my attitude with respect to proposed sedition legislation. I told a committee of the Senate last Summer that I did not favor an extension of the Espionage act beyond the war period, and in a report that I made to the Senate on Nov. 14 last I said:

"'I have felt that it was limited to the acts and utterances which tended to weaken the waging of actual hostilities.'

"I did ask, however, legislation which would make it possible for us to deal with citizens who seek the overthrow of the Government by force or violence, and in November I submitted to the Senate a draft of a proposd bill defining sedition and providing for punishment therefor and defining the promtion of sedition and providing for a penalty. This bill is one to which no loyal American can take exception. It makes it a crime for any person, with intent to injure or destroy the Government or its agencies, to commit or attempt or threaten to commit an act of force or violence against public property or public officials. It does not to the slightest extent abridge or interfere with the guarantee of free speech and the right of assembly.

"The Senate subsequently prepared and reported a bill known as the Sterling bill and the Judiciary Committee of the House reported a bill known as the Graham bill, both of which are very much more drastic and far reaching than the legislation which I proposed and neither of which I have at any time approved. I had no part in their preparation and have no responsibility for either of them.

"I believe that the greatest safety of the country lies in the free expression of ideas. I am willing that any man should advocate the most radical reforms as long as he proposes to accomplish them by the methods devised by the people for accomplishing all change in our Government; but when he steps over the line and threatens to use physical force to accomplish such results, he goes beyond the bounds of the guaranty of free speech.

"Every man who comes to our shores from a foreign country ought to understand that his revolution has been fought and won when he sets foot on American soil. While there may be such a thing as a right of revolution, there is no room for revolution in a people's government, founded upon the Democratic principles of our Republic. The Government should encourage free political thinking and political action, but it certainly has the right for its own preservation, to discourage and prevent the use of force and violence to accomplish that which ought to be accomplished, if at all, by parliamentary or political methods."

So long as the deportation statute is the law, says the Attorney General in closing his letter, "it must be enforced. No person has been arrested who does not come within the provisions of that law. Your suggestions seems to be that we should disregard the law and refuse to enforce it. Of course, I cannot subscribe to any such doctrine, and I should not want any man to be associated with the Department of Justice who does not believe in the law.

"In view of your misunderstanding of the real facts in connection with the matters herein discussed, and of your apparent misconception of the duties of the Department of Justice in the enforcement of the laws as written, I am bound to say that your resignation seems to me to be quite the proper step for you to take."

In a later and separate statement, following a discussion of his views in the House, the Attorney General reiterated the foregoing views on the Sterling-Graham bill.

Kane's Letter to Palmer.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—Francis Fisher Kane, who resigned on Jan. 12 as United States Attorney for the Eastern Dristrict of Pennsylvania because of his hostility to the policy of Attorney General Palmer in the arrest, prosecution and deportation of Communists and other radicals, today made public his letters to President Wilson and Mr. Palmer in which he tendered his resignation.

In his letter to Mr. Palmer he charges the Attorney General with playing into the hands of the capitalists and suggested that he devote the energies of the Department of Justice to enforcing the prohibition act, the laws against unscrupulous contractors and those made rich by the war who were trying to dodge their taxes. He also expressed his belief in the unqualified recognition of union labor, the nationalization of railroads, coal, and perhaps of other public utilities.

Mr. Kane wrote first to Mr. Palmer shortly before the recent nation-wide raids protesting against carrying them out. Mr. Palmer replied on Jan. 3 that it was then too late to halt the plans.

In several important Federal prosecutions in Mr. Kane's district, the Government has sent Special Deputy Attorney Generals here to handle them. In the first trial for treason of the editors and managers of the Tageblatt, a German newspaper, with Mr. Kane conducting the prosecution, the Judge ordered a verdict of acquittal. Another trial was held with a special representative of the Department of Justice in charge and the same men were convicted.

In the legal tangles brought about by the wartime prohibition act, a special representative of the department was sent here from Washington.

In his letter of resignation to the President Mr. Kane said he was obliged "to take this step because I feel out of sympathy with the anti-radical policies of Mr. Palmer and his methods of carrying them out," and explained briefly the principles which he expressed at great length in his letter of the same date to the Attorney General.

At the beginning of his letter to Mr. Palmer Mr. Kane said:

"As I read the manifestoes of the Communist Party, the party does not expressly stand for the overthrow of this Government by force, and it was surely a question of policy—not one of law—whether the Department of Justice should take the initiative and cause raids to be issued against the alien members of the party generally, irrespective of whether they were taking an active part in its counsels or only on the fringe of the organization.

"It seems to me that the policy of raids against large numbers of individuals is generally unwise and very apt to result in injustice. People not really guilty are likely to be arrested and railroaded through their hearings. My thoughts would have been to arrest the really guilty persons one by one as we secured evidence against them.

Criticises Deportations.

Taking up deportations Mr. Kane wrote it was one thing to debar an alien coming into the country and another to deprive a long-time resident who perhaps had a wife and children here "of what we are accustomed to think of as constitutional rights, irrespective of a man's citizenship. I refer, of course, to the right of trial by jury, &c., which the alien to be deported does not have."

By the deportation of the father and breadwinner, Mr. Kane said, a much more cruel punishment was imposed than if he was put in jail under definite sentence. Moreover, deportation meant a lifelong separation of the man from his wife and family. He deprecated the Attorney General's appeal to the State authorities to punish citizen members of such organizations under State sedition laws on the ground that in effect the State authorities were asked to punish what Congress has not said was punishable in the Federal courts.

"Again, in the present raids we appear to be attempting to repress a political party," continued Mr. Kane. "It has a platform, most of which is highly objectionable to you and me. So much I grant you, but it at least calls itself a political party and holds open meetings and discussions. Consequently, we ought not to raid it unless we are absolutely compelled to do so in order to enforce the law, for by such methods we drive underground and make dangerous what was not dangerous before. Every raid against such an organization as such only increases the number of sympathizers, and we should at this time avoid giving persons the slightest excue for claiming that the Government is persecuting 'radicals.' If by these methods we were really apprehending the people who have bombed buildings and sought to take human life, I would, of course, feel differently about the matter, but we cannot contend that by the wholesale raiding of 'Bolsheviki,' 'Communists' and 'radicals' we are getting the guilty persons.

Would Nationalize Public Utilities.

After expressing the belief that the country was in no danger "from the presence of a handful of foreign 'radicals'" and that he had no fear of "the coming social revolution," Mr. Kane said he believed "in the unqualified recognition of union labor, the nationalization of the railroads, of the coal industry, and perhaps of other public utilities. I might even vote for the taking over of large portions of what is known as the 'packing business.'

"I see no justice," he went on, "for instance, in the blockade of Soviet Russia. I think that we should feel a certain sympathy with the poor Russians in this country, who are now excited over the news which they are getting of the troubled conditions in their native land. Such people ought to be treated with kindness and not sent back to the famine-stricken districts in Europe, unless we are absolutely compelled to do so."

He then cited the case of a Russian Jew who was arrested in the Communist raids in Philadelphia and was the sole support of a wife and six children.

"National prohibition is close upon us," he continued, "and every effort should be put forward by us to help the Treasury Department in the enforcement of the law. Munition manufacturers and many other persons made rich by the war, whether doing business through corporations or otherwise, are seeking to dodge the payment of their taxes and otherwise unloading the war burdens put upon them. The enforcement of the law as against them is of prime importance. There are also fraudulent contractors who during the war have grown rich in their dealings with the Government, and there are, as we all know, corrupt Government agents using their offices for illicit gain. The punishment of these people is infinitely more important than the pursuit of radicals. It must not be said that the rich profiteers are escaping punishment because the energies of the department are devoted to running down the poor and ignorant."

He next defended the right of The New York Call to second-class mailing privileges. "I cannot see how it is wise or fair to prevent the Socialists from having a newspaper in New York and sending their newspaper through the mails at the same rate of postage paid by other papers, provided, of course, the editors keep within the bounds of the law," he added. "If they do not they should be prosecuted.

Opposes New Espionage Law.

He opposed an extension of the present espionage law. "I believe," he wrote, "it would lead to a very serious interference with freedom of speech and the freedom of the press. Indeed, to go further, I believe that by this policy we are playing directly into the hands of the capitalists and the large employers of the country. This we cannot do and remain the Democratic Party. We must be fair to labor, organized and unorganized, and we must respect freedom of discussion or be unfair to the people as a whole.

"Evil tendencies are at work, and they must be corrected or the Democratic Party will become so conservative that it will lose its old Jeffersonian principle of relying upon the people and not upon the moneyed classes of the country.

"We must oppose such tendencies unless we wish the Democratic Party to lose its liberal ideas and become a party of tyranny and oppression."

RUHR REDS ARE ACTIVE.

Miners Threaten a Walkout—Six-Hour Shift Is One Demand.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Notwithstanding the Government's drastic measures to suppress labor agitation of the independents and communists by an embargo on their press and a proclamation of siege, Red labor leaders continue their activities in the Ruhr district, where the miners threaten a general walkout in an attempt to force a six-hour shift. They are also demanding wage readjustment and a three weeks' annual vacation.

Communists at Dusseldorf and other Rhenish sections are egging the miners on through incendiary literature and other means of agitation.

In view of the present need for maximum output, the miners virtually had agreed to abide by the promise of 50 per cent. wage increase for the seventh hour of work done each day.

Take Japanese as Alleged Red.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 23.—Yojiro Nakadate, former publisher of a Japanese magazine in the East, was arrested here today by department operatives in connection with nation-wide Communist raids. Evidence against Nakadate, who was said to be the first of his race identified with Communist activities in the United States, was obtained in a recent raid upon Communist Party headquarters in New York, arresting officers said.

TAFT FEARS UNIONS TEND TO SOVIETISM

Asserts That While Opposing Its Principles, Their Proposed Plans Embrace Its Methods.

SAYS GOMPERS IS LOSING

Declares His Lineup with Radical Elements in Steel Srike Injured His Influence.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Former President Taft, in an address here tonight before the National Geographic Society on "Capital and Labor," declared that labor organizations, though sincerely opposed to Bolshevism, are, by their proposed plans, in danger of embracing Soviet methods, and made a strong plea for co-operation between capital and labor on a fair basis.

He said he differed from Judge E. H. Gary, Chairman of the Board of the Steel Corporation, on the question of collective bargaining, but he attacked those who promoted the steel strike and the recent coal strike, and expressed the opinion that Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, had "injured his influence" in indorsing the steel strike "by yielding to the extremists among his associates." Demoralization in the ranks of labor came when the armistice was signed, asserted Mr. Taft, and the conservative labor leaders lost their grip, many unions disregarding honorable obligations fairly entered into.

"The hope of the country is in bringing as near together as possible, for common action, the liberal employers and the conservative labor leaders. Nothing will promote this so much as a sincere effort at collective bargaining. But it must be collective bargaining in the full spirit of harmony and not one with limitations which beget suspicion and furnish an excuse for breaking off negotiations and resorting to some extreme measures.

"The moment the employer admits the principle of trades unionism, admits the right of men to organize in trades unions, to protect their common interest in negotiations with their employers, he must logically concede their right to select their own representatives, free from any limitation imposed by him.

"The use of the injunction by a court is necessary in extreme cases to protect the business and property of the employer. This is when the employes step over the line of the law and seek by compound boycott or by violence to terrorize employers into yielding to their terms. Not infrequently the injunction has been effective to prevent such methods. But the injunction is a last resort.

"The employer who maintains a closed shop by contracts with his men that they shall not join unions and by dismissing them when they do may free himself from inconvenience for the time, but he is not helping the relations between labor and capital in the community in which he lives. He creates outside of his shop a bitterness of feeling that does not make for the good of all. So those unions which use the closed shop to force men to join are engaged in a similarly unjust, selfish and injurious system. They are really curtailing the freedom of their fellows in the same way that the employer in a closed shop curtails the freedom of his employes. Each is an enemy, conscious or unconscious, of industrial peace."

DR. GRANT REBUKED BY BISHOP BURCH

years ago, but as one who has regarded you as a friend, who has held you in esteem in the past for your character, your fearlessness, your passion for humanity, your generosity and for your desire in especial to bring the Church closer to the common people and to those not in affiliation or understanding with the Church and the Church's life and work—in particular to the unchurched and the overborne.

"For you, as a man, permit me to say that I have not only the friendliest of feelings, but that I have entertained a genuine affection for you through many years. I have disagreed with many of your utterances and have deplored the fact that on several occasions such utterances have been of a character calculated to leave the impression upon unthinking, as well as upon clearly reasoning folk, that there was some lurking spirit of disloyalty, not only to the Church in which you are a clergyman, but a lack of full loyalty to the civil Government.

"You have said more than once that you are not a Socialist, nor a radical, nor an advocate of force or violence, but that you believe in free speech, and that you inaugurated your forum, in connection with the Church of the Ascension, as a place where all classes of people could find voice and have an opportunity for the expression of their opinions on social, economic, political, religious, and other issues.

The Question of Loyalty.

"I have found myself increasingly regretting the fact that the general public, and in particular the adherents of the Episcopal Church, should have had cause to question your loyalty to the Church, or your advocacy of socialistic or radical tendencies.

"Your vestry, in their report on recent happenings, after expressing their own views in opposition to yours, as to the practice of deportation in proper cases with due legal process, and their appreciation of the great principle of freedom of speech and of discussion of thought, fundamental to all just Government, and having approved of your right to express your own opinion freely and fearlessly, the only limitations being such as are imposed by law and the proprieties on every person, conclude by stating:

> We regret the mention of the arrival of the May Flower and the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers in connection with the sailing of the Buford carrying the deported aliens as having been highly unfortunate, the misunderstanding and the misinterpretation of the allusion easy and not unnatural.

"I am quite ready to accept the report and the conclusion of your vestry as mine, with the exception herinafter noted.

"As to the use of the parish house, your vestry finds that you had the necessary authority to allow the use of the parish house as an assembly and starting point for the parade on Christmas morning, which parade was planned as an appeal for the amnesty of all so-called political prisoners. In regard to this use of the parish house as a starting point for such parade, your vestry state that 'it would have been wiser for the rector to have consulted with the vestrymen or with some committee of the vestry,' and they suggest that when similar occasion arises in the future that course be pursued.

"Once again your Bishop willingly rests his counsel on the conclusion of your vestry.

Free Speech and Its Abuse.

"In a word, let me state, as your friend and Bishop, that no one prizes more highly than myself the great principle of freedom of speech and of discussion, and no one deplores more than do I the fact that freedom of speech is so frequently abused and becomes the foundation for license to utter seditious opinions, which are clearly and unmistakably subversive of reverence for constituted authority, or, if you please, law and order.

"Such abuse of freedom of speech is obviously a matter for the civil authority to deal with. In these days of unrest, uncertainty, and difficulty, every true American citizen should be most careful about words or acts that in any least particular point a spirit of disloyalty to the Government.

"I come now to the last and to what is, for me, as your Bishop, the most important point to deal with. Both you and your vestry by clear implication take the ground that the Bishop of the diocese has no right whatever to deal with the use of the Church of the Ascension for other than religious purposes.

"Let me state that on May 26, 1829, precisely in the language at present used in the consecration of any church or chapel in the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, the late Bishop Hobart, then Bishop of New York, consecrated the Church of the Ascension and set said church apart 'from all unhallowed, wordly, and common uses,' and solemnly dedicated said church to the worship of Almighty God. Further, before said consecration, the rector, wardens, and vestrymen of the said Church of the Ascension placed in the hands of Bishop Hobart, my predecessor, an Instrument of Donation, requesting the said Bishop of the diocese to take the said building under his spiritual jurisdiction as Bishop, and that of his successors in office, and thereby 'to separate it from all unhallowed, worldly, and common uses.'

Protest Against Atheists.

"I do not question the right of yourself and your vestry to use the parish house of the Church of the Ascension as a forum, but I do solemnly protest against the use of the consecrated building, dedicated to the worship of Almighty God, as a meeting place for a forum, to which are not infrequently invited as speakers men who do not believe in God, who professedly are opposed to the Government, clearly showing their irreverence for constituted authority. I maintain that such use of the consecrated church is in distinct contravention of the plainly expressed terms and implication and spirit of the Instrument of Donation, of the act of consecration, and of the usages of this Church, which is a Church of law and order.

"Lastly, I ask you as rector of the Church of the Ascension to stand loyally by the Episcopal Church, its laws and its usages, so far as they are expressed in the constitution and canons of the said Church.

"As Bishop of the Diocese of New York, it is my manifest duty to uphold the said constitution and canons, and as long as I am permitted to remain as Bishop of the diocese I shall do so fearlessly and consistently.

"Trusting that you have entirely recovered from your recent illness, believe me,

"Faithfully yours,
"CHARLES S. BURCH,
"Bishop of New York."

"The Church of the Ascension,
"Fifth Avenue and Tenth Street,
"New York, January 15, 1920.

"My Dear Bishop Burch: On the telephone last Saturday you said you had written me the day before. The letter has not yet been received, and it is Thursday. I presume you made inquiries similar to those Mr. Battle brought me after having seen you on Sunday. The three points were:

"1. The Mayflower compared to the Buford.

"2. My objection to deportation.

"3. The use of the assembly hall in the Parish House, 12 West Eleventh Street, by the Peoples' Freedom Union as a gathering place before its march up the avenue on Christmas morning in favor of amnesty to political prisoners.

"The Mayflower matter may be dismissed, as my point was not one of comparison but of contrast. The sailing of the Buford, it seemed to me, was the denial of asylum in America to foreigners. As the Buford sailed on the 21st of December—the 299th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims—the contrast was especially emphatic.

"I object to deportation, because it is a form of punishment alien to the spirit of American institutions. America is a place of welcome except for the very sensible provisions of the immigration law, by which the insane, contagiously sick and paupers are not admitted—and would not have been put on the ships that landed them if the agents of the steamship companies in Europe had done their duty. Once here, our institutions, I believe, are adequate for men and women, healthy in body and brain, whatever their ideas.

"I have no sympathy or excuse for acts of violence. But let an alien as well as a citizen be tried before a judge and jury.

"Sending aliens out of the country, practically on the recommendations of employes of the Immigration Department, is not in harmony with our institutions.

"I do not need to tell a brother clergyman that I consider I can show sympathy with any one in distress without approving his acts. Sympathy with suffering is not collusion with crime.

"As to the amnesty parade, Christmas morning: It was entirely within the law, as I knew when I gave permission for it to assemble.

"What position would a church be put in that refused the request of highly intelligent young women and young men to come together on Christmas morning, in one of its halls, in order that they might sing the gospel of Christmas Day—'Peace on earth, good will toward men'—not only to the ear, in the tunes of actual Christmas carols, which they did, but to the eye, in specific appeal on behalf of given cases demanding peace and good-will, at present before the public.

"The police Captain of our district saw the placards and the people and said they were all right. Judge Corrigan said the marchers were within their rights.

"Of course, there is another way of handling this subject which you might consider simpler and preferable. As the Forum is a corporation entirely distinct from the Church of the Ascension, and uses the church by courtesy, strictly speaking, its sessions Sunday evenings are not within episcopal jurisdiction, except as you might wish to advise the vestry of the propriety or impropriety of their hospitality.

"The Public Forum (Inc.), Sunday at 8 P. M., is neither the evening prayer of the Prayer Book nor the third service permitted by the canon. It is merely the occupying of the premises by another corporation, of which the rector is President and one of his assistants is Secretary. Morning prayer and evening prayer are at 11 and 4.

"You may like to know that during the war Ascension Paris put its parish house at the disposal of the draft board, which used it for many months, and that war activities of a humane sort also went on there. At the outbreak of the war I had representations made at Washington looking to my being sent to France.

"During the Revolutionary War the Church largely took the Tory side—at any rate, in New England—and in consequence was dead there for 100 years. All but four of the Massachusetts clergy left Boston when the British Army evacuated. In the discussion of slavery, so far as I remember, the Church was silent. Now it has a third—and possibly a last opportunity—to place itself on the side of the people and of freedom.

"The Episcopal Church is often called the wealthiest church in the United States. It is certainly the wealthiest in New York. Is not the present time opportune, with the eagerness of the people for sympathy and leadership, for the Church to meet their need?

"Sincerely yours,
"PERCY STICKNEY GRANT."

At the parish house of the Church of the Ascension early last night it was said that Dr. Grant was in bed and had no comment to make upon the Bishop's letter.

SOCIALISTS TO STICK IN ALBANY TRIAL

HILLQUIT OUT A WHILE

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—The advocates for the five suspended Socialist Assemblymen have abandoned for the present, at least, all intention of withdrawing from the hearing before the Assembly Judiciary Committee, as they have threatened during the course of the proceeding.

A walk-out of Socialists as a final play, after they have had the chance of presenting their affirmative defense, is still possible, but they feel that, however adverse to their case the committee's ruling may be, the interests of socialism demand that they continue as parties to the hearing—at any rate to a point where they can say: "We have no chance for a square deal."

The Socialist lawyers have a twofold object in remaining throughout the hearing. First, although they feel that the outcome will be unfavorable, they wish to fill the record with exceptions for the court action which will probably follow the trial. Also, they do not intend to let slip by the opportunity of presenting Socialist doctrines.

At conferences today Morris Hillquit and his legal associates discussed suggestions to present their case before some other tribunal than the Judiciary Committee. A chance presented itself today when two or three of the five Assemblymen went to the offices of the Assembly Paymaster to demand their salary. The demands were refused, it is said, on order of Speaker Sweet. A mandamus proceeding in a local court was discussed, but Mr. Hillquit was firm in insistence that no additional action be allowed to disturb the conflict before the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Hillquit left for Saranac Lake tonight, and will not return Tuesday, when the committee will reconvene to continue the hearing. Mr. Hillquit is seriously ill, and since this is the first work that he has undertaken for a year and a half he has felt the need of rest as a result of the strain of the last two weeks. Seymour Stedman will act as chief counsel during Mr. Hillquit's absence. Mr. Hillquit will return in time to present the affirmative evidence.

This afternoon the five Socialist Assemblymen and their lawyers massed all the evidence for the defense. It includes, among other things, every platform, declaration, constitution, manifesto, and other official pronouncement of the Socialist National Party since the day of its organization, and likewise of the State, county, and local organizations of the party. Mr. Hillquit expects to prove that the Socialist Party is and always has been a legitimate political party.

The Socialists are still in the dark as to the nature of the evidence to be presented against them. The reported speech of August Claessens, in which he referred to "the United States of Thieves," is said to be only part of it. In Claessens's case, and possibly one other, the committee's attorneys believe that they have collected damaging evidence.

Before the lawyers on both sides left here tonight it was said that the committee's lawyers would require a week to present the rest of their evidence. Chairman Martin indicated that, if necessary, night sessions would be held.

PROTESTS TO GOVERNOR.

W. S. Jackson, Former Attorney General, Criticises Assembly's Action.

In a letter to Governor Smith, criticising the suspension by the Assembly of the five Socialist members, William Schuyler Jackson, former Attorney General of this State, charges that the Assembly's action was tyrannical, intolerant, unnecessary, and distinctly un-American. The only excuse offered, he says, is that there is a precedent, adding that there also is a precedent for witch burning.

Mr. Jackson states that "our people will not tolerate in time of peace the suspension or denial of fundamental rights which they yield most willingly in times of war. He says the issue now presented is not socialism, but that the Assembly managers have converted the defense of the five Socialists into a defense of Americanism.

The whole proceeding gives rise to a suspicion that the Assembly has planned a feint or diversion to distract public opinion from other legislative action or inaction such, for instance, as the hideous monster of profiteering, which stalks unchecked throughout the land, the attorney says, and adds: "Is it true Americanism to profiteer in politics as well as in every necessity of life to the full extent allowed by the inefficient barriers of the letter of the law?

"Who can preach to the peoples of foreign lands the advantages of our representative form of government while denying to our people at home their own representatives chosen in accordance with our laws?

"If the evidence turns out to be insufficient to warrant the expulsion of these Socialist Assemblymen, will the Assembly managers manfully acknowledge the mistake? Or will they commit the most atrocious and un-American crime of all—that of convicting against conscience in order to 'save the faces' of the prosecutors—a crime of utter cowardice? Who then would be the traitors to our Government?" he concludes.

UNION SENDS PROTEST.

Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers Censure Assembly.

The New York District Council of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers has sent letters to Governor Smith and Speaker Sweet protesting against the suspension of the five Socialist Assemblymen before they have been brought to trial.

Mr. Sweet is told that the organization believes the action of the Assembly has shamed and humiliated the entire State and that the trust of the people has been "most shockingly betrayed. We therefore ask that, in the name of common justice, you undo the great wrong which has been done these five representatives, who, if they have violated any of our laws, should receive a fair and impartial trial, not as in the days of the mining camps of fifty years ago, when the law of 'hang them first and try them afterward' prevailed."

In behalf of 20,000 organized painters Governor Smith is asked to use his office to "right this wrong and justly rebuke the perpetrators, who have done more harm by their action than a whole army of so-called agitators could have done."

Joseph T. Griffin, Principal of Public School 114, has written a letter telling Speaker Sweet that "there are some people who believe the earth is flat, but we no longer put them in jail. The presence in our Legislature of a discordant or nonconforming element should be welcome. Even if socialism were seditious, which I doubt, harshness and restriction are not the proper remedies. Full freedom of speech, liberty of discussion and abundance of mental elbow room are the only corrective forces which the history of the world has shown to be effective in dealing with human error."

RAEMAEKERS TO FIGHT "PUSSYFOOTS'" DRIVE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—"Pussyfoot" Johnson's endeavors to make Great Britain dry are being taken to heart by the brewing interests, and they are beginning to placard the billboards of big cities with posters attacking his campaign. Many of them show resentment at the fact that the United Kingdom Alliance has called on the Anti-Saloon League for assistance and to throw the blame of the attack on the British workingman's beer on Americans. Thus, Poy, the well-known newspaper cartoonist, has drawn "John Citizen" awaking from uneasy slumbers to find himself chained to his bed, while an "angel" in the likeness of Stiggins, with the Stars and Stripes around his hatband and sham wings on his shoulders, stands by him. The legend for the cartoon is, "Sleep, baby, sleep, no longer weep. Angels are guarding thee; sleep, baby, sleep."

Another placard represents a fine looking workman pulling a diminutive Uncle Sam by the hair out of his glass with the remark, "Lumme! There's a microbe in my beer. Now Louis Raemakers is to turn from scarifying the Hun to fighting "Pussyfoot." The present centre of the conflict is Scotland, where the local option law has just come into force, and so Raemakers has adopted a Biblical character for two of his pictures and shows the miracle of Cana of Galilee reversed with wine turned to water by "Pussyfoot," while another represents the Israelitish spies returning from the Promised Land bearing not branches of grapes but a large soda syphon. Still another picture is entitled, "Exit Wine, Enter Dope."

It represents "Pussyfoot" pushing a fine male figure of "Wine" out of one door while through another appears the dismal spectre of "Dope." Yet another cartoon presents two workmen holding an umbrella over a jug of beer. The sky is made up of stars and stripes which come streaming down from the umbrella in the form of rain. "We will keep it out of our beer anyway," exclaim the Britishers with a smile of satisfaction.

GONE WITH THE PAYROLL.

St. Louis Company's Auditor Had Served Prison Terms.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23.—Search is being made today in Chicago and cities between St. Louis and Chicago for John Little, 46 years old, Auditor of the St. Louis Car Company, who left the company's office yesterday, taking $19,000 of the payroll money.

He had a previous criminal record of three penitentiary terms and was paroled in December, 1916, by Governor Major after he had served part of a five-year term in Jefferson City for embezzlement.

Little's previous record was not known to the officials of the car company who first employed him in January, 1917, as a clerk.

MOFFITT ARRESTED AFTER LONG CHASE

INDICTED IN DECEMBER, 1918

Dealings Here Involving $4,000,000 Will Be Investigated on Prisoner's Return.

After a search of nearly two years, William H. Moffitt, who was traced to London and then back and through a score of Western cities, was arrested yesterday on a charge of grand larceny at San Jose, Cal., at the request of William J. Lahey, Second Deputy Police Commissioner. Moffitt is saiad to have had realty dealings involving $4,000,000, with a large number of victims, whose losses and claims were investigated by the Mayor's Committee on Taxation.

On Dec. 20, 1918, Moffitt, who had then disappeared, was indicted. The police followed him to London and there had the assistance of Scotland Yard in the hunt for him. He eluded his pursuers and was reported to have returned and gone West. Detectives Daly and Martin followed him by telegraph and telephone from place to place by communicating with police at the various points where he was reported to have been seen. Lahey finally located him in California and traced him to San Jose, ordered his arrest and asked the police there to make identification certain by comparing fingerprints and measurements, which had previously been supplied to the police throughout the country.

When Moffitt disappeared the police also sent circulars to every police headquarters in the country, containing a picture of him and a fac-simile of his handwriting. This led to his capture.

Among the hundreds of complaints examined by the Mayor's committee showing losses by the purchasers it was found that direct evidence sufficient to prosecute for conviction was lacking in most of them, because Moffitt had managed his transactions in such a way as to raise a doubt as to just what he had promised the buyers. One complaint was finally chosen, and on this the indictment was obtained.

This complaint was made by Raffele Russo, who bought two lots at Hempstead, L. I., which were represented to be free of mortgage and clear in title. The two lots were found to be part of a general mortgage on property he was offering for sale. Moffitt, who had operated a number of realty developments, was engaged at that time in a development known as the "Nassau Heights, No. 3," Hempstead, L. I. His entire operations here are to be investigated, it was said.

Moffitt, who professed to have been President of the New York State Realty Dealers' Association, came here from Auburn in 1909. He had a home on Riverside Drive and a country estate at Bay Shore, L. I., where he kept a number of automobiles and had a race track built for the amusement of his friends and neighboring sportsmen.

PLAN NEW METHODS FOR WOOD CAMPAIGN

HOOVER ONCE A REPUBLICAN

With the arrival in New York on Monday for a special conference of the managers of the General Leonard Wood campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination entirely new methods of conducting the campaign will be discussed. The Wood campaign has been conducted thus far along lines laid down by National Committeeman John T. King of Connecticut, who was displaced as the Wood campaign manager by Colonel William Cooper Procter of Cincinnati, and from now on the plans of the latter will prevail.

Among those who have been called for the conference which will take place at the Hotel Imperial, headquarters of the General Leonard Wood League, are Colonel Procter, Senator Moses of New Hampshire, who has charge of the Southern States for the Wood boom; Representative Norman J. Gould, who has been selected as the Eastern manager of the movement, and Herbert L. Satterlee, who will have charge of the campaign in New York City. It was said that General Wood's friends are not entirely satisfied with the progress the boom has been making, and that a new system of stirring up popular sentiment is necessary.

Besides Robert C. Morris, former President of the Republican Club, and former Police Commissioner Arthur Woods, Mr. Satterlee will have on his local committee Courtlandt Nicoll, Perley Morse, Mrs. John Francis Yawger, and John H. Iselin. All are well-known Republicans, Mr. Nicoll and Mr. Morse being active in the affairs of the New York County Committee.

The selection of Norman J. Gould as Eastern manager of the Wood campaign is expected to bring quick results. Mr. Gould is known as an effective organizer, while his influence with Republican Congressmen is expected to bring many members of the House into the open for the Wood movement. Theodore Douglas Robinson, former State Senator and nephew of the late Colonel Roosevelt, is to be an active worker in the Wood ranks. Among others who have written to the General Leonard Wood League offering their services are Thomas L. Masson, editor of Life, and Herman Hagedorn and Julian Street, the authors.

No Hoover Headquarters Yet.

Interest in the campaign of Herbert C. Hoover continued among local politicians yesterday. While it was denied by Julius H. Barnes, who is sponsoring the Hoover movement in this city, that it is planned to open headquarters here or elsewhere at the present time, friends of Mr. Hoover said active work in his behalf would be kept up. Mr. Barnes declared that Mr. Hoover came to New York on Thursday only to attend the fortnightly meeting of the Directors of the European Children's Fund.

"Not a word of politics was discussed in the gathering of these men," said Mr. Barnes.

"There is no authority or sanction for any organization work in the form of Hoover clubs or any other similar organized effort. There is not a dollar of campaign fund nor a dollar authorized to be spent. He will not permit his friends to organize sentiment in his behalf, and personally I do not believe he will permit himself to become a candidate unless there is unmistakable evidence of spontaneous and popular demand for him."

The question of Mr. Hoover's' politics continued to be discussed among political leaders. The fact was established that for a long time he was a member of the Republican Club in this city, but resigned on June 30, 1917, shortly after he was appointed Food Administrator by President Wilson. Members of the club did not believe Mr. Hoover changed his politics when he resigned to become a part of the National Democratic Administration.

Democrats Praise Hoover.

Among Democrats and others who praised Mr. Hoover yesterday and commented upon the possibility of his nomination were: James W. Gerard, Alfred E. Marling, President of the Chamber of Commerce; William Fellowes Morgan, President of the Merchants' Association, and George Gordon Battle, the lawyer. Mr. Gerard, himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination, said his second choice was Hoover, provided the latter was nominated by the Democrats. If nominated by the Republicans he said he would work hard to defeat Mr. Hoover.

Headquarters for Senator Hiram Johnson of California for the Republican Presidential nomination are to be established in this city. Angus McSween, a former newspaperman, came to New York yesterday and is at the Hotel McAlpin until regular headquarters are established. Contests for delegates are to be made in all the Eastern States at the primary elections.

GEN. WOOD FOR ACTION TO KEEP OUT THE REDS

Tells Michigan Republicans We Should Scan All Emigrants Abroad—Urges Tax Cut.

Special to The New York Times.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 23.—"This country is going to be run by Americans, cost what it may. There is not going to be autocracy of wealth nor autocracy of labor, but there must be a true democracy," declared General Leonard Wood, Republican candidate for the Presidential nomination, addressing 300 Michigan Republicans here this afternoon.

Old principles must prevail in dealing with the national problems, said General Wood, who declared that Theodore Roosevelt's influence was largely due to his forceful presentation of old principles.

"We want no increase of the Red element in this country," asserted the speaker. "We must begin on the other side of the ocean to cut off our danger of invasion by the Reds. We must scrutinize all emigrants on the other side. We ought to hold them after their arrival long enough for a vigorous period of Americanism, so that when they go out they may have the real idea of the Republic. We must not keep our gates open on one side for a stream of immigrants and open on the other side for deportation. After their reception we should send them to that portion of the country which may best absorb them."

The Government must get the present strangle hold of taxes off legitimate business, asserted the General. It must push its trade with the world, he added.

"There is too much lack of self-determination. Most of those who talk do not know what it means. It is all right until it reaches that point at which it affects the masses.

"Employers must mix up more with their employes and put more of the human element into those who work for them. Capital and labor must be shown they are inseparable, and an honest wage must pay for an honest day's work."

Consideration of the school system must be taken up more seriously, he said. "There is a little bit of Bolshevism in our universities, and if we do not correctly shape the character of children we are preparing them for a downfall of the Republic. Teachers are not adequately recognized. They are not well paid and they are discontented."

LUFKIN TO SUPPORT WOOD.

Announces His Candidacy as Bay State Delegate to Convention.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Representative Lufkin of Massachusetts today announced his candidacy as a delegate pledged to support Major General Leonard Wood to the Republican National Convention.

Lufkin, in a statement, said that while he had supported a movement to send Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts with a delegation to support Wood at Chicago, as long as the General was a candidate before the convention, the Coolidge managers want only "a handpicked list of delegates."

"They want men who must have no second choice," his statement added, "and whose influence can be manipulated or transferred at will."

GOODNOW OUT FOR HOOVER.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 23.—Dr. Frank J. Goodnow, President of Johns Hopkins University, believes Herbert Hoover is the best qualified of all the men discussed as Presidential candidates. A Republican himself, Mr. Goodnow would like to see Mr. Hoover nominated by the Republican Party.

"I have felt for some time," said Dr. Goodnow in his room in the Marburg Building at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he is a patient as the result of the breaking of his right leg, "that Hoover would make an ideal President in the present crisis of our American life. His sturdy Americanism, his wealth of European experience, his remarkable power of organization, and his sterling common sense make him just the man to deal wisely with the problems, both foreign and domestic, which this country is now facing.

"The United States would, in my opinion, be fortunate in securing his services as its Chief Executive whether he were elected by either of the great political parties or as a result of a combination of both parties. As a Republican, I should prefer that he should be chosen as a candidate of the Republican Party."

Suffrage Before Virginia Assembly.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 23.—Governor Davis today transmitted to the General Assembly without recommendation the woman suffrage amendment, which will be considered at a joint meeting of two committees of the House and Senate Monday.

POINDEXTER CLOWN, ASSERTS EDWARDS

EXPLAINS STATE'S AIMS

Governor Edward I. Edwards gave out a statement in Jersey City last evening in reply to United States Senator Miles Poindexter's published letter yesterday attacking the New Jersey Governor's attitude on the prohibition question. The Governor said:

"I have read the summary of the letter of United States Senator Poindexter in reference to the attempt to have the Supreme Court of the United States pass upon the legality of the so-called eighteenth amendment.

"I am amazed at the wildness of his statements. It begins to look to me as if this prohibition propaganda was akin to the epidemic of St. Vitus dance in the middle ages, in which all those who came anywhere near the victims of this madness were forced against their will to go through the most peculiar contortions. One after another, some of the leading men of the country seem to whirl about in a mental maze like the dervishes drunk on their own enthusiasm. No sooner has Mr. Bryan spoken in terms of personal denunciation of me than we have a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination also executing a mental fandango in which he seemed to take leave of his senses.

"What is it the States who do not want to be subjected to the yoke of fanaticism are trying to do?

"Why, under the Constitution of the United States and our theory of dual government, they are attempting to have legally established in duly constituted courts of adequate jurisdiction whether the Prohibition Amendment is really an amendment of the Constitution. Writers in law magazines argue, many of them men of reputation in their profession, that it is not a part of the Constitution. Others say that, if a part of the Constitution, the States have the right to interpret this amendment.

"All this is done quietly, calmly, sanely, and reasonably, and the Poindexter demand is that such an appeal to the lawfully constituted tribunals of the country should be made a criminal offense. In other words, if the Anti-Saloon League has by chicanery, trickery, oppression, and political manipulation forced into the organic law of the land illegally a so-called amendment to the Constitution, no one thereafter should be allowed to question it except at the peril of being called a criminal. We are not only sold for naught, but we must stay sold. Surely such maunderings answer themselves.

"Of course, it is unnecessary for me to say that I am not to be stopped or thwarted in my endeavor to uphold the dignity of the State of New Jersey and the rights of my fellow-men by any such empty threats as made by this political mountebank, who is seeking a nomination so great that, compared with his record and his personality, the attempt must seem droll to every one except himself."

FINDS 'PRESIDENTS' SCARCE

James M. Beck Talks of Lack of White House Material.

In an address on "Leadership in a Democracy" at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Social Science at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Davison, 690 Park Avenue, last night, James M. Beck advanced reasons for what he called an unusual paucity of presidential material. Mr. Beck said great leaders are the product of simple ideas thought out clearly. He asserted there was cause for believing that political life has become standardized to mediocrity, and declared there is not yet in this country that intense spirit of nationality which does much to create great statesmen.

"Our political system has been the steady merging of States with the Federal Government," he said, "yet the nation itself is slowly disintegrating socially into groups, geographical classes, and transferring power to non-political groups. Men are filled with ambition to dominate groups rather than politics. No man can be great without utilization of publicity, yet men are 'cribbed, cabined and confined' by the mechanics of publicity which cannot reach all parts of the country."

Colleges have failed to develop the finest kind of material for the Presidential office, Mr. Beck said, comparing American with English universities, which he termed nurseries of public life. He concluded with a plea for a return to faith in the Constitution.

INCREASE IN WORKERS IN TEN BIG INDUSTRIES

Labor Department Reports Rise in Payrolls in Eleven, Men's Clothing Leading with 94.4%.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Increases in the number of workers employed in ten of the thirteen leading industries are shown in figures made public today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Comparing the figures of the same establishments for last December with December, 1918, the largest increase, 26.9 per cent., appeared in the manufacturing industry. Eleven industries showed an increase in payrolls, men's ready-made clothing showing an increase of 96.4 per cent. and the woolen industry 58.7 per cent.

An increase in the amount of money paid employes in December as against November is shown in the payrolls of twelve of the industries, cotton manufacturing leading with an increase of 23.7 per cent.

DANIELS DISSENTS FROM BRYAN VIEW

"GREAT GOOD" IN PLATFORM

Secretary Commends 90 Per Cent. of Jersey Declaration, but Differs on Prohibition.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Secretary Daniels today took issue with William Jennings Bryan, who has stated in public addresses that Chairman Cummings of the Democratic National Committee ought to dissociate himself from Governor Edwards of New Jersey, who was elected on a "wet" platform, or resign from the committee chairmanship.

Mr. Daniels said that he had read Governor Edwards's platform with a great deal of interest, and had found "at least 90 per cent. of it" excellent and agreeing thoroughly with the best principles of Democratic statesmen of the past and present. Naturally, the Secretary said, he could not agree with Mr. Edwards on the prohibition question, but this point should not be allowed to overshadow the great good in the remainder of the Governor's platform.

"I believe," continued the Secretary, "that Mr. Cummings acted with perfect propriety in accepting an invitation to a dinner given to a Democratic leader. If I were National Chairman I would not hesitate to attend such a dinner. Mr. Cummings undoubtedly would have accepted if the dinner had been given to Mr. McAdoo, Mr. Palmer, Mr. Hoover or any other noted Democrat."

ROME, Ga., Jan. 23.—"Every Democrat is entitled to his own opinion," William J. Bryan said today, after reading Secretary Daniels's statement that he thought National Chairman Cummings's action in attending Governor Edwards's inaugural banquet was proper.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 23.—J. Scott Hunter of Detroit, one of the 135 men indicted on charges of conspiracy in the election of Senator Truman H. Newberry, entered a plea of nolo contendere in United States District Court this forenoon. Hunter is the seventh respondent to change his plea to nolo contendere.

BUTLER ROUTS INTRUDER.

Then Holds Man Found in West End Avenue Home Till Police Come.

A Japanese butler and a Chinese chow dog yesterday routed an intruder from the West End Avenue home of a Russian general of the old régime with so much noise and expedition that several Irish-American policemen took the man to the West Sixty-eighth Street station on a charge of burglary. There the man described himself as an American citizen of Hungarian descent, gave his name as Frederick Weiss and said he went into the house merely to look for a job. He didn't have it or anything else when he came out.

General Michael Yassukovitch and the other members of his family were absent from their international household when the trouble started in their home at 273 West End Avenue, near Seventy-second Street. The Chinese chow sighted the intruder first on the third floor and made so much noise that the Japanese butler came up. The two men tumbled down the stairs together and were grappling in the street when a maid from the house called Policeman Philip Lang and other patrolmen. Weiss had no weapons of any kind and said he went into the house to find some one to ask for a job. The General, who was a member of one of the various missions of the old Russian embassy here, said he would give the Japanese butler a medal.

ARRESTED AS HOLDUP MEN.

Two Clerks Alleged to Have Tried to Rob Railway Cashier.

Frederick J. Roberts, 22 years old, a clerk of 2,169 Third Avenue, and Harold A. Flynn, 21 years old, a clerk of 1,662 Park Avenue, were arrested last night and locked up at Headquarters on a charge of assault and attempted robbery. The complainant was James M. Lewis, cashier of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, at Grand Central Terminal.

According to detective William Jones both were identified by the complainant as the men who assaulted him on January 12, at 4:45 P. M., while he was carrying a package containing $14,935 to the treasury of the railroad. Both prisoners denied guilt.

types of pus-producing germs, has proved ineffective in preventing influenza. It has, however, seemed to prevent pneumonia. In view of the fact that pneumonia seems to be less infrequent as a complication of influenza, this department does not feel justified in recommending the use of vaccine.

"It is the consensus of opinion of investigators almost without exception that all vaccines supposed to be prophylactic of influenza are without value."

Nurses' Council Reconvened.

The Nurses' Emergency Council, of which Lillian Wald, head of the Henry Street Settlement, is the chairman, was reconvened yesterday as a precautionary measure. This council was organized in October, 1918.

The shortage of nurses is causing the Commissioner some concern. Thousands are needed to relieve the shortage in this country, despite the fact that a majority of the nurses who accompanied the American force overseas have returned to resume their work at home. A report made public by the Red Cross Bureau for Nurses at 44 East Twenty-third street yesterday said:

"Replying to a request of Dr Copeland that the Red Cross hold itself in readiness to render aid in the influenza situation, officals of the Atlantic Division assured him Thursday that the Red Cross has been fully prepared all along to give the most effective assistance to the local authorities. Red Cross personnel, supplies, and motor equipment have been organized for emergency work in case the local health officials need additional help.

"As far back as last October every one of the more than 3,600 chapters of the Red Cross in the United States received detailed instructions on how to organize to combat a recurrence of influenza, with the result that the present outbreak of the disease finds Red Cross workers amply prepared. In every chapter committees have been at work ascertaining the number of hospital beds, amount of supplies available, the nursing strength, the number of automobiles and other resources."

Nurses Asked to Register.

The Health Department has requested the name, address and telephone number of all nurses and a statement whether, if called upon, they can give whole or part time to looking after influenza victims. The pay for trained nurses will be $6 a day, or 75 cents an hour for part time, and $4 a day, or 50 cents an hour, for untrained nurses.

Dr. Copeland has received letters regarding the use of whisky for treatment in pneumonia and influenza cases. One letter came yesterday from a former saloonkeeper, who offered to dispense whisky for medicinal purposes at 40 per cent. less than the "profiteering drug stores." The Internal Revenue Department has promised Dr. Copeland to expedite the licenses of such drug stores as wish to sell liquor for medicine. The Anti-Saloon League issued a statement to show that whisky was not a necessity in cases of influenza.

Death Rate Still Low.

"The encouraging thing to date," said Dr. Copeland in discussing general conditions, "is that the death rate is low as compared with the mortalities of other years, and this indicates that it is of milder form. Today corresponds to Oct. 4, 1918, as regards the progress of influenza. Let us analyze the figures. On Oct. 4 there were 1,695 new cases of influenza and 1,197 cases of pneumonia reported. Sixty-one died from influenza and 562 from pneumonia. Today, with almost as many cases of influenza, we have twenty-three deaths, and we have far less cases and deaths of pneumonia. This shows the disease is less virulent becaue secondary pneumonia is less this year."

At Bellevue Hospital last night the Assistant Superintendent, a trained nurse, an ambulance driver, an office boy in the Assistant Superintendent's office, six women servants, and two orderlies were in their beds with severe colds. A complete diagnosis of their cases had not been made, it was said.

Dr. Mark L. Fleming, Assistant Superintendent of the hospital, it was said, was believed to be suffering from influenza. James Carr, an orderly, who was in charge of forty-five cases of influenza, was confined to his ward. It was thought he had contracted influenza. Walter Masterson, an ambulance driver, who recently has been carrying a number of influenza patients to the hospital, became ill.

Alfred Friend, an orderly, died early today. Mr. Friend was 66 years old and had been attached to the hospital staff for twenty years. He was the oldest orderly on the hospital roster. When a young man Mr. Friend gained a reputation as an oarsman, having competed in several races on the Thames River.

Mrs. Leonora Wilkins, 23 years old, her three daughters, Leonora, 6; Elizabeth, 3, and Sarah, 5, and a son, Richard one year old, were removed to the New York Hospital last night from their home at 516 West Twenty-sixth Street suffering from pneumonia. They were found in their home by Patrolman Nightingale of the West Twentieth Street Station. All were in bed. The father, William, a salesman, was away from home.

INFLUENZA SWEEPS SPAIN.

Madrid Has 110 Deaths a Day, Says Passenger on the Noordam.

Dr. Pedro Dominguez, who arrived yesterday from Madrid, via Boulogne, on the Holland-America liner Noordam, said the influenza epidemic had spread over Spain when he left and that in Madrid there were about 110 deaths a day. In addition to the outbreak of influenza, which commenced about six weeks ago, the doctor said, there was a great deal of typhoid fever and pneumonia in the Spanish capital, but fewer deaths than during the epidemic last Winter.

SAYS HE FOUND GRIP GERM.

Army Lieutenant Claims Isolation of Real Bacillus.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Lieutenant Earl C. Carr, in charge of the main laboratory at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, announced tonight that he had isolated the influenza germ.

"It is the real influenza bacillus discovered by Pfeiffer in England," he said. "I picked out the influenza bacillus colonies and transferred them to a separate media. There can be no doubt about it.

"The bacillus is very small—about one-fourth the size of the tuberculosis bacillus—it is non-motile and grows in clumps. The presence of this bacillus makes people just as sick as they were last year and in my opinion the death rate per thousand cases is as high. There are not, however, as many cases as there were last year."

2,551 MORE CHICAGO CASES.

Influenza Also Spreads in New Jersey and Delaware.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Influenza and pneumonia continued to spread in Chicago today, 2,551 cases of the two diseases being reported during the last twenty-four hours, as compared to 2,433 in the preceding period. The death list showed a slight decrease, however, with 76 fatalities as compared to 79 yesterday. Pneumonia showed the heaviest increase, with 321 new cases and 45 deaths today against 237 new cases and 43 deaths yesterday.

Ten per cent. of the conductors and motormen on the surface lines and one-tenth of the police force are said to be among the victims.

The epidemic remains in a mild form, and there still is no occasion for alarm, according to Dr. John Dill Robertson, City Health Commissioner.

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 23.—Although there are no present indications of a serious epidemic of influenza and pneumonia in Michigan, according to State Health Commissioner Olin, every precaution is being taken to prevent the spread of the disease. Private funerals have been ordered where death follows influenza and pneumonia.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 23.—Eight cases of influenza have been reported in Wilmington.

Twenty-five cases were reported to the Board of Health of Pennsgrove, N. J., and several other cases have been reported from towns scattered through the lower section of Delaware. Extensive preparations are being made to combat any possible epidemic.

DETROIT, Jan. 23.—Seven hundred and sixty cases of influenza had been recorded by the Health Office as developing here during the day, bringing the total since the beginning of the present outbreak to 1,523. There were 33 new pneumonia cases, which now total 170.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 23.—Eighty-seven new cases of influenza and 23 new cases of pneumonia were reported to the City Health Department today.

ARMY SICK RATE HIGHER.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan 23.—Maj. Gen. Ireland, Surgeon General of the Army, announced today that sick rates in the army are higher than last week.

The admission rate for disease is 864.2 and the non-effective rate is 29.3, as compared with 659.3 and 26.3, respectively, last week. The chief cause of this increase is the prevalence of small epidemics of mild influenza, with pneumonia as a complication in a small per cent. of the cases. The disease at this date is prevalent at Camps Grant, Custer and Dodge, and at the General Hospital at Fort Sheridan.

It is expected to spread to other camps and stations. "The admission and death rates will probably show a continued increase for the next few weeks," said General Ireland, "although it is not expected these rates will reach the high levels encountered in the epidemic of 1918. There were thirty deaths from disease reported, of which fifteen were due to tuberculosis, four to pneumonia, and four to diseases of the heart."

Among the American forces in Germany fewer cases of influenza were reported than last week, while pneumonia and measles show an increase. There were sixty-three cases of influenza, fifteen of measles, and thirty of pneumonia, against 163.9 and twenty-three, respectively, last week. Twelve deaths from pneumonia were reported during the week, against six for pneumonia and five for measles last week. The report from the American forces in Siberia for Jan. 2 shows twenty-four admissions for influenza, five for measles, and seven for pneumonia. There were no deaths reported among those troops.

Influenza Epidemic at Prison.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—An influenza epidemic at the State prison has resulted in the barring of all visitors. The ban will be enforced until the disease has abated, prison officials declared tonight. There have been no deaths from the disease, but officials refused to state the number of cases.

Although he has nearly recovered from his attack of bronchitis, he is not yet able to leave the house. ANTI-SEDITION BILLS ASSAILED IN HOUSE

ATTACK ALSO IN COMMITTEE

Palmer Is Charged with "Sidestepping" Issue After Asking to be Allowed to Explain Its Need.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Attacks on pending anti-sedition bills not only continued today before the House Rules Committee, but spread to the floor of the House, Republicans and Democrats joining in opposition to the measures, which were in turn defended by members of both parties.

Republican members of the Rules Committee at the resumption of hearings on the Sterling and Graham bills, charged that Attorney General Palmer had "sidestepped" the issue, after asking to be permitted to present the need for additional legislation to prosecute Radicals. Representative Rodenberg of Illinois, one of the Republican members of the committee, after charging that the Attorney General had developed "a plain case of cold feet," announced that he would offer a motion tomorrow requesting Mr. Palmer to appear before the committee.

Attacks on the bills in the House were made by Representatives Browne, Republican, Wisconsin, and Huddlston, Democrat, Alabama, the latter declaring that "industrial unrest might be converted into political unrest by such measures." Representative Burke, Republican, Pennsylvania, broke into the debate to say that the Pennsylvania State law relating "strictly to sedition" had been used during strikes to prohibit "even two or three workers meeting in a hall."

The forces in the House favoring the measures were led by Representative Husted, Republican, New York, who, however, objected to the first two sections of the Graham bill, and Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, who declared the Republican Steering Committee had favored the proposed Sedition bills until they were opposed by organized labor, "and Mr. Gompers came with a veiled threat to the Republican Party."

"The biggest autocracy in this country is that which stopped this bill," declared the Texas Representative, adding that if members of Congress would vote their own judgment, they would pass the measure and "let Mr. Gompers go to hell."

In testimony before the Rules Committee John D. Moore of New York said that the Democrats would get capital for campaign purposes if the Republican controlled Congress passed the pending bills, as "nobody wants additional legislation." Swinbourne Hale, a former army officer, told the committee the Graham bill was "filled with jokers," while Alfred Beckmann of Cincinnati, former Assistant Attorney General, in charge of sedition cases, asserted that the proposed legislation would be a worse evil than the acts it might prosecute.

"There are no cases except very remote ones which cannot be punished under existing statutes," said Beckmann. "And the menace from these cases is not dangerous enough to add legislation which would be a thrust at the freedom of American citizens. Suppression increases rebellion. In countries where suppression is the greatest revolutions are the freest."

Hundreds of letters and telegrams protesting against the bills, including a letter from John L. Lewis, Acting President of the United Mine Workers of America, have been received, Chairman Campbell of the Rules Committee announced today. Hearings by the committee are expected to be concluded tomorrow, with Bourke Cockran of New York appearing in behalf of the "Irish Republic."

Negroes to Oppose Enactment.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced yesterday that its representative would appear in Washington at the hearing on the Graham Sedition bill to protest against its enactment. The association stated that "one of the provisions of the bill is designed to exclude from the mails negro publications protesting against flagrant injustices to which the race is subjected. Liberty-loving colored citizens, as well as whites, are urged to see to it that this bill does not become a law."

ANDERSON ASSAILS PRESS.

Sees "Wets'" Hands in Plea for Fairness to Socialists.

William H. Anderson, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, in a communication addressed to the Republican members of the Assembly yesterday, charged that certain newspapers "are not half so interested in getting what they call a square deal for the suspended Socialist members as they are in so mussing things up as to prevent the passage of prohibition enforcement legislation." He held that it is desired to discredit Speaker Sweet over the Socialist question so as to make it impossible for him to put through a State enforcement law in harmony with the Federal law.

Two men died yesterday at East Rockaway apparently from wood alcohol poisoning. They were Gustave Green, about 26 years old, of Ocean Avenue, and John A. Gannon, about 40, of Fitchburg, Mass. Gannon had been visiting at Green's home for the last week, it was said. Both men came home at about 6 o'clock Thursday evening. Mrs. Green said they seemed to have been drinking. Later in the night Dr. Arthur D. Jacques was called in to attend them. Both became blind, and at 4 A. M. Green died. Gannon died two hours later.

Samuel K. Saleeby, a Brooklyn druggist, of 84 Court Street, charged with complicity in the wood alcohol cases which resulted recently in the death of several persons in Brooklyn, was released today in $15,000 bail. He was immediately rearrested on charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

WATER POWER LAWS ARE URGED BY PRATT

Says Conservation Body and the Mayors' Council Partly Agree—Asks State Storage Plants.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—Immediate action in the development of the latent water power of New York State by taking those preliminary steps upon which all persons interested in water power are agreed is urged in the ninth annual report of the Conservation Commission, which is about to be transmitted to the Legislature by Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt. Failure to enact water power legislation last year was largely because the proponents were divided into two different camps—the Conservation Commission and its followers advocating the leasing of State-owned power sites to municipalities and power companies who would generate and distribute the power, and the New York State Council of Mayors proposing that the State proceed with the actual generation of the power and its transmission to consumers.

Commissioner Pratt now points out in his report that up to a certain point the proposals of the Conservation Commission and the Council of Mayors run side by side. He calls attention to the fact "that it should be possible for the State immediately to go a long way forward in the development of water power without running counter to the theories of either side."

The first and most important of the preliminary steps of a common power policy is stated by Commissioner Pratt to be the control of stream flow by storage reservoirs constructed, owned, and operated by the State. This work, the report points out, underlies every plan for hydro-electric development, and inasmuch as it will take several years to make much progress in this direction, because of the large size of many of the most important reservoirs and dams, it is important that the work be started at once.

Preparation of engineering plans for the immediate development by the State of the enormous water power on the St. Lawrence and Niagara rivers and the institution of negotiations with the National Government and Canada to clear away any obstacles in the way of such development are further recommendations of the report.

Power is now available on the Barge Canal, says the report, and is running to waste because provision has not been made for its utilization. On account of the great demand for this power, and because of the fact that the dams are built, Commissioner Pratt recommends the immediate passage of appropriate legislation authorizing the leasing at public auction, to municipalities or corporations, of the surplus waters created as a result of the construction of the Barge Canal.

BRINGING RESCUED TO PORT.

Powhatan's 271 Passengers to be Landed at Hoboken Today.

According to a radio message received last night, the United States Army transport Northern Pacific, with the 271 passengers transferred on Thursday from the Powhatan, will reach Hoboken between 9 and 10 o'clock today, and land on the south side of Pier 3, where American Red Cross workers will be in waiting to provide the rescued with any clothing they may need.

Colonel J. B. Mitchell, at the Port and Zone Transportation Office, 45 Broadway, said yesterday that the Powhatan was proceeding slowly toward Halifax in tow of the Canadian steamer Lady Laurier. A message was received from Captain A. B. Randall of the Powhatan requesting that heavier tow ropes be sent out from Halifax, because the strain in the high seas was too heavy for the ten-inch Manila lines with which the ship was provided, and these had been carried away at times.

The expense of the Lady Laurier in towing the disabled transport to port will be paid by the Army Transport Department, Colonel Mitchell said.

The last position given for the Powhatan was 240 miles south of Halifax. Captain Randall stated that a destroyer had a line out to the stern of the transport to steady her and that the Western Comet had resumed her voyage, leaving the destroyer Sharkey standing by.

Messages confirming the safe transfer of all the passengers from the Powhatan to the Northern Pacific at 10 o'clock Thursday night were received at the Army Transportation Bureau from Captain Lustie of the Northern Pacific, who stated that the weather was good, with a light northerly breeze and a smooth sea. During the transfer, which occupied four hours, the Leary and Sharkey, destroyers, and the United States Coast Guard Cutter Ossipee used their searchlights to light up the surface of the sea between the vessels.

DR. LOGAN KILLED IN CHINA.

Pioneer Medical Missionary Left His Body for Dissection.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 23.—Dr. O. T. Logan, pioneer medical missionary of Hunan Province, was killed recently at Chengtu while visiting his friend, General Y. H. Feng, according to advices which have reached the "Yale in China" offices here.

Dr. Logan was known throughout Central China and was beloved by the natives. He had given instructions that his body should go to the medical school conducted by Yale men at Changsha for dissection, and to provide material for study by the seventy students, owing to the opposition of the Chinese to autopsies, which conflict with their religious belief.

COPE PLANS TO FLY TO THE SOUTH POLE

Head of British Antarctic Expedition Prepares for a Dash from the Great Ice Barrier.

IS CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

Special Airplane Will Be Used as a Sledge on the Ice in Event of an Accident in the Air.

LONDON, Jan. 23 (Associated Press)—Dr. John L. Cope, commander of the British Imperial antarctic expedition which will leave England in the steamer Terra Nova next June for a five years' tour of exploration in the antarctic, says an attempt will be made to dash to the south pole by airplane.

"The plane we are taking with us," said Dr. Cope, "is being specially constructed and will be so designed that it can land on the ice by means of skids. Three men will make the dash for the pole from the top of the great ice barrier at the Bay of Whales.

"From the starting point it will be a continuous climb, since the plane will have to cross a mountain range with peaks 11,000 feet high. The pilot will be Captain G. H. Wilkins, who participated in the flight between England and Australia.

"The plane will be fitted with a patent sledge attachment, which will be used to carry provisions and equipment if anything happens to prevent the journey being continued in the air. With a full load and crew the airplane will weigh 12,600 pounds. Its speed will average 93 miles an hour.

"Of the three men in the plane one will be the pilot, the second the navigator and wireless operator, and the third myself. I will be the observer, and my duties will be to chart and photograph the country over which we pass.

"I have had very considerable experience in sledging during years spent in the antarctic region, and in the event of an accident I will lead the party back to our base over the great ice mountains and glaciers. Naturally, the great enemy we shall have to face will be the antarctic blizzard, but given fairly decent weather and reasonable luck I am convinced we will return safely to our base.

"If the weather is favorable I intend to commence the flight for the pole next Christmas day. I have been told that one of the chief difficulties I will have to face is the lowness of the temperature. While this may be the case, the work of the British airmen in North Russia during the winter must not be overlooked. There our airmen used planes when the temperature was many degrees colder than it is in the antarctic in Summer.

"The time I spent marooned on Ross Island after the Aurora (the Mawson expedition ship of 1916) was driven away in the Lizard gave me every opportunity for studying weather conditions. Those records convinced me of the practicability of aviation in the antarctic during the Summer. I am convinced that by using an airplane new important discoveries will be made.

"The objects of the expedition are purely scientific. We are going there to collect all the data possible regarding mineral wealth and other natural resources in that vast region, which we hope to chart. During the expedition an attempt will be made to circumnavigate the antarctic, and three members of the party, including myself, will spend a whole Winter on the great ice barrier, a thing never before attempted, for the purpose of studying weather conditions."

ACCUSES REPUBLICANS OF DODGING IRISH BILL

Connolly Challenges Them to Pass or Kill Measure—Objects to de Valera's Presence Here.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Republicans in Congress were accused today by Representative Connolly, Democrat, of Texas, of playing politics in the consideration of a bill proposing diplomatic recognition of the provisional Irish republic.

"Why don't you report the bill and pass it, or do your duty and kill it, so the Irish people may know where you stand?" asked the Democratic member, addressing the Republican side of the House. Declaring the measure had been pending before a committee controlled by the Republicans since last May, Mr. Connolly said that "serious consideration" was not being given it, but that the committee did not act finally because it would "disillusion" American voters sympathetic to the Irish cause.

Mr. Connolly accused Edward de Valera, whom he described as the "advertised President of the Irish republic," of being hostile to the success of Great Britain in the World War and added that his presence and actions in this country "place us in an embarrassing position."

The British, Mr. Connolly added, will never permit Ireland's separation from the British Empire, because to do so would let the island "located on the very flank of the British Empire become the prey of every scheming nation in Europe."

associated with the publication of the book than himself.

"These men all admit their responsibility concerning the book," said Mr. Brainard. "The question of issuing the book was passed upon by the unanimous vote of the Editorial Council. Justice should certainly have been satisfied with the offer of either of these men or of one of the two Vice Presidents, who were willing to answer the charge. Why was I picked out? Because I happen to be a member of the Extraordinary Grand Jury."

Mr. Brainard commented on the speed at which the case was pushed to trial, a few days more than a month after it was first presented in the Magistrate's court. He said that the fact of three Assistant District Attorneys being assigned to prosecute him from an office that had in some matter been under investigation by the Grand Jury made it appear that he had been persecuted as well as prosecuted.

"One of the Assistant District Attorneys, McGrath, put his questions and conducted his cross-examination of me by referring to two typewritten sheets he held in his hands," continued Mr. Brainard. "I have had for two weeks in my possession carbon copies of these typewritten pages produced in court by Mr. McGrath. The words, questions and whole sentences were the same in both cases. The copies I had were placed in my hands two weeks ago, by a friend, who told me that the copies came from the office of The New York American.

"I believe that the original or copies of what I received were furnished to the District Attorney. The matter purported to review or to question my life and career from the time I was 10 years old, but most of it was a tissue of falsehoods, with just a thread of truth running here and there.

"Then, after the decision was announced, I was taken, like some desperate criminal, to a place behind bars and my fingerprints and pedigree recorded. I was asked questions that went back to the time I was 16 years old. I was asked where I had lived during twenty-three years here, what business I had been in, and what I had made therefrom. Of course, I didn't have to answer all such questions, but my attorney advised me to go ahead and tell whatever they asked."

Mr. Brainard, who was graduated from Harvard University and is an attorney, had ex-Justice Francis M. Scott of the Appellate Division and John Larkin defend him and the corporation. After some witnesses had been heard and Mr. Scott had moved for dismissal of the case on the ground that his client was in no way connected with the publication of the book, Justice McInerney inquired:

"Why has Mr. Brainard been brought into the case? The testimony indicates that he had less to do with its publication than others connected with the concern."

Mr. McGrath replied that the case had only come to the notice of the District Attorney's office through the society which was instrumental in bringing the charges.

Witnesses called by the prosecution were Vice President H. H. Hoyns of Harper & Bros., who said he had nothing to do with the publication of the book and admitted that the President of the corporation could have prevented its issue, and William H. Briggs, a member of the Literary Conference, who testified that this conference had to do with all manuscripts submitted for publication. The conference, he said, never referred its decisions or work to the President. Mr. Brainard testified that he could not remember attending any of the literary conferences except when he was called in about some matter relating to finances.

District Attorney Swann made this reply last night to Mr. Brainard's criticism of the District Attorney's office and his reference to the typewritten sheets held by the Assistant District Attorney:

"I never knew and had nothing to do with the original charge made against Mr. Brainard. The charge was brought by the Comstock society. What Mr. Brainard says about the typewritten sheets furnished us is not true. The New York American had nothing to do with it. The papers from which Mr. McGrath examined him came from the files of the Society for the Prevention of Vice and were the original papers prepared by Anthony Comstock in a previous case concerning Mr. Brainard."

Mr. Swann said that the case that led to the preparation of the papers some years ago was dropped.

Victor A. Watson, city editor of The New York American, emphatically denied Mr. Brainard's charge.

"There is just as much truth in his statement as there was in the rumor that Mr. Brainard and his pals sent out of the Grand Jury room about the now-collapsed overshadowing crime," he said.

BENNETT WILL SUIT HELD UP

No Action Until Supreme Court Rules on French Testament.

A motion by Eugene Higgins, executor under the French will of James Gordon Bennett, to reopen the probate of the American will of the newspaper owner in order that the French will might be offered at the same time and both documents declared to constitute the complete will of Mr. Bennett, was adjourned indefinitely when it was called before Surrogate Foley yesterday.

It is understood that no action will be taken pending a ruling in the suit in the Supreme Court by the American executors to determine what effect the French will is to have on the property in America.

GERMAN FUR BUYERS HELD UP AS ENEMIES

First Merchants to Arrive Since War Ordered to Ellis Island, to Give $500 Bonds.

HAVE REGULAR PASSPORTS

Documents Approved by an American Consul General—Polish Companion Detained.

The first German business men to reach the United States since the war arrived yesterday at Hoboken on the Holland-America liner Noordam and were detained for the night on board the ship. Today they are to be taken to Ellis Island with other detained aliens and released under bonds of $500 each.

There are four Germans in the party, Frederick Haring, Rudolf Neugast, Werner Schild, and Heinze Littauer, and each has a German passport which bears the stamp of the United States Consul General at Rotterdam, who had been instructed by the State Departmen to grant the permit. The Germans said they were fur buyers and had come to attend the annual fur sale at St. Louis because Germany was badly in need of furs.

With the Germans came Solomon Eichner, a Pole, who was provided with a Polish passport, also viséd at the United States Consulate in Rotterdam. He, too, was detained, because he was traveling with the Germans. He is also in the fur business and represents a Berlin house.

The immigration officials who boarded the Noordam told the Germans they must give $500 bonds before they could land, as America was still officially at war with Germany. Representatives of several large New York fur dealers were at the Custom barrier to offer aid to the detained Germans, but they were not allowed to leave the ship. At 2 o'clock a telephone message was received from Ellis Island saying that the party could be taken there on the 3 o'clock boat from the Battery and that if the bonds were ready they might be released before night. The immigration officials in Hoboken had no one to send to the Battery in charge of the five men, and the officers of the Noordam refused to send one of their own men and risk a fine of $1,000 if one of the enemy aliens should get away.

Mr. Littauer, speaking for the party, said they had supposed that after getting permission to sail from the American Consul General at Rotterdam, everything would be easy in New York, or they would not have come. He said Germany was now dependent upon America for furs, obtained formerly from Russia, and added that they hoped to buy furs at the St. Louis sale on long credit.

Mr. Eichner said that as he was a Pole, he supposed he had been detained on account of his German friends. Mr. Eichner said business in Germany was not good, but that if credits could be arranged in America for raw materials, conditions would improve. The Germans said there was little talk in Germany about the fate of the ex-Kaiser and the ex-Crown Prince, because the people were too busy considering how they were going to live.

While the Noordam was in midocean Mrs. Peter Luyten of San Francisco gave birth to a baby girl. Miss Isabel Ramey and Miss Marguerite Banse, Belgian nurses, came on the Noordam to study child hygiene and hospital practice.

The Noordam brought 568 passengers. She was eighteen days on the way, and, because of bad weather, put into Halifax for coal.

CALL MENDEN RESPONSIBLE

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., Jan. 23.—The prosecution in the trial of William S. Menden, formerly chief engineer of the New York Consolidated Railroad Company, on a charge for manslaughter in connection with the Malbone tunnel wreck, devoted itself today to an attempt to fasten upon the defendant full responsibility for the engineering features of the road. An effort was made thus to show him culpable for any lack of safety devices in the tunnel.

Charles A. Boody, George B. Gallagher and Walter S. Benedict, Directors of the company, testified that Menden was charged entirely with the engineering policy of the road. George B. Yeomans, general counsel for the B. R. T. system and another Director, said that, so far as he knew, in 1918 Menden was the only engineer on the board. Cross-examined, he said reconstruction work along various sections of the Brighton elevated had been halted because the Public Service Commission refused to approve contracts. He added that the road always complied with instructions of the commission regarding safety devices.

Robert H. Johnson, superintendent of signals under Menden, testified "there was no good reason" why an automatic time-limit device should not have been installed in the approach to the tunnel. Charles Hansel, Chairman of the Joint Committee of the Interstate Commerce Commission on Signal Valuation, said the grade leading to the tunnel was the proper place for installing such a signal, explaining that a train weighing as much as the one which was wrecked would gather headway there of some thirty-six miles an hour with the power shut off.

The trial in the Nassau County Supreme Court was adjourned till Monday morning, when the prosecution probably will conclude. It is predicted the case will go to the jury Wednesday.

HINES WARNS SHIPPERS CAR SHORTAGE IS NEAR

Industrial Activity, Coal Strike and Inability to Buy Cars the Cause.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Warning of a car shortage during the next two months was issued to shippers today by Director General Hines of the Railroad Administration, with a request for continued co-operation to make the best of the situation. He pledged the Railroad Administration to make every effort to meet the condition, and pointed out what he characterized as the limitations with which it would have to deal.

General industrial activity, the setback which transportation suffered in the coal strike, and the fact that the Railroad Administration, facing an early return of the roads to private owners, could not buy additional freight cars, were the principal causes of the shortage, the Director General says:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—More than two-thirds of the nearest relatives of the American soldier dead abroad who have been asked by the War Department to indicate whether they wish to have the bodies brought home from Europe have asked for the return of the bodies to the United States.

The Adjutant General of the army has sent out cards to the next of kin of soldiers requesting to knew their desires as to the disposal of bodies. There were 74,770 cards sent out, and so far 63,708 answers have been received.

Requests for retention in Europe	10,400	30.6
Requests for reburials in other countries than U. S.	300	0.5

Secretary Baker today made public an exchange of letters between himself and Representative Everett Sanders, who has returned from France after an inspection of American soldier cemeteries.

"I have returned from France, where I visited some of the battlefields. I saw four American cemeteries in the regions of Soissons, Château-Thierry and Belleau Wood.

"I want to take this opportunity of praising the work of the Graves Registration Division in connection with these cemeteries. The cemeteries were inclosed with neat, substantial fencing, and great care had been taken to mark all graves. Some one was on guard at each cemetery and a fine American flag was unfurled on a high flagstaff in the center."

COAST SHIPBUILDER INDICTED FOR FRAUD

Special to The New York Times.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 23.—Captain John F. Blain, North Pacific District Manager for the Emergency Fleet Corporation, was arrested on a Federal bench warrant in his office, in the Colman Building this afternoon, as the first move of the Government toward the prosecution of those held responsible for alleged shipyard frauds, said to total millions of dollars.

The warrant was issued by Federal Judge Jeremiah Neterer after the Grand Jury returned two secret indictments against Blain, in which he is accused of receiving compensation from a private concern while in the employ of the Government. Blain is alleged to have received $17,500 in transactions with the Stewart Davit and Equipment Company of New York while he was acting as manager for the Fleet Corporation at a salary of $8,000, to which he had been raised from $5,000. He is said to have acted as agent for the company in a number of transactions.

In one indictment there are fifteen separate counts, each charging a separate offense. In the other there are three counts. Bonds were fixed at $5,000 on each indictment.

When the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation was formed early in April, 1917, Captain Blain was appointed Northwest Manager for the fleet corporation and special expert for the Shipping Board with headquarters in Seattle. The following year the wooden shipbuilding industry of Oregon was organized as a separate district, continuing on that basis up to the present time.

In 1918 the wooden shipbuilding program in Washington also was organized as an independent division, but later was returned to Captain Blain's jurisdiction. From the beginning of the war period until his resignation, April last, he had entire charge of the Government's gigantic steel shipbuilding program in Washington and Oregon.

In September, 1918, the Washington-Oregon district was reorganized as the Northern Pacific district, covering all steel shipbuilding in both States and wooden shipbuilding in this State, and Captain Blain's title was changed to that of Northern Pacific District Manager. Throughout his emergency fleet service his district was the largest in the entire country and built and delivered a third of all the ships received by the Government up to the close of hostilities.

On retiring as district manager of the fleet corporation last Spring, Capt. Blain opened offices in Seattle as consulting engineer, marine surveyor and shipbuilding expert. He is also Pacific Coast representative of one of the biggest ship equipment corporations in America.

DESTINN'S PEARLS IN SUIT.

Prima Donna Says They Were Not Oriental and Accuses Pawnbroker.

Emmy Destinn, Bohemian prima donna, filed a summons in the Supreme Court yesterday in a suit against Edward Berger, a pawnbroker and dealer in gems at 747 Sixth Avenue. While the cause of action and the amount claimed is not shown in the summons, Mme. Destinn's attorney, Joseph J. Myers, said that the action was based on the sale of a string of peals by the pawnbroker six years ago for $27,000.

The attorney stated that the defendant in making the sale represented that the pearls were real Oriental pearls and were worth $35,000 to $40,000. Mme. Destinn alleges that she had the pearls examined in London last Summer and was told that they were fresh water pearls worth about $2,000. Berger insists that he made no misrepresentation to Mme. Destinn.

LAGUARDIA SEEKS FOOD FUND INQUIRY

A row between the Mayor and President LaGuardia arose at the Board of Estimate meeting yesterday as a result of the refusal of the board to adopt a resolution of the latter calling for an investigation of the sale of surplus army food in this city.

Referring to a statement by the Mayor that he purposed to use a portion of the money derived from the sale of foodstuffs to buy ice for the poor next Summer, President LaGuardia said:

"If the Mayor is really sincere in his very praiseworthy purpose I should think he would be only too glad to cooperate with me in ascertaining what became of the $185,000 stated to have been spent for labor, while there are hundreds of people clamoring to be paid, and the $145,000 stated to have been paid for trucking."

The Mayor then explained the transaction by saying:

"The former Commissioner of Markets, whose services had to be dispensed with, is still busy about town. Under his supervision the Markets Department disposed of some army food and later navy food. There was a surplus from the sale which has been turned over to a committee to use a portion of this surplus for the purchase of ice, at the present time, from ice houses up the river, for the use of the poor next Summer."

President LaGuardia announced after the meeting that he would seek a Congressional investigation.

The board session was marked by continued wrangling between the two new Republican members, Henry H. Curran, Borough President of Manhattan, and F. H. LaGuardia, President of the Board of Aldermen, and Democratic members. The Mayor delayed the opening of the meeting for two hours, having been called as a witness before the Extraordinary Grand Jury, and he was not in an amiable frame of mind.

President Curran questioned the assertion of William Wirt Mills, Deputy Commissioner of Plant and Structure, that the new bus lines on Staten Island were carrying 15,000 persons a day for a 5-cent fare. He said he understood the fare was actually ten cents on most of the buses.

After it was explained by Deputy Commissioner Mills that many of the passengers gave an extra 5 cents gratuitously, the wrangle subsided, only to break out a few minutes later when the Mayor offered a resolution that the grading of the streets within the area of the Court House site be referred to the Committee on Court House.

The resolution was referred to the committee.

Every time you skid you wear off miles and miles of tire service. It's like so many dollars being thrown in front of the street cleaner's scraper. Loss of traction always means loss of tire money.

Chief Engineer of the International Motor Company, A. F. Masury, says:

"Sliding the wheels of railroad cars causes flat wheels. If sliding a hardened steel tire over a smooth steel rail for a few seconds can so abrade the wheel that its pounding will crack 150-lb. rails, fancy the damage to a rubber tire in skidding or sliding over a stone or concrete road.

"No matter how carefully and skillfully you drive when roads are wet and slippery, it is next to impossible to avoid skidding unless your tires are equipped with Anti-Skid Chains—such as Weed Chains."

Weed Anti-Skid Chains

For Protection and Preservation

Weed Chains are also made to meet the demand for an efficient traction and anti-skid device for trucks equipped with single and dual solid tires or with the very large pneumatic tires. They are so constructed that they satisfactorily meet the requirements of heavy truck service in mud, sand or snow.

BEFORE us to-day is unfolding one of the most dramatic and significant spectacles in all history—the return of the scattered peoples of Israel to Palestine, the land of their fathers.

Widely dispersed, but obeying an instinct which has survived centuries of separation, the oppressed and suffering Jews of Eastern Europe, with one accord, are turning for refuge to Zion.

Throughout Galicia, Rumania, Poland and Ukrainia whole communities are setting their faces toward the Promised Land. In remote Siberian camps, in Manchuria and in other distant lands, homesick Jewish soldiers are longing and striving to reach their ancient home. In chaotic Russia, where the subsistence of three-fourths of the Jewish population has been destroyed, more than a million will join the pilgrimage. Many from all these lands are already struggling on their way—the rich with their treasure, the scholars with their lore, the workmen with their skill and the poor with their last hope.

Shall these millions, homeward bound, be turned away? They must be if their Homeland is not made ready to receive them.

The Restoration of Palestine is the task which now confronts us all. The call to aid in this historic undertaking is an appeal that reaches down to spiritual foundations which lie deeper than divisions of creed; it embraces the human brotherhod of all races and all lands.

Their Number is Legion.

"We must no longer delay making earnest preparations for the thorough rehabilitation of Palestine, so that the land will be able gradually to absorb those whose ardent desire it is to emigrate there. And I really think their number is legion."—Jacob H. Schiff.

FOUND MRS. SPANG GIVEN TO ODD WAYS

HAD DISLIKE FOR CHILDREN

Niggardly in Some Matters and Lavish in Others—Wanted to Start a Boarding House.

State Senator Charles C. Lockwood of Brooklyn was the first witness yesterday before Surrogate Cohalan and a jury in behalf of Mrs. Mabel Spang Crome in her suit to break the will of her mother, Mrs. Rose E. Spang, which gave Mrs. Crome only $10,000 a year and left the residuary estate of more than $2,000,000 to establish a home for poor babies and children, of which Colonel Michael Friedsam, George W. Wickersham, and Dr. Henry Dwight Chapin are trustees.

Senator Lockwood for many years was attorney for Mrs. Spang's husband, Charles H. Spang, Pittsburgh steel manufacturer, who died at the Waldorf-Astoria on Feb. 14 last, leaving an estate of $3,000,000. Mr. Spang gave the income from his estate for life to his wife, and on her death the principal was to go to charities. She declined to accept the share left to her and decided to act under the laws of Pennsylvania, which gave her half the estate outright. Under questioning by Edgar T. Brackett, Senator Lockwood's testimony tended to uphold the contention of the contestant that Mrs. Spang gave indication of senility in various acts and peculiarities.

Senator Lockwood testified that for some years Mrs. Spang took delight in collecting and exhibiting improper pictures in the apartment occupied by her and her husband at the Waldorf, and that in 1915, when some one broke into the apartment, robbed Mrs. Spang of $1,000 worth of jewels she wore on her nightgown, and attacked her, Mr. Spang became alarmed for the safety of both of them, and, believing that the pictures had brought about the attack on his wife, threatened to separate from her if she did not give them up. Senator Lockwood said he drew up a paper at the request of his client providing for separate maintenance for Mrs. Spang with $12,000 a year alimony, but after consulting with physicians who told him they did not regard Mrs. Spang as competent, the witness said that Mr. Spang dropped the idea. Another reason why Mr. Spang took no action was that he did not want his fellow-club members to know he was leaving his wife, the lawyer said.

The witness said that in the spring of 1916 the differences between Mr. and Mrs. Spang had reached an acute stage when their daughter, the contestant, arrived here from Copenhagen, Denmark, and acted as peacemaker. "Mrs. Spang wanted to get away from her husband because there was a younger man she was in love with," said Senator Lockwood. "She paid his expenses on a trip to Saratoga and he later got $5,000 from Mr. Spang for some foolish letters Mrs. Spang had written to him."

In answer to questions concerning Mrs. Spang's niggardliness in some matters and lavishness in others, Senator Lockwood said:

"In 1918, when Mr. Spang went back to the Waldorf from the hospital, his wife objected to paying $12 a day for the room they had, so she got a suite for $20 a day. She said her husband was improvident, and that they were verging on poverty. She inspected the meal checks for the three nurses, and called them 'gluttons,' but she paid the waiter $10 for bringing the checks to her. When the nurses threatened to quit because of her language, she raised their pay from $40 to $50 a week. She said she wanted to get rid of the doctor who was attending Mr. Spang, because the doctor was 'keeping him alive.' Mr. Spang was one of the mildest, most lovable man I ever knew, and very liberal in his allowances. The Spangs lived at the rate of $40,000 a year, and Mrs. Spang objected to spending the money, because she feared they would spend their declining days in the poorhouse. At that time Mr. Spang's income was as high as $400,000, and his bank balance was never less than $200,000.

"Mrs. Spang wanted to open a boarding house or rooming house to help her husband provide for them, and she suggested that she send notices to the members of Mr. Spang's clubs asking them to take rooms in the houses she intended to open. She also spoke of hiring a hall bedroom for herself. She objected to paying 90 cents a day for three bottles of fermented milk for her husband, and wouldn't use an automobile because she thought she could not afford to, and yet she paid bellboys a dollar to bring up the newspaper. She said she wanted to die after her husband so she could get control of his property.

"Mrs. Spang said she thought her husband's provision in his will giving the principal of his estate to charity was a 'damn fool plan.' She said her husband was a miser during his lifetime and never gave anything to charities, and that his will ought to be broken. She several times made threats to kill her husband while they lived at the Waldorf. She was never fond of children during her lifetime, but always referred to them as 'brats,' showing antipathy toward them. When I asked her for a Red Cross contribution she said she didn't believe in giving for charity because the money didn't go where it was intended to go. She once asked her husband for $200,000 for a certain purpose, and after reducing the amount several times she finally accepted a check for about $1,000."

Senator Lockwood said that a week after her husband's death Mrs. Spang made a will giving all her property to her daughter. She cut her signature from the document before she made the new will the day before her death, which her daughter now seeks to break.

Henry W. Taft, counsel for the trustees, who are seeking to have the last will admitted to probate, concluded his case yesterday. Sophie Kircher, a nurse, told of the circumstances under which the will was signed and said she was convinced that Mrs. Spang understood its contents.

"Did you observe that there was any constraint or coercion on the part of any one in having Mrs. Spang sign the will?" asked Mr. Taft.

"Not that I observed," replied the witness. She admitted on cross-examination that Mrs. Spang's hand "shook some" when she signed her name. She also admitted that the daughter arrived that day from Copenhagen and was not permitted to see her mother. She said that, while she had been instructed by Dr. Chapin to keep the patient quiet, the reason Mrs. Crome was not admitted was that her mother refused to see her.

Surrogate Cohalan denied a motion by Senator Brackett at the close of the case for the trustees to dismiss the probate proceeding on the ground that the "presumption of law arising out of the fact that one-third of the estate goes to the lawyer who drew the will and onethird to the physician who attended the testatrix is that undue influence was used." The case will continue on Monday.

To Inaugurate Roosevelt Church.

The Roosevelt Church, a memorial for all who served in the world war, will be inaugurated at 4 o'clock tomorrow in the Collegiate Church of St. Nicholas, where the late President's father worshipped. The church is to be built on Long Island, it is to be interdenominational and membership is to be independent of that in other churches. A second edifice may be erected in Washington.

Undertakers Hear New Regulations.

More than 300 undertakers of this city were advised of new regulations, which were adopted Dec. 31, following the Callies burial case, at a meeting held yesterday in the Controller's office. The undertakers were addressed by Dr. Gilfoy of the Health Department. New licenses will be issued to them on Monday.

I. R. T. BEATEN, SAYS HYLAN.

"Eight-Cent-Fare Propaganda Has Been Knocked Flat," He Asserts.

Commenting yesterday on the progress by the Board of Estimate in its inquiry into the affairs of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, Mayor Hylan said sufficient evidence already had been gathered to disprove the contention of the company that it could not exist without an increase in fare. He also stated that it had been shown a five-cent fare was sufficient to meet all the liabilities of the companies.

"The average man who reads the newspapers," said the Mayor, "knows that the Interborough eight-cent-fare propaganda has been knocked flat in the first round. But there are more revelations to come.

"Although but two hearings have been held, the testimony proves conclusively that if the Interborough officials had been operating their lines for the benefit of the people and had been profiting only on the nickels they took in, they would not be seeking an increase fare now.

"But the stock jobbers and others of their class—those in control of the Interborough—make more money out of financial manipulation of the company's assets and credits than they do in the legitimate business of operating the road and giving the traveling public decent and proper transportation.

"I hope the public realizes that despite all this clamor for an eight-cent fare the Interborough stockholders have already more than doubled their original investment in sixteen years and still have their original stock or have sold it for value."

CHINA PLANS NEW WRITING.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The Chinese Government is experimenting with a new system of Chinese shorthand writing, known as the Chinese Written Phonetic, with the view to its ultimate adoption as the recognized script of the nation.

The main significance of the efforts involved in the new plan is that it would simplify the Chinese characters and make a knowledge of ordinary writing and reading accessible to every Chinaman, just as the adoption of the fifty-four-letter alphabet has put education within the reach of the entire Japanese peopl.

The effect of such an innovation on a population of which only 2 per cent. is at present literate, is expected to be of infinite importance, and Chinese officials supporting the project of the written phonetic have declared their belief that it would usher in a new era of moral and mental awakening in China.

The Chinese Ministry of Education is in charge of the experiments. Foreign missionary societies are supporting the Ministry in the movement, which also has the indorsement of the present Mayor of Peking and other leading Chinese citizens.

An attempt is being made to popularize the "simplified writing" project by urging a number of Peking and other Chinese newspapers to publish one or more articles daily in the new script. Several of them have agreed to make the trial.

SAVE OGDEN MILLS FAMILY.

Policemen discovered fire in the basement paneling of the home of Ogden Mills, 2 East Sixty-ninth Street, early yesterday morning in time to break down the door, rouse Mr. Mills and six members of his household, and shepherd them through the smoke-filled dwelling to safety. Those rescued, besides Mr. Mills, were his thirteen-year-old niece, Barbara Sanders; her governess, and four servants. The family took refuge next door. It was estimated that the blaze, blamed on defective wiring, caused $10,000 damage.

Guests slept undisturbed in the Ritz-Carlton while firemen fought hard until 4 o'clock yesterday morning to subdue a blaze which started Thursday night in an insulation vault, spread to the ballroom, halting a wedding in progress there, and extended to a three-story addition to the hotel.

The Rescue Squad after seven hours' work in dense smoke and intense heat, during which fresh air was supplied them from tanks, came away with blistered necks and ears. Many were revived in the main corridor of the hotel, converted into an emergency station when, one after another, they were overcome. Acting Battalion Chief Thomas Murtha went home suffering from temporary blindness. The hotel management was unable to estimate the damage.

GARBAGE FIRE BURNS THREE

Misuse of Hotel Vanderbilt Incinerator Causes Explosion.

A back draft sweeping down a narrow passage after a barrel of refuse had been thrown into the garbage incinerator at the Vanderbilt Hotel yesterday morning seriously burned five employes, who were taken to Bellevue Hospital for treatment. Two other men were slightly burned about the face and hands.

All seven men were in the incinerating room when three of their number, in violation of orders that nothing but garbage should go into the incinerator, put in a barrel of floor sweepings. Almost instantly there was a burst of flame that knocked over the three men and filled the narrow passage.

Louis F. Loihle, 64 years old, of 406 Sandford Avenue, Newark, was sentenced to prison for not less than five nor more than nine years in Newark yesterday on a charge of receiving $80,000 worth of gold stolen from the Balbach Smelting and Refining Company of Newark. Lothle is the father of fourteen children.

For nearly thirty years Loihle has been in the public eye in Newark. Years ago he had a saloon called "The House of All Nations," where he sold five-cent whiskey and three-cent beer and gave free dinners. Hoboes from coast to coast knew the place. Later he bought hundreds of slot machines and ran them in saloons in Newark. He was reputed to have made a fortune before they were confiscated. For several years he conducted a business in gold, silver, and second-hand goods in a prominent Newark office building.

Clarence H. Sparrow, a foreman at the Balbach smelting plant, confessed that he stole the gold and that Loihle disposed of it. Loihle said Sparrow told him he was a manufacturing jeweler and needed money to meet his pay roll.

SAY PORT STRIKE IS ENDED.

Towboat Owners' Victory Claim Disputed by Union Leaders.

Frederick A. Russell, President of the New York Tow Boat Exchange, 11 Broadway, said yesterday that the tow boat owners consider the strike of firemen, cooks, deckhands and oilers, which began Monday, as a thing of the past. He said that there might be four companies whose boats are still tied up, but predicted that by today all would be operating at full capacity. The men, he said, are returning to work at the old scale of wages and under the same conditions.

On the other hand, union leaders at headquarters of the Harbor Boatmen's Union, 85 West Street, asserted that the men who are returning to work are doing so at an increase of $35 a month, with an eight-hour day instead of a ten-hour day as formerly. They said that twenty-seven tow boat companies had signed the new agreement. Men employed by other companies have not returned to work, they asserted.

WHOSE HAT WILL COVER A PRESIDENT?

—And accurate news upon political subjects is of the utmost importance in holding the interest and confidence of readers.

There will be the usual crop of "roorbacks," rumors, colored or false reports.

Special correspondents and press agents will "keep their finger upon the public pulse," will give grave counsel from swivel chairs—hundreds or thousands of miles distant from scenes of action.

But this is not the year for that sort of Political News.

For there have been few years when the "average citizen" has been so interested or so affected by the political situation.

The Press has a duty to perform.

Through unproved charge and unretracted countercharge the average citizen feels he has lost his perspective on "Public Men."

Just as many public men have come to feel that integrity is no defence,—that facts play but a small part in attacks made upon them.

There are sincere men in every party and this is no time to be anything but sincere Americans.

It required a World War to awaken us, as a whole, to the fact that without a sense of individual responsibility to the Community, State and Nation, there can be no representative government.

The people want facts; they deserve them—they have earned them.

The New York Evening Post is independent, neither for any party nor against any party. It is for the United States—and against anything subversive of its best interests.

The selection of a man to cover the Political Year—to swing twice around the circle from coast to coast, to attend Conventions and Presidential Primaries State by State is not an easy task.

But to select a man so sincere, so well qualified, so dependable that the New York Evening Post could say, "Go to it, you have no instructions save to be independent and to give the best there is in you"—that man must be a man indeed.

—And he is just such a man. His ability, his vision, his knowledge of human reactions and twenty years of Political study are coupled with unquestionable sincerity, plus 100 per cent. of rugged Americanism.

The management of the Post is glad to let the engagement of Mark Sullivan be taken as an indication of intention.

An indication of intention to hold and merit a foremost place in public confidence—"A Newspaper You Can Trust"

Edwin F. Gay.
President New York Evening Post, Inc

The first dispatch from Mr. Sullivan appears today—and two or three times a week thereafter.

COMMON-SENSE ECONOMY.

Among the economies urged by Senator McCumber of North Dakota, who says that the saw and axe, and not "a manicure set," should be used on appropriation bills, are the abolition of the Shipping Board and the discharge of 50,000 Government clerks. The Shipping Board cannot be scrapped offhand—it will be necessary first for Congress to agree upon, and put into effect, an American merchant marine policy; but the discharge of thousands of superfluous clerks who are supposed to be doing Government work is practicable and most desirable. After them should be sent public servants appointed for the war period only, a term that still includes individuals who are wearing navy uniforms and the army khaki, and who obviously are performing no necessary public service. Some of them are drawing more pay than they ever collected in their lives before. To say that they are earning what they now receive from the Government would in many cases be farcical. They should all go.

Senator McCumber declares that $300,000,000 could be saved in the Treasury Department, $700,000,000 in the War Department, $140,000,000 by eliminating expenditures for public works, and $75,000,000 by cutting out good roads appropriations. Wendell Phillips used to say that you had to shock people out of their complacency and self-interestedness by exaggerating conditions, but it would be difficult to overstate the case of extravagance by Congress, which only the politicians who have found places for their parasites defend. Money is being poured as through a sieve in every department. Now and then a spasmodic but not always sincere attempt is made to use the pruning knife; never, however, the axe and saw recommended by Mr. McCumber. Whether sums so large as he mentions could be saved in the Treasury and War Departments may be open to question, but the policy of Congress should be to scale down cost everywhere and to abolish not only every sinecure but every office, large or small, that is not necessary to the administration of the Government. To get members of Congress together behind the movement is difficult. Only bold and intelligent leadership will accomplish it.

Unfortunately, simulated rage at extravagance, which is the rage that usually stirs Congress, sometimes strikes at desirable and even necessary expenditures. The pay of officers of the army and navy should be moderately raised, as provided for in the Wadsworth bill, but it was easy to sacrifice those who could not protest. A wrong and an injury will be done the two services if Congress adjourns without relieving them. And as regards the military establishment generally, every dollar required to keep up the efficiency of the existing complement should be voted, but not a dollar more. The worst kind of economy is to neglect the army and navy.

Secretary Daniels asks for a deficiency appropriation of $10,314,962 to retain 14,000 skilled men in the navy yards who do repair work upon the warships. Admiral Coontz, Chief of Naval Operations, says that "the "number of ships now capable of op-"erating effectively in case of emer-"gency is dangerously small." The assurance was not needed from him. It is well known that ships are undermanned and that many ships are out of commission. Unless it is to be assumed that the navy can be dispensed with until the horizon clouds over again, Secretary Daniels and Admiral Coontz should be heeded. Let us have the utmost economy possible, but let it be the economy of common sense and foresight.

THE MILLERAND MINISTRY.

It is curious that a veteran politician like Mr. Millerand, who has been behind the scenes for years and held divers great Cabinet posts, should make such a singular blunder as the nomination of Mr. Steeg for Minister of Interior. As an old journalist, a writer on Mr. Clemenceau's paper, La Justice, Mr. Millerand must have a high respect for the ability, the courage, and the relentlessness of Deputy Leon Daudet, editor of L'Action Française. That paper has an intellectual power that has made it read by many persons who have had no sympathy with its Royalist opinions. In the hunting down of treason and sedition, Bolo and Malvy and the Bonnet-Rouge gang and Caillaux, nobody was more active than Mr. Daudet.

Mr. Steeg was Minister of Instruction in the Ribot Cabinet, whose Minister of Interior was the now vanished Malvy. He was subsequently Minister of Interior himself. Now, while it is true that a Minister of Interior has had such power at the elections as naturally to bring on himself many enmities, it cannot be supposed that when Mr. Daudet accuses Mr. Steeg of being an accomplice of Malvy, exiled for communicating with the enemy, and of former Premier Caillaux, soon to be tried on the accusation of promoting a dishonorable peace with Germany, and offers to prove his assertions, he has not competent and fatal facts. Irrespective of that, and granting the absolute patriotism and political integrity of Mr. Steeg, his nomination remains an unintelligible mistake.

Almost before the beginning of his administration, Mr. Millerand had to plead for a vote of confidence, and he didn't get it, save technically. More than 300 Deputies refused to vote. Their silent abstention probably speaks the doom of the Millerand Ministry. Even the forced withdrawal of Mr. Steeg may not prolong a Ministry mainly composed of obscurities, however rich in experts. The fickle gods of political fortune may rule otherwise, but the Millerand Ministry has no look of long life.

CARTS BEFORE HORSES.

Dr. Williams's dispatch from Novorossysk in yesterday's Times gives some reasons for the recent misfortunes of Denikin's army which have nothing to do with strategy or munitions, yet which might have been foreseen by any one familiar with the history of revolution in Russia and elsewhere. Denikin's political administration was conducted by means of an Advisory Council, rather numerous, representative of all wings of opinion, and possessing both legislative and executive functions. These gentlemen must have had the Russian liking for argument, and no doubt there were among them some inveterate amateurs of constitutions such as every revolution brings forth in considerable numbers. Says Dr. Williams:

> With the best intentions in the world the Ministers wasted valuable time in endless discussion of general political questions that might well have been postponed until after the re-establishment of a properly constituted central government. The result was that the elementary work of administration suffered, and the simplest questions became involved with subsidiary irrelevant considerations.

Efforts were made to reorganize the Government by an agreement between the council and the Cossack authorities, but "both sides lost their way in a "maze of pedantic details, as though "they were framing a constitution for "all time." Meanwhile administration of the occupied territory, which was in sad need of good government, was postponed to the discussion of fine points of political theory.

Now Denikin has abolished the council and substituted a government of Ministers with purely executive functions; legislation, one presumes, will be handed down from the General himself. It is an imitation to a considerable extent of Lenin's method, except that the Bolshevist Government appears to be oligarchic—or, rather, ochlocratic—than autocratic; and if it had come sooner it might have improved Denikin's chances materially.

Kolchak rose to power through a similar transaction. The original Omsk Government was a collection of politicians in which gentlemen with a taste for prolonged discussion and dialectical refinement seem to have been somewhat too numerous. It appointed a Directorate of Five without getting much better political results, and finally three of the five voted to turn over their power to Kolchak. The fruits of the revolution of 1905 were so soon and so thoroughly lost by too much talk and refusal to get down to business that one would think the Russian Liberals might have kept that in mind, as well as the example offered by the German revolution of 1848. But human nature appears to have been more or less the same in 1848, in 1905, and in 1919. In a time of domestic turbulence, when old authority has been overthrown and a politically inexperienced people is trying to find its way out of the wilderness, democracy has a habit of giving way to oligarchy and then to autocracy.

The constitution makers might have remembered that it is well first to catch your hare; their constitutions, it is to be feared, will remain of purely abstract interest. But the change from democracy to centralization did not help things much, in Siberia; Kolchak's Government was, on the whole, not much more successful than that which it supplanted. Students of historical precedent might have recalled another military leader who became chief of the State after a popular assembly and a directorate of five had failed, and might have hoped that the coincidence would be auspicious. Unhappily the time does not always produce a man; there have been several occasions in the last hundred years which called for a Napoleon, but Napoleons do not grow on bushes.

RESTORING THE PARTY CONVENTION.

The Republicans in the Legislature will make another effort next week to restore the State and Judiciary nominating conventions. A bill providing for the choice at the primaries of delegates to the State and Judiciary conventions was introduced last year in the Senate by Mr. Walton of Kingston and in the Assembly by Mr. Fearon of Syracuse. At its annual meeting in January of that year the Association of the Bar of the City of New York adopted a resolution in favor of the nomination of candidates for Judge of the Court of Appeals and Justice of the Supreme Court by conventions, instead of by direct primary elections. The Republican Club of this city approved the amendment of the election law to restore the nominating convention for elective State offices.

The Political Reform Committee of the Union League Club reported vigorously and in detail against the present nomination system. The Republican County Committees in New York, and most of them up-State, urged that direct primaries should be abolished; they cost the candidates and the taxpayers too much. Things have been made easier, instead of harder, for the boss by the abolition of the State Convention. Such a rising of independents and revolt against the boss as we saw in New York last Fall was possible under the old system as well as under the new.

In its mysterious wisdom the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee decided last March that the Walton-Fearon bill was "politically unwise at this time." The theory was that it wouldn't do to pass the bill and give the chance to Governor Smith to approve or veto it. He might acquire political capital by either action, according to his opinion of public sentiment. What high and noble ground to take! It will be remembered that Governor Smith, soon after his election, said he would approve a bill to restore the State Convention. Then he changed his mind. The Tammany Democrats were averse to the direct primary law, though it is a Democratic statute, until their surprising good fortune—if it was good fortune—at the municipal election of 1917 convinced them of its practical value to Tammany.

The question of having representative bodies to select candidates for office under representative government ought to be pondered and settled on no such mean and flimsy consideration. The present Walton-Fearon bill gives Governor Smith an invitation and an opportunity that he can hardly refuse. It proposes that the bill be submitted to the people at a special election in April. Surely, neither Republican nor Democratic politicians will dare to prefer their own devices to the will of the people, that will now heard so imperfectly or not heard at all because the necessary organ is lacking.

THRIVING TRADE AND DEPRESSED EXCHANGE.

Several European currencies were quoted this week at a new minimum. Also gold was quoted at a premium above all British records in modern times and conditions. Which of these two marvels is better worth attention by those wishing either to put their affairs in order or to judge them rightly? Our foreign friends cable us homilies on our responsibility for the premium on the dollar and enlarge on our responsibility for hoarding gold instead of spreading it throughout the world, among those who know how to use it so much better than we. In our observation of financial events we have never known a premium on gold to alarm those having gold. But experience has taught us that a discount on national currency is disturbing, and that its correction is a matter worthy of prime attention on the part of the countries concerned rather than of those other countries which do not use paper of that sort. Now, as often before under similar conditions, free-trade England points out to us how beneficent to England is that form of protection through a discount on its exchange which makes our goods too costly for Englishmen to buy and which enables us to buy their goods as cheaply as though there were a bounty on their export.

That is good theory, but on applying it to the facts there seems to be something wrong with it. For the latest full month reported our exports and imports were both world records. In our imports there has been no check at all. In our exports there was a small decline in 1918, which was recovered in 1919, with an added gain but once surpassed. On merchandise movement there was a credit balance due us, an excess of exports, of four billions. It is but natural that the payment for their purchases should worry our foreign customers more than the difficulty of selling our goods should worry us. So far as the disturbance of exchanges is concerned, thus far no check is discoverable. We are buying goods with goods and the buyers are paying with goods, so far as the merchandise movement shows. We do not seem to be buying with sterling bought in this market, and it may be doubted that the premium on dollars indicates that the British are buying with dollars. What is going on is barter in fact, if not in form. There is no discount on goods bartered, and the apparent debit of either party to the barter is not convincing. Whatever the explanation may be, the fact that trade is proceeding is established by the record.

We should like foreign trade to continue and would not wish to seem indifferent to anything that might impede either our sales or purchases. We like for that reason to believe that England is buying cheap in countries where exchanges are even more depressed than there, and is making a profit on resales to us. We remark that British re-exports are growing even more than British domestic exports and that both are large. It is agreeable to remark an industrial revival in France pressing hard on the heels of gallant Belgium's. We believe that such improvements will gain with our foreign trade, but we cannot deny that there are certain anxieties in the situation which seem to escape foreign attention, even though clearly indicated in the authoritative memorandum published in several countries a few days ago, but apparently without attracting the attention which it deserves. That memorandum plainly stated that there could be no confidence here in the affairs of any country which is spending more than it raises by taxation. England is in debt to Englishmen on current accounts more than it is to us. England is spending its capital with a courage and honesty worthy of all recognition and in a way is putting us in its debt thereby, for the debt is incurred for the civilization in which we have an undivided interest. What the discount on sterling seems to us to indicate is not a check to trade, but a doubt that sterling is as good as gold. The England with which we are sympathetic will pay if it survives its domestic troubles. There are heresies in England and also here. We are hardening our hearts against those benevolent persons who would bestow on us a new social order, without guarantee that we would like it if we got it. Present exchange disturbances are due partly to doubt of ability to pay, and partly to doubt of ability to check the forces of unrest which now are diminishing production in all lands, and which there is an apparent disposition in some political circles in England and elsewhere to compromise with rather than to remove. But we are somewhat reassured by the thought that England is a better judge of the time and manner of that combat there than we, who have troubles of our own, but which are in a better way toward settlement.

IRELAND AS A DOMINION.

No one has better authority to speak on the subject of Ireland than Sir Horace Plunkett. Born of a leading Irish family, all his traditions were Unionist. He was repeatedly elected to Parliament as a Unionist member. It was he, and he alone, who founded the Irish Agricultural Organization Society, upon the successful activities of which the prosperity of the southern counties is mainly based. He did this as a Unionist, in the expectation that prosperity would make Catholic Ireland loyal to the Union. But with long and intimate experience his mind slowly changed. By 1912 he was converted to Home Rule. Now he advocates making Ireland a dominion. In the current Irish Statesman, he makes a strong appeal for support of the program of the Irish Dominion League.

We have been long accustomed to the Home Rule agitation and to the propaganda of the Sinn Fein. Now we are beginning to hear for the first time "the opinions, hopes, aspira-"tions, and passions of the opposite—"the Ulster—extreme."

Professor Turner is urging the apparently just and logical view that "Ulster has the same right to sep-"arate herself from Ireland as Ire-"land has to break away from the "United Kingdom and the British "Empire." This right Sir Horace does not question, but an attempt to exercise it seems to him unwise and not ultimately beneficial. He wants Ireland to become a dominion, as Canada is a dominion, preserving its territorial integrity. That is the only program, as he sees it, which bids fair to allay the present disorder. He recognizes that Ulster would long remain a sore spot, but he says: "Canada is not without its Ulster"—a population not only of widely diverging character and religion, but also with a different language.

The proposal of the Irish Dominion League is admittedly a compromise, and is open to objections from many sides. The best to be said for it is that the objections are possibly fewer and more easily met than those urged against any other plan. The members of the League are "mostly busi-"ness men who have taken no active "part in politics." They advocate a dominion because that seems the one means of insuring "the military "safety of the group of islands of "which Ireland is a part." To do that, they are eager to allow the utmost limit of self-government which is consistent with the administrative integrity of the island.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Definitions Must First Be Agreed On.

It was perhaps inevitable that Sir Oliver Lodge should preface his lectures on the survival of life with an extended discussion of the ontological and epistemological background of his theories. It had to be done to provide a satisfactory approach to the subject; but since many if not most of those who go to hear him are not highly skilled in logic and metaphysics, some confusion may have been caused among those of his hearers who were not altogether familiar with his terminology.

Consider ether, for instance. It is "a substantial reality with extraordinarily perfect properties," the "most important thing in the material universe." Matter is but a modification of it; scientifically we cannot do without it. On the day of his arrival he spoke of it, if correctly reported, as pervading and uniting all matter, persisting when the material manifestation passes away. All this must have been somewhat surprising to the philosophically profane who knew the ether only as the polite fiction which is assumed to transmit the starlight because we do not know how else it is transmitted. But the idea is not new.

An Unlooked-For Result of Prohibition.

British enthusiasm over the sporting temperament of "Pussyfoot" Johnson was recognized at the time as being purely personal, and implying no great increase in friendliness toward his cause. And if anything were needed to stiffen the British neck against prohibition it is the news that the abolition of liquor in America may bring about a tea famine in the British Isles. It will surprise a good many Americans to find that we are drinking more tea since prohibition; and indeed it does not seem to be an established fact, but only a British inference, characteristic of a nation where tea is universally and properly honored, and pretty generally well prepared, but where good coffee is all but unknown. Americans may be drinking a little more tea, probably a great deal more coffee, than before prohibition; they are almost certainly eating more candy and consuming more of the products of the soda fountain; and, human nature being strange and inexplicable, it is even possible that we are drinking some of the strangely named "temperance beverages" which restaurants and cafés offer in the pathetic hope that familiar names will deceive the veteran drinker.

So, if we are not likely to menace Britain's tea supply, we have already absorbed so much more sugar than the ration in England has been cut down. But sugar is not a necessary of British life by comparison with tea. What the average Briton would do if compelled to choose between his tea and his toddy only his Creator knows; but the fact that prohibition in America threatens to reduce the tea supply in England will do no good to the world dry crusade in that particular field. A man must drink something.

Complaint of Public Library Abuse.

A library worker writes to The Times to protest against the overcrowding of the Public Library on Forty-second Street by high school and other students on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. The trouble is that most of these young people do not come to read and study and to respect the rights of others who use the library intelligently. The youngsters fairly romp into the building and overrun every part of it as well as the reading room, and "they gather in overwhelming crowds in halls, corridors, and dressing rooms, where they defy the attempts of the attendants to keep order." Aside from the encroachments upon the seemly studiousness of the elder people, in fact the utter disregard of it, the behavior of the invaders is a strain upon the nerves of the library workers, who are none too well paid. Everybody who visits the Public Library to make proper use of it knows that the complaint is only too well founded.

Libraries Are for Workers, Not Idlers.

It is time something were done about the abuse of a privilege which cannot rightly be claimed by any one who goes to the library for social diversion. It would, of course, be regrettable if a single well-behaving visitor were excluded in an attempt to keep out unwelcome loungers and conversers. But the authorities certainly have the power to prevent overcrowding by limiting attendance and to clear the corridors of idlers. Once let it be understood that such invasions as are complained of will not be tolerated, and the practice of using the Public Library as a meeting place for chatter and amusement will cease.

Alderman Quinn's Stand.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I wish to express through your paper my thanks, as an American citizen, to Alderman William F. Quinn, and my admiration for the fearless stand he took in expressing his sentiments on de Valera and his followers in this country. That they are openly defying our laws in using our armories for political purposes and hissing the name of the President of these United States is apparent. Is it not time for our 100 per cent. Americans to come forward and protest?

TESTS ON THE TREATY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The overwhelming vote of the Faculties and students of more than 400 American colleges and universities in favor of the ratification of the covenant without reservations, or only with such reservations as will honorably compromise the differences between the factions favoring some kind of a League in the Senate, has been confirmed by every other test so far taken in the country. In fact, I believe there is not a single national organization or a straw vote of any comprehensiveness that sustains either Lodge's drastic reservations or Borah's program of death.

The result of a postal-card poll of returned soldiers and sailors from Southern Massachusetts, made by Frank L. Andrews of Fall River, showed that 554 voted for the League unamended, 5 for reservations, and 12 were opposed.

The American Federation of Labor at its annual meeting in July voted 29,000 in favor of the covenant and 400 against it. At a meeting of the national and State officers at Washington on Dec. 13, 1919, the vote was 240 to 3 in favor of ratification, two of the three dissenters being unredeemed Irishmen.

The Church Peace Union took a nation-wide poll of the ministers of the country, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish. The vote was 17,309 in favor and 816 against—most of those in opposition being Irish Catholics.

Fourteen daily newspapers from ten States have just taken a very significant poll of their readers. The total vote was 48 per cent. for no reservations, 35 per cent. for a compromise, 10 per cent. for the Lodge reservations, and 7 per cent. for no League. Most of the papers were in Republican Congressional districts. The poll of The Portland Oregonian, which is not included in the above percentages, was 11,096 for unamended ratification, 665 for compromise, 112 for the Lodge reservations and 228 for no treaty.

I have addressed thirty meetings in ten States in the last three months on the League of Nations. Before I presented my case I called for a show of hands from the audience. With one exception (on the New York east side), every assemblage voted about the same, not only those who had come knowing they were to hear an address in favor of the League, but those ready-made audiences, such as the City Club of Cleveland, the Teachers Association of Minnesota and the Southern Commercial Congress, which came for the occasion, and not for the speaker. I found that about 60 per cent. were in favor of the treaty as presented by the President, 30 per cent. were for mild reservations and the remaining 10 per cent. were scattered between the drastic reservationists and bitter enders.

From the above expressions of American sentiment it is quite clear that the present alignment of the country on the League of Nations differs radically from that of the Senate. In other words, the Senate does not represent the American people on the issue.

The Prohibition Amendment.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your paper of Jan. 18 is a communication from Mr. Fisher, in which he says we had quoted decisions relating to the withdrawal of ratification which were not in point, and indicates that this was "through haste or mere inadvertence."

"The principle involved in the case is similar to those cases where the right to vote and authorize the issuance of bonds is provided by a State, and where there is nothing in the act limiting the number of times the vote may be taken."

Both of the cases in question are in point on the conclusion which we set forth. We cited the instances where States had attempted to withdraw ratification and the action of Congress upon it. We believe that the decision of Congress is correct. It is in harmony with good reason and a long established precedent. After thirty-six States have ratified an amendment, even in the face of the statement of Judge Story, there would be no justification for a withdrawal of the action of the General Assembly in ratifying the amendment. If a State can withdraw its action at any time, every amendment in the Constitution would be constantly subjected to repeal by the action of a few States, enough only to bring the number one below three-fourths. Such an absurd and unsettled procedure was never contemplated, and is not within the purview of the Constitution.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

My attention has been called to a telegram published in today's New York Times, in which you mention the Duke of Alba as leader of the Liberal Leftists. For the sake of accuracy I wish to inform you that the leader of the Liberal Leftists is Santiago Alba, a member of the Spanish Parliament, who was born in Valladolid, Spain, in 1874, and who has absolutely no connection at all with the Duke of Alba, whose name is Jacob Stewart Fitz-James, tenth Duke of Berwick, seventeenth Duke of Alba, Liria and Xerica, born in Madrid in 1878. He is a man of great wealth but has never figured prominently in politics. I have noticed on several occasions that these two names have been confused in the American press, and I am therefore taking the liberty of calling this to your attention.

Payments in Stolen Gold.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The objection that Russia will be paying the Allies with Rumanian gold is too technically superficial to be worthy of consideration. The question is merely one of Russia's obligation to Rumania for a certain value, not for the particular counters representing that value. It is a matter in equity, which the League of Nations may readily pass upon later, when more stable conditions give assurance of a righteous adjustment.

THE SNOW CURE.

I take my cares, and away we go
Breaking a path through the drifts, as white
As fairy feathers, soft and light.
"The ancient crone in the sky," we say,
"Is busy plucking her geese today!"

Under a glistening pyramid;
Tall trees with icy pendants shine
Like childhood's dream of a diamond mine;
Each tiny bush, so stark and bare,
Is made an ermine stole to wear!

Bewitched, I wander on and on,
O'er roads where no one else has gone;
And the snowflakes quickly fill the place
Where my feet have passed, to leave no trace.
It bids me fling all my griefs away!

As 'neath their mantles, pure and chill,
The frozen fields lie still—so still,
Always a walk in the falling snow
Comforts my heart—'twas ever so.
And coming home again, I find

ART NOTES.

W. A. Clark's Paintings on View at Lotos Club—Rembrandt Etchings.

The pictures belonging to William A. Clark, which have been placed on exhibition at the Lotos Club, are of the greatest interest to students and lovers of art. They have not before been shown to the New York public, and they represent the work of three artists, Corot, Monticelli and Cazin, with an astonishing approach to completeness. In [illegible] introduction to the catalogue Seymour de Ricci says of the group of Corots: "Outside the Louvre, the greatest collection of Corot's works is undoubtedly the stately array of twenty-two masterpieces exhibited today by the Lotos Club. It shows the painter-poet at his best and highest, throughout his career, from the early Italian views to the vaporous visions of Ville d'Avray, not to omit the scarce and magnificent figure pieces."

Beautiful as the landscapes are and including as they do examples of noble distinction, it is to the figure subjects that one turns to see the painter at his greatest. Here is "La Bacchante au Tambourin," a nude figure lying on a leopard skin, her tambourine just dropped from an exquisitely modeled hand, in the distance a Bacchus plunging forward with his wine cup held out before him. The plasticity of the young Bacchante's form is gained with a brush that learned its skill in painting the lightest clouds, the most vaporous foliage, in the history of landscape art. There is not anywhere a trace of tightness or hardness or niggling. There is nowhere an assertive precision. Yet how perfectly the quietly flowing contour tells the story of the living structure. It is not often that one has an opportunity to see so great a picture.

The other figure subject is the "Jeune Fille à la Mandoline," dated 1870, when the artist was in his eighth decade and as much as ever master of his powers. The rich color, the energetic brushwork and the simplicity and naturalness of the whole effect are eloquent of the mental force and freshness that we usually associate with the prime of life.

To follow the pictures chronologically from such things as the hot, bright view of the Coliseum through the "silvery" period to the richer late works is to realize how little we know a painter by one or two or three examples.

In the group of Monticellis and the still larger group of Cazins the same lively variety and interest obtain. We have the smooth and gracious Monticelli in the "George Sand Reading to Actresses of the Théâtre Français in the Bois de Vincennes" and the painter who uses molten gems for pigment and obliterates outline in his "Enfants au Bois" and his monumental interpretation of Don Quixote at the marriage of Gavache. A portrait of Corot and his models, the artist in his smock painting out of doors, has more than merely subject interest. Among the Cazins perhaps the palm should go to the "Moulin à Vent et Arc-en-Ciel," a gallant performance, fluent and blond and gay.

Rembrandt, Duerer and Zorn.

At the American Art Galleries the prints and porcelains collected by the late S. S. Rosenstamm were placed on view yesterday prior to their sale Tuesday, Jan. 27. The Rembrandt etchings, few in number, include some of the highest quality. It would be difficult to find a more beautiful landscape in the whole range of etching than "The Goldweigher's Field," with its supreme simplicity and breadth, and this is a very fine impression. There are also an excellent impression of the "Landscape with Milkman," a fine "Clement de Jonghe" and a remarkable impression of the "Old Man with a Rich Velvet Cap."

The Duerers form a strong section of the exhibition. The great "Melancholia" is not the most favorably represented, the "Knight, Death and the Devil" is a fine impression, but "The Rape of Amymone" surpasses most of the prints in the delicate clearness of the lovely detail and the fresh tone of the whole impression.

The Zorns are an imposing feature of the exhibition. Two stand out from the rest by reason of their profound characterization united to the swift and dashing method of this most daring master of the point—the mighty portrait of Renan, one of the masterpieces of all time, and the less impressive but jocund and magnificent plate, "The Toast," in which the artist expresses to the full his temperament, his talent and his subject.

OLD DINNER SERVICE, $5,500

Lowestoft, Said to Have Come from Family of Byron, in Sutton Sale.

There was another large crowd, in which were many prominent people, at the Mrs. Eben Sutton sale at the American Art Galleries yesterday afternoon, and the fine old Lowestoft brought prices up in the thousands. These sets are of almost unbelievable perfection and completeness, and the most important one, a dinner service of the eighteenth century, said to have come originally from the family of Lord Byron, brought $5,500, going to Otto Bernet, agent.

The set consists of 5 platters, 2 vegetable dishes, 2 sauceboats and stands, salad bowl, soup tureen, 7 soup plates and 52 dinner plates; of these 3 plates were repaired and several chipped. The decoration consisted of interlaced circles of gold leaves and tendrils in sepia and gold, with red berries and decorated oval medallions inclosing the script monogram, with the letters P. M. J. B. in gold. The service belonged to the father of Mrs. Sutton, William Boyd McAfee of Baltimore, and was presented to her twenty-eight years ago.

Another Lowestoft dinner service, purchased of Miss Burnap of Baltimore, to whose mother it had belonged, with bands of dark blue, over 100 pieces, brought $4,700, going to Seaman, agent, to whom went for $3,100 the remarkable set of Lowestoft mantel garniture, consisting of five pieces, two cylindrical beakers and three covered vases. A portion of a Lowestoft dinner service, twenty-one pieces, went to F. Flagg for $320.

A Lowestoft tea service of thirty-five pieces, counting cups and saucers separately, with tea and milk jug stands, went to C. A. de Gersdorff for $500. A pair of beautiful old Davenport pottery fruit baskets and stands in dark blue went to L. J. O'Reilly for $180, and to the same buyer went an Anglo-American Staffordshire pottery tea service, teapot, sugar bowl, creamer, six cups and six saucers, for $590, the design, Mount Vernon, showing General Washington on a prancing horse.

A Staffordshire pink-lustre porcelain tea service, teapot, sugar bowl, creamer and twelve cups and saucers, went to Seaman for $340. Returns for the day were $23,329, making a total to date of $39,854.

Among those present were Mrs. C. B. Alexander, Cortlandt Field Bishop, Joseph Laroque, Mrs. P. H. B. Frelinghuysen, Mrs. John Pratt, Mrs. Horace Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sabin and Mrs. Henry Topping. The sale will be concluded this afternoon, when early English and American furniture will be sold, wtih other smaller pieces.

EXPECTS AID FOR ARMENIA.

James W. Gerard Tells Why Carnegie Hall Meeting Was Canceled.

James W. Gerard, Chairman of the American Committee for the Independence of Armenia, said last night that the mass meeting scheduled to be held under the auspices of that committee in Carnegie Hall last night had been canceled because the members expect some action very soon by the Government.

"We did not want to embarrass the officials holding the meeting," he said. "If we do not get some action very soon we will hold a meeting, and it will be an emphatic one. However, I have just heard that the Allies have recognized Armenia, and that is of course what the committee was after."

PUT FLYING REPTILE ON VIEW IN MUSEUM

OF SPECIES LONG EXTINCT

The American Museum of Natural History has just placed on exhibition a skeleton of the great toothless flying reptile, pteranodon, an extinct creature, of the class known as pterodactyls, which flourished in the age of reptiles many millions of years ago. The skeleton is incomplete, but the missings parts, with which science is familiar through other fragments discovered, have been painted in realistic colors on the background against which the specimen is mounted. The remains were found by Handel T. Martin, curator of the Geological Museum of Kansas University, a collector of fossils. It is believed to be the only mounted specimen of pteranodon in any American museum. The British Museum also has a mounted skeleton of a specimen found by Mr. Martin several years ago.

Dr. W. D. Matthew, curator of the museum's department of vertebrate paleontology, in a statement yesterday gave some interesting information concerning the pterodactyls.

"There is much doubt," he said, "as to whether the pterodactyl weighed as much as does a big modern condor, but from the standpoint of dimensions it ranks as the largest flying creature that has ever lived. The skeleton just mounted measures 16 feet from wing-tip to wing-tip, and would have a stretch of nearly 21 feet if the wings were pulled out straight. A large condor, on the other hand, might stretch 13 feet from tip to tip of the wings provided they were pulled out straight.

"The wings were long and narrow, and composed of thin, leathery membrane like the wings of bats, but they were stretched on the long extended fourth finger only, the other fingers being little rudimentary claws, by which the animal probably hung when at rest. The wings were evidently adapted to soaring flight like that of the albatross. In fact, the creature was so extremely specialized along this line that it must have been singularly awkward and ungainly on the ground. Yet it must have come to land at times for egg laying purposes. How it obtained its food is something of a problem. It was evidently a wide-ranging ocean flyer, for the skeletons are found in chalk and other marine formations deposited in the open sea often far from land.

"The specimen just placed on exhibition, together with other fine specimens, was obtained from the cretaceous chalk beds of the Smoky Hill River of Western Kansas. In the life of the pteranodon, this was part of a great inland sea that stretched from the Gulf of Mexico far across the Canadian border.

"Over this vast interior sea, deep and clear and abounding in marine life, the pterodactyl must have ranged, resorting to the far-off shores as a base. It is possible that it was in some way equipped for diving and for rising easily from the surface of the ocean, but it is difficult to see how the mechanics of its construction would allow it to do so readily, and it may have simply patrolled the air, snapping up such animals as might rise to the surface or leap above it, into reach, without actually coming down upon the water. Such guesses as these are the best we can give until the mechanics of the creature's flight have been more thoroughly worked out.

"A careful investigation of the problem in the light of modern aeronautical knowledge would yield very interesting results, and, in turn, it seems altogether probable that such a research would throw some light on the more practical problems of aeronautics, for the pterodactyl, in so far as we can judge, approached much nearer to the airplane in structure and principles of flight than any of the birds."

ADVOCATES LATIN TIES.

Solari Says Italy Can Thus Retrieve Peace Conference Setback.

ROME, Jan. 22.—Italy may overcome the handicap placed upon her by the wreck of her colonial aspirations in the Peace Conference by co-operating with Latin countries, says Marquis Solari in an article published in the Messaggero.

"We must frankly recognize that the Italian colonial program has entirely failed as a result of the Peace Conference," he declares. "This is an injustice which Italy may correct with a broad program of economic expansion abroad in close union with the Latin countries of Spain, Portugal, Rumania, and the nations of Central and South America. We trust in the enlightened assistance of our Latin brothers for the development of civilization and the progress and welfare of the Latin peoples.

"There are two great riches in the world—land and labor. Italy abounds in the latter, and if it is well directed by Italian capital instead of capital from foreign countries it may heal the wounds of war."

PLANE SAVES COTTON DEAL.

Two-Hour Trip from Lima Releases Shipment and Averts Loss.

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 22.—The first commercial airplane flight in Peru was undertaken today when a biplane piloted by an American aviator, Walter Pack, left Lima for Pisco, 130 miles south along the coast, carrying a passenger, who represented C. A. Fisk, agent for American cotton buyers.

A cotton shipment had been tied up at Pisco by difficulties requiring immediate settlement or heavy loss to the buyers. The trip takes twenty-four hours by coastwise steamers, which sail every ten days, but the airplane made the flight in two hours.

Central Americans to Commemorate Centenary of Independence.

SAN SALVADOR, Republic of Salvador, Jan. 23.—The first steps looking to the celebration of the first centenary of the independence of Central America, which separated from Spain in 1821, have been taken by President Barquero of Costa Rica.

President Barquero, in proposing to the other Central American States a notable commemoration of the centenary, says his only regret is that Costa Rica will not be found constituting a single political entity.

FLEISCHMANN WEDS AFTER HIS DIVORCE

After a Lutheran clergyman had declined to perform the ceremony because oth the parties had been divorced, ulius Fleischmann, former Mayor of Cincinnati, was married at 6:30 last vening to Mrs. Laura G. Hemingway y another Lutheran minister who was btained during the afternoon. The wedding, which was informal, took place at he home of the bride, 176 West Seventyecond Street, with only the immediate amilies of the couple present.

It had been announced the day before hat the ceremony would be performed y the Rev. H. C. Wasmund, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, South Fifth nd Rodney Streets, Brooklyn. Yesterday at noon the minister issued a statement that he would not take part. An effort was made to interview Mr. Wasmund at his home, at 306 Rodney Street, but his secretary said that because of illness he was not receiving visitors.

It was learned that the minister some days ago had been asked over the telephone by members of the Fleischmann family if it would be agreeable to him to perform the ceremony. He agreed to act, but changed his mind after learning that only this week Mrs. Lilly Ackerman-Fleischmann had obtained a divorce in Cincinnati from the bridegroom and that Mrs. Hemingway was also a divorcee.

Whether Mr. Fleischmann had been unsuccessful in attempts to persuade other clergymen to act could not be ascertained, but late yesterday afternoon it became known that the Rev. Paul F. Jubelt, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Bedford Avenue, near Church Avenue, Brooklyn, had promised to join the couple. Mr. Jubelt is quoted as saying he had acquiesced over the telephone, and was told an automobile was being sent to bring him to Manhattan.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Edward Leach, her mother and the bridegroom by R. H. Fleischmann, his cousin. Edward Leach, father of Mrs. Fleischmann, Louis Marshall Hemingway and John Hyland Hemingway, eight and five years old, respectively, her two children, and William Fleischmann, a cousin of Mr. Fleischmann, were the only others present. After a day or two in New York, the couple will go to Miami, Fla., to spend their honeymoon on a houseboat.

Mrs. Fleischmann, who is twenty-six years old, obtained a divorce from her first husband, Lewis Hemingway, last year. Mr. Fleischmann did not contest the suit brought against him on the grounds of neglect and cruelty.

Mrs. Ackerman-Fleischmann received an allowance of $25,000 a year alimony and a summer home in Connecticut. It was reported that Mr. Fleischmann made a settlement in her favor of $2,000,000, but no mention of this was announced in court. He had three children by her first marriage.

Mr. Fleischmann, who is forty-seven years old, inherited the yeast industry founded by his father, the late Charles Fleischmann. When he was only twenty-eight he was elected Mayor of Cincinnati on a Republican ticket. At one time hes was one of the principal owners of the Cincinnati Baseball Club. Mr. Fleischmann is a member of the New York Yacht, Atlantic Yacht, the Lotos and Lambs Clubs.

TURKS NOW ASSERT THEY FAVORED ALLIES

Secret Parliamentary Inquiry Hears That Enver Forced Them to Join the Germans.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 20. — Turkey became involved in the great war through the machinations of the war party led by Enver Pasha, War Minister in 1914, according to statements before a secret parliamentary committee which are published in newspapers here. The arrival of the German cruiser Goeben in August, 1914, was the dominating cause of Turkey becoming an ally of the Central Powers.

When the war broke out, the newspapers say, the majority of the Turkish Cabinet was friendly to the Entente. The war party, however, began attempts to persuade a sufficient number of Ministers that Turkey should acquire the Goeben to take the place of Turkish ships which had been requisitioned by England. Objection was made that the Goeben, which had arrived here after fleeing from allied warships in the Mediterranean, would attack Russian vessels while under Turkish colors, but Enver Pasha declared the commander of the cruiser had pledged himself not to make any such attack. In reply to this assurance Djavid Bey, then Finance Minister, remarked that the Admiral would be "more likely to stand by his word than the German War Lord."

Decision was reached by the Cabinet to oppose Germany in the war, and it was agreed that when Turkey took her stand on the side of the Entente the Goeben and her sister ship, the Breslau, would be bombarded by the Bosphorus forts. Enver Pasha, however, made secret arrangements with the Germans and the Goeben joined the Black Sea fleet, even the Grand Vizier being kept in ignorance of this move.

On Aug. 29, 1914, the Goeben came in contact with a Russian fleet, and, while flying the Turkish flag, attacked and destroyed two Russian ships. This act brought about Turkey's alignment against the Entente, and several members of the Cabinet resigned. The facts were misrepresented by the censors, and the Turkish public, even the Sultan, believed for several years that the Russians attacked the Turks.

TO CHOOSE WAR MEMORIALS

Canadian Civilians Will Conduct Competition for Monuments Abroad.

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—The Government will soon appoint a commission of civilians to suggest the form of war memorials to be placed on battlefields recently acquired from the French and Belgian Governments, it was learned today. There are eight sites, on each of which Canadian troops engaged in memorable battles.

Parliament, at its 1919 session, made an initial appropriation of $500,000 for memorials. The commission, it is said, will conduct a competition to decide the designs to be used.

Cochran Sues for 'Better 'Ole' Rights

Charles B. Cochran, London theatrical promoter, who has been in this country trying to arrange a Dempsey-Carpentier meeting, filed suit in the Supreme Court yesterday against Charles D. Coburn for a balance of $16,009 alleged to be due under a contract by which Cochran gave Coburn the American rights to "The Better 'Ole." Cochran says he was to have 10 per cent. of the gross and believes that $30,000 became due, of which only $13,900 was paid.

URGE THAT PRESIDENT TAKE TRIP FOR HEALTH

Many Invitations Have Been Sent to Him, but No Decision on Matter Has Been Made.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Reports of improvement in President Wilson's condition have encouraged a number of persons to extend invitations to him to visit certain parts of the country or to take yachting trips. None of these invitations has been accepted. It was said tonight by some of those in a position to know the situation that no plans for taking the President away from Washington had been made and that none would be made for a while.

It would not be surprising, however, if arrangements were perfected within the next month or so to take the President out of Washington for a period of convalescence. Whether he would leave here on a private yacht or on the Government yacht Mayflower is something that has not been determined. It seems to be assured that the President will remain at the White House for a month at least.

While no statement as to whether his condition will permit his removal from Washington is obtainable it is evident from what is reported that it would be regarded as an unwise course to take him out of the White House until there is a marked moderation in the weather.

DROP IN FOREIGN TRADE SHOWN FOR DECEMBER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—December exports amounted to $681,000,000, a falling off of $60,000,000 from the $741,000,000 recorded for November, according to figures made public today by the Department of Commerce. Imports also fell off for December, the total being $381,000,000, as compared with $425,000,000 for November. Both exports and imports were higher than in December a year ago.

The excess of exports over imports in 1919 amounted to $4,017,000,000, a new record. Exports for 1919 totaled $7,022,000,000, as compared with $6,149,000,000 in 1918, while imports were valued at $3,904,000,000, as against $3,031,000,000.

Imports of gold in 1919 amounted to $77,000,000, compared with $62,000,000 in 1918, and $552,000,000 in 1917. Exports of gold in 1919 jumped to $368,000,000 from $41,000,000 in 1918. In 1917 they amounted to $372,000,000.

No marked change is noted in the imports or exports of silver, receipts having amounted to $89,000,000 and shipments to $[illegible],000,000 in 1919.

BERLIN, Jan. 23 (Via Copenhagen).—Germany is threatened with a general strike of university students against the increased rate of college fees, amounting to 60 per cent.. The students of Halle University have already struck They presented a petition to Minister of Education Haenisch asking that the college fees be reduced to the old rate. Haenisch replied that this was impossible considering Germany's financial condition, thereupon the Halle students returned to the lecture rooms.

Yesterday the students of Königsberg and Münster also downed their books and are boycotting the lectures. Berlin and Göttingen students are still hesitating but it is stated that they will henceforth refrain from any service in Noske's army and refuse any emergency service in he water, gas or electric works unless the fees are reduced to the old rate.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 23.—Ed Healey, janitor of the Monroe Street Public School, Ridgewood, has inherited $80,000 from the estate of an uncle, John Healey, who died at Grand Court, N. Y., about a year ago. Since that time the case has been in litigation and has only just been settled. Healey and his wife live in a little home at 20 Liberty Street, Ridgewood.

Mrs. Healey said tonight that she expected that her husband would keep right on working as janitor.

"Why, he's so used to working every day he just wouldn't know what to do with himself if he didn't keep it up," said Mrs. Healey. About the only definite plans the Healeys have is to build themselves a new home. "Nothing fancy or elaborate," said Mrs. Healey. "Just a plain comfortable home is good enough for Mr. Healey and me."

DUCHESS MARRIED TO ARMY AVIATOR

ROMANCE OF WAR HOSPITAL

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A society romance is revealed by the marriage of the Duchess of Westminster to Captain James Fitzpatrick Lewis, late of the Royal Air Force. The wedding took place at the Registry Office at Lyndhurst, where the Duchess has a country residence, on Jan. 14, a maid being the only witness.

Only a limited circle of intimate friends knew the marriage was to take place, and the actual ceremony was as secret as could be arranged. It was the Duchess's wish that no announcement should be made until after she and her husband left for the Continent, where they are visiting her mother, Mrs. Cornwallis-West.

It was early in the war that Lewis first met the Duchess. He was then in the Royal Flying Corps, stationed near Le Touquet, close to the hospital established by the Duchess. Early acquaintance ripened into deep friendship, and when the Captain was demobilized he became private secretary and agent of the Duchess. News of their marriage will be no surprise to their intimate friends. Lewis is about 30 years of age, a keen sportsman, and before the war was in business in London.

The Duchess obtained a divorce from the Duke last June, the decree being made absolute Dec. 19 last. An extraordinary story of domestic unhappiness was revealed at the hearing of the case. The Duchess said it was in 1909 that her relations with the Duke first became unhappy. In the three years which followed she continued to occupy the same house, but they lived almost entirely separate lives. Then the Duke ceased to live with the Duchess and in spite of her repeated requests to him to return "for the children's sake if not for your own and mine."

He refused to come back and the Duchess finally instituted proceedings for divorce. Three children were born to the Duke and the Duchess. The son and heir died at the age of 5, in 1909, King Edward being godfather. Two daughters are Lady Ursula Grosvenor and Lady Mary Grosvenor.

LONDON SUBWAYS ASK GOVERNMENT CONTROL

'Traffic Combine,' Including Omnibuses, Faces Heavy Loss and Want to be Taken Over.

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 24.—The "traffic combine," comprising all the local and metropolitan railroads, including the subways and motor omnibuses, has asked the Ministry of transport to take over thesetraffic systems and administer them along the same lines as those under which the Government is now controlling the main railroads of the country.

According to The Mail, the Ministry is willing to take over the railroads, but not the amnibuses, and is preparing to adopt measures for the control of the former.

The application to the Transport Ministry is said to be in consequence of the prospect of a large loss for the year. This prospect led to the recent proposal to ask Parliament to sanction legislation enabling the "combine" to double the statutory maximum fares. This resulted in a great popular outcry. The "combine" submitted to the ministry details of revenue and expenditures, and estimated the loss for the coming year at £2,600,000. The advisory committee of the ministry after examining the figures came to the conclusion that of this loss £1,600,000 was sustained through running the omnibuses.

PROFESSOR GARNER, EXPLORER, DIES AT 72

LIVED IN A STEEL CAGE

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 23.—Richard L. Garner, African explorer and author, who some years ago announced that he had found several sounds approximating a monkey language, died at a hospital here last night. Mr. Garner was taken ill suddenly at a hotel several days ago, and his identity was not known until after his death.

All but two of the last twenty-seven years of Professor Garner's life were spent in the jungles of Africa. The French Congo was his favorite ground for exploration and animal study, for in that region, swampy and infested with fevers, the ape is found in large numbers.

Ever since he was a young man he had longed to visit the dark jungles of the Black Continent. He first satisfied his wish in 1892 and continued his travels until past his seventy-first year, for he was born in 1848 at Abingdon, Va.

Young Garner ran away from home when sixteen and joined the Confederate army, later being held in three Northern prisons. After the war he completed his education and founded the high school at Williamsburg, Ky.

Professor Garner always objected to the indiscriminate use of the term "monkeys" in describing his discoveries. All his claims to conversation among animals relate to apes, which are superior to monkeys. The highest of the four grades of apes is the chimpanzee, and this animal he pronounces the most intelligent in the animal kingdom.

"What is called 'the missing link,' the Professor once wrote, "incidentally an erroneous conception, may never be located. I do not know. I do know from my quarter of a century's study of apes that they have a sense of government, a sense of propriety, dignity, family life, justice, and that they talk. They do not merely utter sounds like monkeys. Apes speak words. They have a language of some twenty words."

Here are three words he gave from the ape vocabulary, each one having the meaning of a human's sentence:

"Our'h"—"Hello, there; where are you?"

"Cu-nh"—"Here I am, under these palms."

"Qhui"—"Well, wait there a moment; I want to get with you."

In order to safely and familiarly observe the apes he lived deep in the jungle in a steel mesh cage about the size of a hall bedroom. In this way he obtained phonograph records of ape conversations. These records he later carried to another part of Africa, many miles away, and turned them on a different lot of apes. The members of the second group at once cocked their ears and responded with sounds like those on the records.

The last expedition made by Professor Garner was the one he directed for the Smithsonian Institution. He left here in 1916 and he returned last June.

GIANTS TO RECEIVE SALARY INCREASES

President Charles A. Stoneham of the Giants returned from Cuba yesterday and announced that all the players would receive increases in salary for the coming season. While most of the other clubs in the major leagues are getting prepared to battle with hold-outs, the Giants have taken a new course in baseball and are offering the players more money before they make new demands. The Giants have only three players signed for next season—Pitchers Art Nehf and Fred Toney and Catcher Mike Gonzales.

The hold-out proposition in the major leagues this year is more alarming than ever before, and players in every league in the country are demanding more money. This is because the game had such a popular season last year, and also because the coming season looks like the most prosperous in the history of the game.

It is expected that next week Secretary Joe O'Brien of the New York Club will begin signing up the players under the advanced salaries. It will come as a big surprise to many of them, because in the past ball players have had to battle with the club owners for weeks before making satisfactory settlements on the salary question.

"We plan to give all the members of the club substantial increases in salaries," said President Stoneham, "and will begin at once to make arrangements for getting the players in line for next season. Those players who are now under contract will not be forgotten. We will confer with them also, and any differences will be quickly and satisfactorily settled."

President Stoneham did not care to make any predictions about next season but he did say that he expected Manager McGraw would have the team up among the leaders at the end of the season. Manager McGraw is still in Cuba and will remain there until it is time to report at the Spring training camp at San Antonio on March 1. President Stoneham intends to return to Cuba next week but will return for the joint meeting of the National and American Leagues in Chicago on Feb. 11.

Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees will start out next week to round up his ball players, as many of them are hold-outs and have not signed the contracts which were sent out last month. The Yankees have the following players signed on contracts which hold over from last season: Peckinpaugh, Pipp, Pratt, Mays, Shore, Ruth, Ruel, Quinn and Hoffman. The most serious of the hold-outs is Duffy Lewis, the outfielder. It is expected that Huggins will visit Frank Baker in the near future and find out whether he is going to play again or retire, as he had often threatened to do.

Of the other players who are holding out, it was said at the Yankee offices yesterday that the differences with the players were not serious and could easily be adjusted. The Yanks are not worrying about the hold-outs and President Ruppert predicts that all the players will be in line when the club starts for Jacksonville.

The appeal of Ban Johnson, President of the American League, and of the St. Louis and Cleveland baseball clubs from the injunction of Supreme Court Justice Robert F. Wagner, which restrains them from interfering with Pitcher Carl Mays, was heard in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday. After the attorneys for each side had argued for fifteen minutes and briefs were submitted, decision was reserved.

Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, for the New York club, reviewed the case and Attorney Marvin W. Wynne represented President Johnson. Johnson's counsel during his argument made light of the claim of the New York club that Mays had been hit by a ball and was suffering from private worries when he left the Boston club last July.

President John A. Heydler of the National League returned from Chicago yesterday. He had been in that city for the last few days after returning from a hunting trip to Louisiana with President Ban Johnson of the American League. The two league Presidents disappeared in the wilds of the canebrakes near Tallulah, La., for two purposes. The first was to make up the major league schedules for next season and the second was to hunt bear. They broke even on the trip, arranging the schedule but not getting the bears.

Mr. Heydler was very frank about his prowess as a hunter. He admits he saw no bears, heard no bears and didn't believe that there were any bears anywhere in their immediate vicinity. Mr. Heydler said that all arrangements had been made for the big baseball powwow in Chicago next month. It will start on Feb. 9 with a meeting of the Joint Rules Committee of the two major leagues. On Feb. 10 the National League and American League will hold meetings, and on Feb. 11 the two organizations will get together in joint conference to appoint a new Chairman of the National Commission to succeed August Herrmann of Cincinnati. On Feb. 12 the major leagues and minors will probably get together to discuss plans for a readjustment of the relations.

The resignation of Chairman Herrmann clears the way for the joint committee of the two leagues to name a number of candidates for the Chairmanship. It is believed that President Johnson will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Frank J. Navin of Detroit on the committee with President Ruppert of the Yankees. These two will meet with President Veeck of Chicago and President Baker of Philadelphia, and will name the list of candidates from which the new Chairman will be chosen.

CADDOCK IN GOOD FORM.

Earl Caddock, Iowa wrestler, who will grapple with Joe Stecher of Nebraska in a match for the championship at Madison Square Garden, Jan. 30, will probably weigh about 185 pounds when he steps on the mat in quest of the title. At a luncheon given in his honor yesterday by Promoter Jack Curley at the Hotel Claridge, Caddock declared he weighed 188 pounds and was in splendid physical condition. His outward appearance supported his assertion of physical fitness. The Iowan does not expect to reduce his weight materially before the night of the match.

Bridwell to Manage Rocky Mount.

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., Jan. 23.—Al Bridwell of Portsmouth, Ohio, has been signed to manage the local club of the Virginia League this season, it was announced today. Bridwell, formerly an infielder on the New York Giants, managed the Houston club of the Texas League last year.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 23.—T. A. D. Jones, who will be head football coach at Yale next Fall, will receive no salary, it was announced today. He is loaned by his employers at Seattle, Wash., who are Yale men, with full salary paid. The association will pay the expenses of Mr. Jones. The new coach is to leave Seattle about Sept. 1, and his football work at New Haven will continue until the Harvard game late in November. The athletic authorities at Yale were eager to make the position a salaried one for Jones, but finally agreed to accept the conditions named by the Yale men employing Jones in the Northwest.

PRINCETON WRESTLERS WIN

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 23.—Princeton's wrestling team triumphed over the Springfield Y. M. C. A. mat men here this evening by a score of 23 to 9. Every bout was keenly contested, and two of them—the 145 and 158 pound classes—went to extra periods before being decided in favor of the Tigers.

Captain Pentz of Princeton scored a decision over Goddard in the 135-pound event. Red threw Arms, the visiting captain, in 13 minutes 30 seconds. Mooney scored Springfield's only fall. Anderson was clearly superior in the 115-pound class, while Jacobs always held the upper hand in the following event. Carpenter was in considerable trouble up to the time he won his fall. Pershing's victory came in the second extra period.

The summary:

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 23.—The preliminary handicap shoot was finished at Pinehurst this morning and was won by John W. Eshelman of Lancaster, Pa., who led the great field at 94, shooting from the eighteen-yard line. The Midwinter Handicap, the culminating event of the big tournament, was started this afternoon and will be finished tomorrow.

The 400 target race was wound up today with a spectacular finish. Frank Wright of Buffalo, the national amateur champion, led the field last night with a record of 337 out of 350. Wright finished this morning with 8, 9, 10, 10, 9—46. Dr. A. H. Aber of Dravosburg, Pa., who was in third place last night at 334, broke five straight tens in a row, overtook Wright at his twentieth target, and beat him on the last bird thrown, winning the big event with a total of 384 out of 400.

The Eastern team outshot the West today and finally won the four-day sectional contest by a total of 1,910 to 1,908. The teams and scores were:

JACKSON CANCELS BOUTS.

The injury to his left hand which he sustained in his recent bout against Mel Coogan of Philadelphia has compelled Willie Jackson, Bronx lightweight, to cancel several bouts for which he had contracted. Included in the list of matches which Jackson will have to forego is the bout against Benny Valger, French boxer, which was to have been held at the Newark Sportsmen's Club Feb. 2. Frank Bagley, manager of Jackson, yesterday notified the Newark promoters that his boxer would be unable to go through with the contract because of his injured hand.

The cancellation, however, will not interfere materially with the plans of the Newark promoters. Three other eight-round matches have been arranged for Feb. 2, and negotiations are now progressing for the services of a featherweight or lightweight who will take Jackson's place against Valger. Eddie Fitzsimmins of Yorkville, whose heavy hitting powers have given him an enviable reputation among the lightweights, and Jimmy Duffy, a sturdy west side boxer, are scheduled to appear in one of the eight-round bounts. Another will bring together Gene Tunney of Greenwich Village and Al Roberts of Staten Island. In the third, Charlie Beecher, former amateur boxer, will exchcange blows with Johnny Murray of the east side. The Newark promoters expect to announce a substitute opponent for Valger this afternoon.

BARS FLYNN AND REICH.

New Jersey Athletic Commission Decides Their Bout Was Faked.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—Concluding that Porky Flynn of Boston and Al Reich of New York pulled off a sham boxing exhibition before the Palace A. C. in Trenton last Christmas Day, the State Athletic Commission today temporarily barred both men from engaging in bouts in New Jersey. Flynn is prohibited from participating in any exhibitions in New Jersey for a year, while Reich is barred for six months.

The commission also ordered that the money which the fighters were to have received be divided among the day nurseries in Trenton.

Wrestling Teams Will Grapple Tonight in Blue and White Gym.

Columbia and Pennsylvania, contenders for the intercollegiate championship, will wrestle in a dual meet this evening at 8:15 in the Columbia gymnasium. The visiting team will be represented in at least two weights by experienced grapplers, and is said to be strong in other classes, notably the 158-pound class. In the 115 the Red and Blue will pit Serviss, intercollegiate champion three years ago, against Citron, who won his bout in the Princeton meet last week. Pendleton, another veteran of five years' experience, will take on either Barrish or Captain Kirkland in the 175-pound weight.

The Columbia lineup is still to be finally determined. Barrish, last year's Captain, will be sent against Penn's best man above 158 pounds. Kirkland and Potter will take part in the other two of the heavier classes. In the other weights the following men will wrestle: 115, Citron; 125, Mullinas; 135, Zaretski; 145, Paully.

C. Fulton	0	2	12	.000
A. Sinel	0	2	15	.000
W. Herbert	0	2	11	.000

As a result of the two matches played in the American Amateur Billiard Association's national championship pocket billiard tournament at John Doyle's Academy yesterday afternoon and last night, there is a three-handed tie for the lead. Thomas McCabe, Morgan Hughes, and Edward Kirby are setting the pace—and a fast one it is—with two victories each in as many matches. Kirby and Hughes joined McCabe on the top rung by respectively defeating Walter Herbert and Charles Fulton.

Kirby, the champion, met Herbert in the afternoon and scored another easy victory, in fact, his most recent effort amounted to little more than a warm-up gallop for him. The final score was: Kirby, 100; Herbert, 23. Hughes entertained Fulton and won almost as easily by a score of 100 to 55.

Herbert can find more or less consolation in the fact that he engaged Kirby without unlimbering his stroke—that is, he arrived late for the match, and was unable to take advantage of the usual warm-up engaged in by the players. In other words, Herbert was "cold." However, there is no reason to believe that he would have been able to fare any better so far as winning and losing goes, even if he had been able to avail himself of a practice period, for Kirby was in the same excellent form that he displayed in his first game, and when Kirby is right there are few players who can hope to beat him.

Kirby is not a sensational player, seldom indulging in long runs or unusual shots, but he is steady and adheres to the recognized basic principles of play, making the shots when they offer, but taking no chances on extremely difficult shots that, if missed, would leave his opponent in a position to make a run. Herbert played in some hard luck as well. Several times during the match he made brilliant break shots, but invariably found himself immediately tied up so that it was impossible for him to take advantage of the break.

Fulton took the lead at the start of his match with Hughes, and after his second inning was in front by a score of 18 to 2, but this advantage was short-lived, for Hughes immediately flashed some of his brilliant execution, and, making several extremely difficult shots, jumped into the van, never afterward to be headed. The score by frames:

Kirby—3 14 6 12 13 12 9 14 11. Total 100, high run 19.

Herbert—5 0 8 2 1 2 5 0 0. Total 23, high run 8.

Hughes—2 8 12 8 14 5 14 8 4 13 12. Total 100, high run 20.

Fulton—12 6 2 6 0 9 0 6 10 1 2. Total 55, high run 12.

Edward F. Raynolds took the lead last night in the New York State championship pocket billiard tournament, being held under the auspices of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players at the Rational Recreation Academy in Brooklyn. He won his second match in as many starts by defeating Charles Shongood, Jr., by a score of 100 to 27. Humboldt Foss and John J. Maloney were also scheduled to play, but Foss was taken suddenly ill and the match had to be postponed.

Raynolds's victory was one of the easiest that has ever been scored in a titular tournament in this city. Shongood is capable of better play, but he was away off his game last night, while Raynolds was in excellent stroke. In the first two frames Shongood failed to pocket a single ball and Raynolds gained a lead of 28 to 0. From that time to the finish it was only a question of by how much Shongood would be beaten. He did not have a chance, being outclassed at every angle of play.

The score by frames:

High run, 18; scratches, 1.
Shongood—0 0 1 5 13 5 0 0 3—27

Peterson, world's fancy shot champion, in six matches, beginning Monday afternoon and closing on Wednesday night; Greenleaf will play Jerome Keogh, a five times champion, on Thursday and Friday. Cannefax will oppose Charles McCourt, runner up in the national three-cushion tourney, on Saturday afternoon and evening.

CORNELL TRACK MEN LEAVE.

ITHACA, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Six Cornell track athletes left here today for Albany to compete in an indoor meet to be held in the New York State Armory there under the auspices of the 10th Infantry, New York Guard, on Saturday. The feature event of this meet will be a medley race between teams from Cornell and Harvard, and Coach Jack Moakley has also entered Walker Smith and John M. Watt, his two crack hurdlers, in the hurdle race events.

The Albany meet will be the first on the Winter track program for the Cornell team, and the showing of the Moakley men will be awaited with no little interest, especially because in the medley relay race against Harvard the veteran trainer is bringing out some promising young athletes.

The Cornell entries will be Robert O. Davidson, Carl F. John, Francis L. Abreu and John Le Roy Dickinson. They will run two, four, six and ten laps, respectively. Davidson is a sprinter who ran on the 'Varsity squad last year, John is a quarter-miler, Abreu a half-miler and Dickinson a distance runner. Abreu is an intercollegiate point winner, while Dickinson was a member of the cross-country team last Fall and will captain that outfit next year.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 23.—Yale plunged into a clear lead in the Intercollegiate Basket Ball League race tonight by defeating Princeton, 26 to 18, before a record-breaking crowd. The Yale gymnasium was packed to its rafters, and hundreds were refused admittance. Princeton scored the first goal when "Hack" McGraw, the burly football Captain, made a basket in the first minute of the game, but the Elis thereafter scored almost at will until they led, 15 to 2, before King replaced McGraw and braced the Tigers.

Yale led at half time, 17 to 3, but in the second half Princeton displayed championship form, and quickly registered 13 points. With only a 17 to 16 lead, Yale wheeled its artillery into target range, and, after five minutes of scoreless play, wrested a winning lead.

Captain Van Slyck of Yale, who leads the league in scoring, made 8 points, throwing six out of ten baskets from foul.

The lineup:

Brooklynites Win Again at Basket Ball, Defeating Temple, 46 to 30.

Andy Stannard, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania, who led the Intercollegiate Basket Ball League in individual scoring last year, was the biggest figure in the Crescent A. C. victory over the Temple University of Philadelphia last night in the New Moon gymnasium in Brooklyn. The former Red and Blue basket ball player, showing rare judgment in offense and unerring accuracy in shooting, led the New Moon five to victory by the convincing margin of 46 to 30. This marked the seventeenth straight success for the Brooklyn club quintet this season. Stannard accounted for nine field goals for his team.

Stannard's skill enabled the New Moon wearers to lead their rivals from start to finish. In the first half the former Red and Blue player led his teammates in a series of plays that had the teams contending in Temple University territory for the major part of the period, which ended with the Crescent team in front by 26 to 13. The Philadelphians made a determined rally in the second half, and for a time threatened to overtake their rivals. Stannard's resourcefulness in offensive plays, however, saved the Brooklyn club from a critical situation.

In the second half MacTowser, a substitute forward; Gross, and Gilham drew outbursts of applauuse by their spectacular goal shooting from difficult angles of the New Moon court. Gilham's ability to cage the ball on free throws was one of the features of the contest. Only once in thirten attempts did his toss go astray, and he also shot two field goals.

The lineup:

Parmele	R. F.	McPeak
Stannard	L. F.	Gross
McTigue	C.	Halstead
Nicklas	R. G.	Gilham
Stewart	L. G.	Herzog

Substitutions—Crescent A. C.: Heath for Stannard, Griffin for McTigue, Butler for Nicklas. Temple University: MacTowser for McPeak.

FOR SQUASH TENNIS TITLE.

An unusually even division of squash tennis talent is offered by the draw of the national Class B tournament, which begins this afternoon at the Yale Club. The eighty entries are almost all well known through interclub and other local matches, and it is impossible to figure on any sure survivors beyond the first few rounds of play.

Perhaps the most prominent contenders are C. J. MacGuire, E. J. Clapp, H. R. Stern, J. A. Vietor, D. S. Baker, W. Adams, Jr., and Stuyvesant Wainwright of the unbeaten Yale Club, John Munroe, Hewitt Morgan, J. A. Richards and Goeffrey Taylor of Harvard, E. C. Olds of Princeton, N. F. Torrance of the Crescent Athletic Club, and J. N. Worcester, R. E. Wigham and I. H. Cornell of Columbia.

MacGuire finished second in the Fall scratch tournament, in which a majority of the contestants were Class A men, while Baker was runner-up to A. J. Cordier in the national handicap event recently. Several interesting matches are promised in the first round today, Wigham of Columbia meeting Richards of Harvard, with George Piel of the New York A. C. drawn against F. S. Whitlock, Torrance against Munroe, Olds against A. W. Baxter, Jr., of the Crescent A. C., and Wainwright against Taylor.

At 3:30 this afternoon the professional challenge match will also begin at the Yale Club between Frank Lafforgue, coach of the home players, and W. D. Ganley of the Harvard Club. They will play the best out of five games today and a similar series next Saturday.

ROBSON TO MEET CLARK.

Tommy Robson of Malden, Mass., and Jackie Clark, a local middleweight, have been matched to box in the fourth eight-round bout at the Arena in the Fourth Regiment Armory, Jersey City, Monday night. This match will replace the scheduled bout between Willie Jackson of the Bronx and Mickey Donley of Newark, which was canceled owing to an injury Jackson suffered to his left hand.

Young Bob Fitzsimmons, son of the famous fighter of that name, who is to oppose Eddie West in another of the eight-round matches, will complete his training for the bout this afternoon. Fitzsimmons declared himself in excellent condition yesterday and confident of scoring a knockout victory. The remaining two bouts will bring together Gene Tunney of the west side, vs. Jim Monahan and Johnny Buff vs. Mickey Delmont.

Skating Races Postponed.

The skating races scheduled for this afternoon at the Utica Ice Rink, Brooklyn, have been postponed until Wednesday evening, Jan. 28. Entries will be received until 3 o'clock the day of the races.

MATHEY AND MYRICK WIN TENNIS MATCH

The men's doubles got a start yesterday in the indoor tennis tournament at the Brooklyn Heights Casino, and although only one match was played, it was an unusually close and interesting struggle. Dean Mathey and Julian S. Myrick, one of the strongest pairs in the draw, met Murray Vernon and the veteran, Hugh Tallant, in the opening round, and had their hands full to win a three-set decision, at 4—6, 6—3, 6—2. Their victory put them into the semi-final round, as there are only eight teams entered in the combination event.

Both Mathey and his partner, newly nominated for the presidency of the U. S. N. L. T. A., were slow to get started, whereas their opponents set a terrific pace from the outset. Vernon flashed a fast, high bounding service that came off the canvas at tremendous speed, using his height to advantage and generally following his delivery to the net, with good volleys in reserve when needed. He was inclined to wildness but made up for this by the finality with which he killed the ball with his spectacular sots.

Tallant backed him up with steady all around play, and they repeatedly outguessed their rivals in the exchanges. The first set eventually fell to the dark horses by a score of 6—4.

Mathey and Myrick then awoke to their danger, and put every effort into getting control of their strokes and squaring the match. They accomplished their purpose after a hot battle by a 6—3 score. By this time the West Siders were moving at top speed, Mathey uncovering all his beautiful shots from deep court as well as close up, while Myrick cut off drives at the net with sharply angled volleys. Breaking through service immediately, they ran into a commanding lead, and soon put the match to their credit with a score of 6—2. Play will continue today.

MARIE MILLER SOLACES PLAYERS IN BAD DAY FOR FAVORITES AT NEW ORLEANS

JOE GOODMAN IN FRONT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23.—Although the track at the Fair Grounds was today as fast as it will be at any time during this meeting, the hope that there would be a return to form was rudely dashed early in the course of the day's racing. The favorites went down to defeat with monotonous regularity, and there was little solace for the players except that the events brought out some good performers and the card was above the average of recent days.

An exception in the downfall of the public choices came in the feature of the day, the Vogue Handicap, at a mile, for three-year-olds and upward, which went to Marshall Brothers' Marie Miller, which, under a well-judged ride by Jockey Kelsey, came home in front of Eulogy and Cobalt Lass, among the other starters. Marie Miller went to the post at 11 to 5, and had been well played to take the winner's share.

There were six starters in the Vogue, but the winner was not in danger of being defeated at any time throughout the running. She ran one of her good races, and repeated her last victory, when she defeated Atta Boy 2d and Assume. Kelsey got his mount away to a good start, moved into the lead in the backstretch, and always held the rest of the field safely. Eulogy, which had a light impost of 99 pounds, made a strong bid in the stretch, but was not able to catch the leader. Cobalt Lass showed some improvement over recent races, and was well up at the finish, but Ballet Dancer 2d failed again to show any of the speed which characterized her races in the early Autumn.

Good Time in Juvenile Dash.

Joe Goodman, which has been one of the most promising of the two-year-olds racing here, but which appeared to need more experience, finally won brackets in the first race on the card at three furlongs. Joe Goodman had been seen under colors three times before, and was second in each of his last two starts. He was accordingly well supported today and led home a field of eleven starters, Get 'Em being second and Tenite third. The winner covered the distance in 0:35 3-5, which, while not setting any record, was good time for this class of juveniles.

The first upset of the day came with the victory of M. Burt Thurman in a six-furlong dash for three-year-olds and upward, which brought a field of twelve to the barrier. The winner had been regarded as an outsider, and paid 8 to 1 to those who backed him. Burt Thurman saved ground coming into the stretch and moved up to gain the decision from Triomphant, which was second and had been a 30 to 1 shot at post time. Jim Dudley, another long-price starter, was third.

O. Vest's La Foudre, making her first appearance here, captured the third event at a mile and a sixteenth, defeating Judge Davis and Marie Connell. She had to make a strong finish to get over in front, as Marie Connell showed speed in the stretch, but was unable to get up on the leader.

Hastings Wins Alabama Purse.

The Alabama Purse at a mile and seventy yards went to W. W. Hastings, which showed improved form over his last effort here, and scored handily over Baigneur and War Club, which took second and third respectively. Sungod had been well supported for this race but could not get up through the bunch, and failed to get into the money despite a strong effort at the end.

Antoinette accounted for the sixth race after a stirring finish with Toddler. James was third. This was another large field and there was considerable crowding, which cost some of the contenders whatever chance they might have had. Chick Barkley and Nebraska made a bid but could not make up the distance.

Brown Favorite made it two in a row by taking the final race on the card, a test at a mile and a sixteenth for four-year-olds and upward, which brought out some of the best of the platers here. Brown Favorite moved up in the stretch and disposed of Handful, which saved the place from Mab.

Chinchillas carried off the honors in four of the six championship classes at Madison Square Garden yesterday, when the judging was completed in the combined show of the Empire Cat Club and the Silver Cat Club of Brooklyn. All the chinchillas were the property of Miss Ellen V. Celty of Cleveland, Ohio.

Miss Celty's chinchillas have been consistent winners in cat shows held in the Middle West, but until the Empire show they had not appeared in competition in this section. Hampton Brushwood Winter Wonder, owned by Miss Celty, won the highest award of the show in the open championship class, being adjudged the best of the 120 cats on exhibition. This cat has attracted much attention in the Garden, as it has whenever shown. Miss Celty has refused an offer of $800 for Winter Wonder.

The other chincillas to win in the open classes were Hampton Winter Glory as the best female, Hampton Lady Ellen as the best kitten and Hampton Silver Thorn as the best neuter. In the championship class for silver cats an unnamed entry of Mrs. Elizabeth Kellogg of Brooklyn, N. Y., was adjudged the best shaded, and Champion the Conqueror, owned by Mrs. George Brayton of West Brighton, Mass., was the choice of the judges as the best smoke entry.

CHOICES DEFEATED AT HAVANA TRACK

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 23.—The backers of favorites suffered a severe jolt today when only one first choice got down in front at the Oriental Park track. The card offered by the association was made up of very mediocre fields and the racing was dull. O'Malley, at 4 to 1, proved the best in the fifth race when he led home Dr. Rae.

Himiltrude in the first race scored very easily when she won by two lengths. May Craig was second, eight lengths in front of the third horse, Snow Hill. Railbird, leading for the entire distance of six furlongs, won the second race in a drive. Precious Jewel, under McIntyre's hustling ride, got up in time to win the third race by a nose. Old Eylers gained a nose victory over Jill in the fourth race.

WOOD'S CHICKENS WINNERS AT SHOW

Judging in all the regular classes at the poultry show in Madison Square Garden ended yesterday and only the awarding of the special prizes remain for today, the final of the exhibit. As on all previous days of the show, the attendance was large and the aggregate to date is far ahead of any of the previous exhibitions at the Garden.

Entries of E. B. Thompson of Amenia, N. Y., took first in both old and young pens in Barred Plymouth Rocks, adding to the laurels previously gained when Thompson entries captured the first five prizes in cock, hen, cockerel and pullet classes in this particular exhibit. His exhibits in pens are held at $35,000, an average for the ten birds that conveys an idea of the value placed on his Plymouth Rocks. This is the first Garden show at which old pens and pens of young birds have been judged separately. Heretofore, it was allowable to mingle the birds, irrespective of their age.

The first prize in competitive pens in both old and young groups of Light Brahmas was won by C. W. Everett, of Huntington, L. I., and in Dark Brahmas first in old pens went to Newton Adams, of Utica, N. Y., and in young pens to the entries of Henry O. Havemeyer, Mahwah, N. J. Harry T. Cotting, of Rhinebeck, N. Y., won with an exceptionally fine pen of Blue Andalusians and H. Cecil Sheppard, of Berea, Ohio, captured first in old pens with his Anconas, while the blue in young pens went to C. and W. Rats, of Tavistock, Canada.

This afternoon there will be a unique demonstration on the handling of live rabbits, by a Belgian expert, Adiel Vandeweghe, and a talk on keeping them by Professor M. Davidson, of Cornell University Agricultural Department. Mr. Vandeweghe will show how rabbits are killed and skinned, and also how the skins appear when dyed and used as wearing apparel under disguise as a more expensive pelt.

Among the visitors at the Garden yesterday were twenty-five farmers from Ithaca and points nearby in New York State, who visited the city under the pilotage of E. W. Benjamin, of Cornell University Agricultural Department, to learn at first hand how the live chicken trade and produce sales are carrying on in the city markets. The farmers came over from the live poultry booths of West Washington Market to the Garden. They were seemingly impressed by the exhibits of ten-pound dressed capons.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 23.—Two records were broken at tonight's Yale-Pennsylvania swimming meet, which was easily won by the Elis, 38 to 15 points. Dick Meagher contributed the headline feature when he plunged the 75 feet length of the Carnegie pool in 43 4-5 seconds, lowering his own mark of 47 4-5 seconds. Meagher's sensational record is expected to stand for some time, unless the intercollegiate Leviathan himself betters it this season. Meagher twice slid through the water the length of the tank tonight, recording the distance in 51 seconds in his second attempt.

Loren Thurston created the second new intercollegiate record when he won the 50-yard swim in 24 4-5 seconds, clipping a fifth of a second from the mark set by Edwin Binney, Jr., of Yale last year.

For the Quakers, Captain Shields starred with a first in the 220-yard swim, in which he defeated Townsend and Pratt, the Yale entries, and a second in the 100-yard event, in which he crowded Captain John Hincks of Yale, who finished in 58 2-5 seconds, to win his event.

220-Yard Swim—Won by Shields, Pennsylvania; Townsend, Yale, second; Pratt, Yale, third. Time 2:40.

National A. E. F. intercollegiate and metropolitan track and field champions are among the 400 athletes who will compete in the first annual indoor games of the 106th Infantry Post of the American Legion at the Twenty-third Regiment armory, Brooklyn, tonight. The fields entered for every one of the fourteen events on the program are so well balanced and contain the names of so many champions and prominent star athletes, it is difficult to point to any one event as the big feature. It is expected, however, that the best competition will be furnished in the 600-yard special invitation race, the metropolitan 70-yard high hurdle championship, and the two relay races—the 1⅛-miles medley and the half-mile relay, open to Legion Post teams.

The University of Pennsylvania, Millrose A. A., Loughlin Lyceum, Knights of St. Antony, Morningside A. C., Paulist A. C., and Jersey Harriers are the leading team entetred for the medley relay race, while the half-mile relay for Legion teams has attracted entries from eleven posts. The Princeton University, New York A. C., Thirteenth Artillery, University of Pennsylvania, and Manhattan Posts present the strongest combinations and a keen race is expected. The quartet which will represent the U. of P. Post is the same team that created three world's records on one afternoon in relay races at Philadelphia last June.

Uniformity

When we speak of the "Uniformity" of Skolny Clothes we refer to workmanship, not models. The models are effects of form, and are multi-form not uni-form. Variety gives savor to Clothes, just as it gives spice to life. It is the Skolny technique that is Uniform.

Single standard tailoring. Skolny Suits or Overcoats may be entirely unlike in outward appearance, but both represent the same ideal of tailoring.

In the Skolny shops tailoring has attained to the height of an art-method—and our craftsmen are in the grasp of that spirit which prevents them from doing less than is expected of them.

Different Groups of Clothes

There is distinction, of course, several groups of Clothes, but each group is classified by the grade of cloth, not by the quality of tailoring.

Boasting of a fabric being "all-wool" is rather a low and misleading claim, because there is wool and wool.

Prices of Skolny Clothes are regulated by the purity of the woolens—the tailoring of all is the same. Our sense of artistic and practical construction demands careful, conscientious, scientific tailoring. No manufacturer can disregard this principle and produce Clothes satisfactory to American men and boys in general.

This Policy Is Fundamental

It exists, not only as an expressed and active rule of the organization, but it is also implied in the constitution of the mind of every journeyman.

MAYOR BEFORE JURY IN GAMBLING CASE

Testifies for an Hour, but Is Said to Have Shed Little Light on Bribery Rumor.

QUESTIONED AS TO RAIDS

Move to Enlarge Powers of Legislature Over Grand Juries Started at Albany.

Mayor John F. Hylan was called as a witness before the Extraordinary Grand Jury yesterday to tell the source of his information concerning an alleged bribe of $32,000, rumored to have been distributed between Assistant District Attorney Smith, Herbert Bayard Swope, an editor, and an ex-City Magistrate.

Mr. Swope and Mr. Smith have submitted documentary and other evidence before the jury to disprove the rumor and to clear themselves of any connection with the so-called bribe, which was said to have been used in connection with the dismissal of a charge against Arnold Rothstein, who was arrested with others following a raid on an alleged gambling place in West Fifty-seventh Street, when two detectives of Inspector Henry's staff were shot.

The Mayor was in the juryroom over an hour. Apparently he was unable to clear up the mystery involving the origin of the bribe story, as it was said the jury intended to hear a number of other witnesses next week. It was rumored that the Mayor had testified that he had heard of the bribe from some police official at the police clubhouse, on Riverside Drive.

Information concerning the bribe reached the jury when it got hold of the Mayor's letter files, which had been subpoenaed from his office in the City Hall for use in its investigation of some municipal departments and of public officials. The information was contained in a letter from the Mayor to Police Commissioner Enright, requesting him to make an investigation of it. Enright has told the jury that he could find no facts to substantiate the bribe allegation.

There was an intimation that the Mayor had been asked about other letters which he had written to the Police Commissioner and to District Attorney Swann, criticising the weekly morning raids on Sundays in night resorts by Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith. In these letters the Mayor approved Mr. Swann's work as District Attorney, and informed him he could have any police aid required whenever he should issue a personal order for it, but the Mayor told Enright not to give further police assistance to Smith.

It was said the Mayor had been requested to sign a waiver of immunity, with which he smilingly complied.

Other witnesses heard were ex-City Magistrate Emil Fuchs, who was attorney for Rothstein, and City Magistrate Francis X. McQuade, who dismissed the original charges against Rothstein and others. These charges were afterward taken up and investigated by Assistant District Attorney Smith, who could get no evidence to show who had wounded the two detectives.

There was considerable surprise in the Criminal Courts Building when it became known that District Attorney Swann, who had been in disagreement with the jury for some time, was present with the jury yesterday as legal adviser and examiner of witnesses. It was also said that Mr. Swann had been the guest of some of the jurors at luncheon.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Subjection of the Grand Jury system to the Legislature with power to change, regulate and even abolish the present Grand Jury system is proposed in a concurrent resolution to be offered Monday night by Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, a New York Democrat.

Assemblyman Cuvillier would effect the change by an amendment to the constitution. He would make information alone sufficient to hold a person to answer for capital crimes except impeachment. The present section of the constitution with the capital crimes makes persons liable to be held only on presentments or indictments of Grand Juries.

The Cuvillier proposal is believed to have grown out of the present situation in New York City, because the extraordinary Grand Jury has refused legal advice from District Attorney Swann.

SAYS PREMIER HUNG BACK.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—In a book published today, "Mr. Lloyd George and the War," Walter Roch, Welsh Liberal, former Member of Parliament, and member of the commission which investigated the Dardanelles failure, alleges that Mr. Lloyd George opposed the war and delayed Great Britain's entry for nearly a week. On July 30, he says, Asquith, Grey, Haldane, Crewe, Churchill, McKenna, and Runciman had made up their minds that Great Britain must fight, but the majority of the Cabinet under the leadership of Mr. Lloyd George held up the decision for five days. Finally Burns and Morley resigned and Mr. Lloyd George joined the war makers. England then entered the alliance. Mr. Roch suggests that, if Lloyd George had agreed to Mr. Asquith's firm policy five days earlier, war might have been averted.

Mr. Rich declares Mr. Lloyd George all along believed a stalemate had been reached on the west front, supported all the side shows, and favored the great attack of 1917.

Accused of Driving Robbers' Car.

John J. Donnelly, 18 years old, of 415 West 188th Street, was picked out of a lineup in District Attorney Martin's office in the Bronx yesterday as the man who drove an automobile, in which three men escaped after robbing the Williamsbridge branch of the Bronx Borough Bank, last September. Donnelly was singled out by Robert Miller of 149 West Fifty-first Street, who said he saw the machine containing the alleged robbers as it drove away. Three men held up the bank and escaped with $8,000. The license plate on the car was discovered by the police to have been taken out by Donnelly under a fictitious name.

Refuses to Clear Mislig of Contempt.

An application by Michael Mislig, who has been Treasurer of the Russian Federation of Workers and who was found guilty of contempt of court by Justice Davis because he refused to testify before the Lusk Committee, to have the contempt finding vacated because the life of the Lusk Committee ended on Jan. 1, was denied yesterday by Justice Finch. The court said that the committee remains active until it makes its report to the present Legislature.

BLAMES RULES COMMITTEE.

State Senator George F. Thompson in a speech before the New Era Club, 274 East Broadway, last night, said the burden of proof of their innocence should not be put upon the suspended Socialist Assemblymen, and blamed the Rules Committee of the Assembly for their plight. Mr. Thompson said the Speaker's patronage, amounting to $1,500 a day, and his committee appointments gave him a great hold on the members.

Turning to the traction situation in New York, Senator Thompson said of Mayor Hylan:

"He is the one man I have known who after election does just what he said he would do."

JOHN BARRYMORE ILL.

John Barrymore, suffering from a mild attack of the grip, was absent last night from the cast of "The Jest" at the Plymouth Theatre, and the part was acted by Gilda Varesi, who had studied the rôle some weeks ago in the expectation that Mr. Barrymore was going abroad. The part has been played by women both in Italy and in France.

Announcement of Mr. Barrymore's indisposition was made from the stage and money was refunded to about 100 persons. It was said at the theatre last night that the star probably would be able to resume the rôle Monday night.

Camp Merritt Buildings Sold.

CAMP MERRITT, N. J., Jan. 23.—The buildings of Camp Merritt, which cost the Government several million dollars, have been sold to Harris Brothers, contractors of Chicago, for a sum said to be $500,000. The work of dismantling the buildings will start early in the Spring.

The last of the soldiers at the camp will leave early next week, and the camp will be closed.

Zanelli Sings on Hurry Call.

Renato Zanelli, the Chilean baritone, answered a hurry call to sing the "Pagliacci" prologue, and was cordially received at the Metropolitan last evening, while Amato went over to today's "Barber" owing to indisposition of another star. Four of Mr. Gatti-Casazza's leading men, Martinelli, Crimi, De Luca, and Amato, figured in successive changes this week. Fortunately Caruso in good health sang to a packed house, with Muzio, Laurenti, and others, as usual. Leoncavallo's opera was preceded by Leoni's "L'Oracolo," sung and acted by Scotti, Didur, Easton, Jeanne Gordon, little Ada Quintana, Diaz, and d'Angelo. Mr. Moranzoni conducted the double bill.

MUSIC

The Philharmonic Society.

The Philharmonic Society gave a Russian program at its concert in Carnegie Hall yesterday afternoon that contained a number of interesting compositions. Glinka's overture to "Russian and Ludmilla," Kallinikow's symphonic poem "The Fir Tree and the Palm," Rimsky Korsakoff's overture, "The Russian Easter," and Rachmaninoff's second symphony. But as is apt to be the case with such programs, it suffered from a too great similarity of mood and style, which were sombre; from a lack of contrast. The pieces had all been heard here before several times, except Kallinikoff's symphonic poem, based on Heine's poem, that has inspired other composers, mostly to song. The music is stronger and more individual in character than some of the composer's music that has been heard here, of which a symphony is best remembered. There is the suggestion of the lonely fir tree in the north and the contrasting vision of the far-off palm tree adequately conveyed in orchestration that is often interesting in its vigorous strength.

Rimsky Korsakoff's "Russian Easter" likewise has interesting qualities; suggesting contrasts, as pointed out in the program note, between the orthodox celebration of the festival and the pagan rites in which they are said to have originated. There are orchestral effects characteristic of the great Russian master of orchestration. Though the work dates from the same year as "Scheherazade," it is far from having the brilliant originality of that tone poem.

The sombre mood of the afternoon's music was emphasized by Rachmaninoff's symphony, one of the finer recent products of Russian musical art, a work that bears repetition well. It was played with much vigor and enthusiasm under Mr. Stransky's direction.

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—The Boston Symphony Orchestra's new governing board of nine trustees have come to an agreement with Pierre Monteux, the French conductor, whereby he is to continue in his present post here during the seasons of 1920, 1921, and 1922.

Mr. Monteux led the opening Boston concerts in 1918 on a brief release from the Metropolitan Opera, and last Fall he was engaged at the first opportunity as the regular leader.

Harriet Scholder, Pianist, Reappears

Harriet Scholder, a pianist who has played as a mature artist since her prodigy days here, reappeared after two years' absence last evening at Aeolian Hall. She is an agreeable and accomplished performer, especially of Debussy, whose "Gollywogs" and "Minstrels" had humor, as "La Cathedrale" had atmosphere. Of larger works there were a Bach-Busoni chorale, some Chopin, and the B minor sonata of Liszt.

Reception to Sakharoffs, Dancers.

Clotilde Sakharoff, who created the name rôle in "Sumurun" in London, and her husband, Alexander Sakharoff, both Russian dancers of distinction, were guests at a private reception yesterday at the Hotel Astor. The pair are to appear at the Metropolitan on Feb. 17 under the patronage of Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, who saw them in Switzerland.

Mme. Sakharoff gave out an interview in the course of the afternoon, in which she said prohibition would stimulate America's interest in dancing, the "tired business man or weary business woman finding the dance a better relaxation than a cocktail or highball."

THEATRICAL NOTES.

William N. George of Richmond Hill, who was on last Wednesday appointed Sheriff of Queens County by Governor Smith, took the oath of office yesterday in Long Island City before Judge Burt J. Humphrey. He then filed his bond of $30,000.

Sheriff George will succeed Sheriff Samuel Mitchell. He will continue in office until Jan. 1 next. His successor will be elected at the coming election. It has taken ever since 1916 to straighten out the tangle in the Queens Sheriff's office which resulted when a madman killed Sheriff Paul Stier while the latter was trying to arrest him at Whitestone.

It is expected that the new Sheriff will make a number of changes, putting into positions regular organization men.

Gas Kills Aged Woman and Child.

BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday......6 per cent. for the best names
Thursday......6 per cent. for the best names

Rafia Hats to be a Feature.

Rafia, which in less progressive days found its most general uuse in kindergartens, now promises to be one of the big features of the coming Spring millinery season. Not only is it being used for trimming the new hats, but for making the hats themselves. It is espesially favored in Oriental colorings. Some of the manufacturers have applied a shellac to the straw, which both preserves it and adds to its attractiveness.

Jewelry salesmen who have been on the road long enough to get mail back to their local houses are turning in some very good business, from all accounts. Stocks of the retail trade were pretty well broken by the heavy consumer buyer during the recent holiday season. The call for the finer jewelry is still strongly in evidence, although all lines of goods appear to be selling well. In diamond and platinum jewelry an especially active demand for flexible bracelets is reported, with rings, bar pins, &c., also in request.

Reports from various quarters testify to a renewed interest in home dressmaking, due, it is explained, to the high prices asked for ready-made garments. The styles quite generally adopted by the dress trade, however, for the coming season are going to make it difficult in the case of beginners in needlework. The extended hip is one of the principal style features for the season, and the design is one that requires quite a high degree of skill. The extended hip effect is carried out in a number of ways, many of which are of a complicated sort.

Gray Goods Trading Light.

First hands again held aloof from the local gray goods market yesterday, with the result that second hands again did the selling. Some of the prices at which they let goods go showed declines of a full cent a yard from the recent "top." January lots of 38½-inch 64-60 printcloths, for instance, were let out at 23 cents, with a cent less paid for February-March deliveries of 64-56s in the same width. January 39-inch, 72-76s brought 28 cents. For February-March five-yard sheetings 18¾ cents was paid. Fine yarn goods were not active, but some of the business done was put through at concessions of about a cent a yard. Prices on the clothing styles were about the best-sustained in the market.

Hard Coal Market Steady.

The anthracite coal market has about held its own this week, Seward's Journal will say today, several days of wintry weather having checked for the time being the softening tendency which threatened to develop into a slump. In some respects conditions are similar to those of a year ago, when a period of depression set in during January and lasted until April. Throughout that period many collieries, both company and indepependent, were operated on short time, while the 75-cent premium on individual tonnage quickly disappeared. Conditions in the tidewater bituminous market are such that widespread industrial paralysis would prevail if most consumers had not been unusually forehanded in providing for their Winter requirements.

Openings in Doubt.

The Fall openings in the woolen trade are still in doubt as far as the date is concerned. According to the present feeling in the trade, next week should see the announcement of new prices. Various factors in the present situation, however, lead some buyers to believe that the openings will go over to next month. During the recent hearings in Washington a plan for piece goods licensing was discussed and the mill representatives have yet to hear of possible action along this line. While the buyers' representatives appeared to be against further Government regulation, the feeling is strong in many quarters that something approaching a licensing plan may have to be carried out in order to curb speculation in the trade.

Profiteering Evidence.

The retailers, it appears, are facing a dilemma when it comes to the matter of Government investigation. As one of their representatives explained it yesterday, there is no law that compels a merchant to open his books for examination. On the other hand not to do so would, it is felt, encourage the passage of such a law and strengthen the idea that they had something to hide. Furthermore, the retailers feel that if they open their books for such examination isolated cases where they have sold goods at more than their usual profit may be taken as a basis for profiteering charges. All told, the retailer's position is not considered a happy one under present circumstances.

Allowance for Increase.

Where prices are not left "open," to be named when the increased wages demanded by labor are settled by the arbitration committee, it is understood the garment manufacturers are including in their prices enough to cover any future advances. The growing impression in the trade is that some increase will be granted to the employes, although not as much as the 30 per cent. they have asked. Many of the manufacturers are accepting orders now that are subject to revision upward in case higher wages are allowed their employes. This has overcome a good deal of the hesitancy that first marked transactions in the trade. Buying yesterday was said to be in fair amounts.

Credit Reins to be Tightened.

While there has been a gradual tightening of credit lines in the piece goods trade for some time, the movement to get back to the former conservative figures is being accelerated by the boost in discount rates. It was pointed out yesterday by a commission house credit man that there is bound to be from now on a closer scrutiny of statements. For some time, he explained, items have appeared in the assets column that it would be difficult for the debtor to give hard cash values to. Paper profits will go by the board, he said, when statements are considered in the light of present developments.

To Address the Waist League.

Mark Eisner, former Internal Revenue Collector for the Third District, will be the speaker and guest of honor at a luncheon meeting which is to be held by the United Waist League of America at the Hotel McAlpin on Tuesday next at 12:15 P. M. Mr. Eisner will discuss the preparation of income tax reports and, following his talk, will answer questions concerning the various problems that come up in the course of making out the required returns. The meeting will be one of a series which the league will hold during the next three months, and more than 400 manufacturers of women's waists, silks, cotton goods, &c., will attend.

COMMODITIES PRICES.

This Week the Advances Again Outnumbered the Declines.

Wholesale commodities prices, as reflected by Dun's list, were less unsettled this week than at any other time since 1920 began. The number of advances shown again outnumbered the declines, but the excess of the former was smaller than during the opening weeks of the new year. This week 61 revisions were shown, of which 48 were advances, against 83 changes and 68 advances last week. Declines in the foodstuffs more nearly equaled the advances than had been the case for some time.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities this week. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago:

The feature of the changes in the local market for provisions during the week was a further break in the price of Spring patent flour. This time it dropped 25 cents a barrel, bringing the total decline in the last two weeks to 75 cents a barrel and reducing the quotation from $14.50 to $13.75. Hams did not change here, but bacon continued its advance. At Chicago short ribs supplied the only item which did not change. Mess pork and Middle Western lard were lower, while the advances were registered by live beef, hogs and sheep.

Revisions in the local market for dairy products were more numerous than usual, including advances in the best creamery and the best renovated butters and declines in the under grades of cheese and in both nearby fancy and the best Western eggs. The nearby fancy eggs dropped a cent a dozen, while the price of the Western stock dropped off 3 cents. An advance in common apples and a decline in fancy ones supplied the week's changes in the listed fresh fruits, while in the dried ones declines were seen in choice evaporated apples and in cleaned currants. The only advance listed in the dried fruits was the further rise in California muscatel raisins, which seem to have become even more popular since the Eighteenth Amendment went into effect than they were before. The changes in the vegetables consisted chiefly of a rise of $1 a barrel in potatoes and of 50 cents a barrel in rutabaga turnips. Coffees, teas and sugar were all bare of changes, and the only revision in the spices was an advance in black Singapore pepper.

Things "steamed up" in the metals list again this week, but most of the advances were confined to the various grades of pig iron. No. 28 black sheets also went up at Pittsburgh. In the minor metals the only upward change was in antimony, declines being shown by lake and electrolytic coppers, spelter, lead and tin. Leathers were again quotably unchanged, but the hides contained advances in No. 1 native packers, No. 1 country steers, No. 1 heavy cows and No. 1 buffs. The combined lists for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils, which were rather bare of features, contained 14 revisions, 12 of which were upward. The only change in naval stores was an additional rise in resin.

Declines in rye and malting barley in the grains list were offset by advances in corn and oats. Raw silk prices moved up very sharply, establishing new high records in several instances. Dry white lead paint advanced. In the textile markets the price trend was uncertain. Quotations on burlaps were higher than they were last week, but the advance was due more to bullish sentiment than to an actual demand for goods. Fall lines of colored flannels were opened in the cotton goods trade at prices showing fairly liberal advances over the quotations last in effect. In the gray goods end of the market numerous price recessions occurred, with second hands unloading surplus holdings at reductions ranging up to a cent a yard in some cases.

CRITICISES RESERVE BANKS.

Congressman Says They Oppress the Small Banking Houses.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Complaints from State bankers against methods of officials of the regional banks of the Federal Reserve System are being received daily by members of Congress, Representative Reavis, Republican, of Nebraska declared today in the House. He charged that "agents and employes of the regional banks have started on a policy of oppression toward State banks which can work only disaster."

Mr. Reavis said the trouble "arises in a large measure through a difference in the systems with reference to the charging of exchange on checks."

Representative Garner, Democrat, of Texas said he also had protests from State bankers, and Reavis rejoined that it was "almost a universal complaint among members of Congress."

Inquiry to the Federal Reserve Board, Reavis added, was answered with "just the ordinary stereotyped reply that the matter would be looked into."

"Officers of a Federal Reserve Bank," said Reavis, "have collected as high as $41,000 in checks against a small bank in a small town, and men have gone to that bank in an automobile and demanded cash on the checks in legal tender. That is an oppression that is likely to close a bank. It amounts almost to a conspiracy that would close a bank, and somebody ought to be prosecuted for that sort of conduct."

Dry Goods Trade Booming.

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods has been heavy and much ahead of the corresponding week of last year. Orders from tsalesmen on the road, both for immediate and future delivery, were greatly in excess of the total for the same period of last year. More customers were in the house and the retail trade generally reports business continuing excellent. Collections are very satisfactory."

FINANCIAL MARKETS

The stock market continued the even tenor of its way in yesterday's transactions, denoting through a sluggish flow of dealings and unimportant price changes that the advances of discount rates by several Federal Reserve banks had left holders of shares undisturbed. As the case has been so frequently in the past, the fulfillment of an expected event found the market readjustment already made. Prices were more firm than heavy in early business; thereafter a number of industrial issues moved down and others moved up. The motor issues were subjected to considerable professional selling at times, but while they were receding several steel, sugar and miscellaneous stocks were being bid upward. The final price list was irregular, with railroad stocks standing about where they were in the morning. The effect of higher discounts was more noticeable in the Liberty bond market than among stocks, which was not altogether surprising. Presumably, there was selling by subscribers who still had part of the purchase price to pay and were not favorably disposed toward an increase in the bank carrying charge to a level in excess of 5½ per cent. At that the pressure upon Government issues was not heavy and the sagging movement represented a continuation of the trend begun early in the month.

Stocks acted, as they have for several days past, as though a new incentive was being awaited by speculators. What this will be is, of course, impossible of prediction, as is also a definite suggestion whether it will be of a sort to cause a renewal of the decline or a recovery from current price levels. It is clear enough in brokerage circles, however, that the credit situation remains the dominant subject of thought and the belief prevails in many places that the market is likely to feel sooner or later the result of efforts to get loans down in quarters outside stock market purlieus. From one point of view measures aimed at the withdrawal of bank accommodation from speculative ventures in commodities should bring about declines in the prices of goods which, if extensive enough, would reach back to sources of production and entail lower earnings by corporations. Such a process, it is realized among traders, would hardly be conducive to a forward swing of quotations. Standing as an offset to this possibility stands the current hunger for many sorts of products which the mercantile agencies report is able to absorb all offerings. This week's surveys disclose no slackening in the demand for materials, with especial strength being presented in iron and steel and related lines.

The outlook for prices in primary markets had little, if any, light thrown upon it by the December foreign trade figures, issued yesterday. Exports of $681,000,000 were about $60,000,000 less than in the preceding month, but, excepting the extraordinary month of June and the large outflow of April, they made the largest month of the year. Imports of $381,000,000 showed a falling off from each of the three preceding months, although the other months of 1919 were surpassed, a number by margins in excess of $100,000,000.

Call money yesterday ranged from 6 to 8 per cent., closing at 7 per cent. The foreign exchanges were irregular, sterling declining 1¼ cents to the pound with a final quotation of 3.63⅛ for sight drafts. Francs eased off and marks sold as low as 1.40 cents each.

COAL CORPORATION FORMED

Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad Holdings Transferred.

The Indiana and Illinois Coal Corporation has been organized, under the laws of Delaware, with authorized capital of $4,057,600 7 per cent. cumulative preferred and 40,000 shares of common stock of no par value, according to a statement sent to holders of 5 per cent. purchase money first-lien coal bonds of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad Company by a committee of which George C. Van Tuyl, Jr., is Chairman. The statement explains that the property held under the mortgage securing the coal bonds of the railroad company has been transferred to the new corporation.

The committee also announces that it is prepared to divide among the holders of certificates of deposit for the coal bonds all of the preferred stock of the new corporation and 30,432 shares of the common stock. The remaining 9,568 shares of common stock will be retained in the treasury.

Under the terms of the agreement, certificate holders on and after Jan. 29 will receive the following at the office of the Metropolitan Trust Company: One hundred dollars in cash, $800 of preferred stock and 6 shares of common stock in the new corporation.

APPEAL WILL BE TAKEN

Should Legislature Modify Franchises City Might Declare Such Contracts Void.

The decision of Justice Finch of the Supreme Court restraining Public Service Commissioner Lewis Nixon from acting on an application of the receivers of the Manhattan and Queens Traction Corporation for an increase of fares was sustained yesterday by the Appellate Division in a unanimous opinion.

While the opinion follows that of the Court of Appeals in the Quinby case, which was to the effect that the Public Service Commissions have no jurisdiction over fares fixed by local authorities in franchises, it indicates that even the Legislature is without power to confer upon the commission jurisdiction over fares fixed in franchises.

In the Quinby case the Court of Appeals decided that the jurisdiction of the commission over fares was confined to cases where the fare had been fixed by the Legislature and did not extend to fares prescribed by municipalities in franchises as a condition of granting the right to construct and operate a railroad. It was also pointed out that the Court of Appeals had expressed the opinion that even if the rate of fare is fixed in a grant by a city the Legislature has the power to change the rate.

But the Court of Appeals, the opinion says, refrained from expressing an opinion as to whether the Legislature could "deprive the city of its reserved right to declare the grant forfeited for charging a greater fare than that prescribed in the municipal consent where such consent is not given subject to the right of the Legislature to change it and where the city does not consent to the change."

City's Rights Open.

Therefore the question of the absolute power of the city to deprive a railroad company of its franchise and put it out of business if it violates the fixed-fare agreement in the franchise is still open. On this point the opinion reads:

"It is important that it should be known without delay, and while the Legislature is in session, whether it is competent for the Legislature to authorize, or to delegate the power to authorize, an increase of fare in such cases and whether that can be done without jeopardizing the grant."

The court says that "doubtless the Legislature would welcome and be guided by an expression by the court on these questions and with all parties or classes of parties interested represented this might properly be done."

But because the matter was left open by the Court of Appeals, the Appellate Court decided not to touch further upon the matter except to leave it to the higher court "in reviewing our order to say whether an opinion should be more definitely expressed on these points, and then it will either rest with the Board of Estimate exclusively, or with the Legislature, for such action as it or they may see fit to take in the premises, and all parties in interest will know what confronts them."

The opinion explains that the franchise was granted with the stipulation, among others, that the company should not charge any passenger more than five cents for a continuous ride to any point on the road or on any line or branch connected with it. After referring to the decision of the Court of Appeals in the Quinby case, the opinion says:

"If the Commissioner should decide to grant the application the order for the increased rate of fare might become effective as soon as made, and there could not be any stay of proceedings thereon until after notice of the application and a hearing and finding by the court." This delay might cause "great and irreparable damage."

Lower Court Justified.

In deciding that the lower court was justified in restraining Mr. Nixon from holding hearings on the application of the company the decision says that as he had "entertained and is proceeding with an application for a change of rate of fare, and that he is wholly without jurisdiction over the subject matter of the application, the order for the writ was properly issued."

Replying to the contention of the commission that it had not decided to grant the application of the company and was only about to hold hearings, the decision says:

"The Commissioner has previously and on March 28, 1919, entertained and granted a like application on analogous facts with respect to the rate of fare made by the New York and North Shore Traction Company."

Corporation Counsel Burr, who represented the city in the litigation, said it was the most important fare decision yet rendered, because it bore strongly upon the legal proceedings instituted to revoke the permission given by Mr. Nixon to the surface railroads to charge for transfers. A review on this question is pending in the courts as well as on the question of Mr. Nixon's right to permit the North Shore Traction Company to establish the zone system.

"I hope the decision of the Appellate Court," said Mr. Burr, "will put an end to Mr. Nixon's propaganda for increased fares."

The opinion was written by Justice Laughlin. In response to the suggestion that the matter be carried to the Court of Appeals for final disposition, it was said that the Public Service Commission would begin preparations at once.

Hartman Net Income Increases.

The annual report of the Hartman Corporation for the year ended Dec. 31, 1916, shows net income after all charges and Federal taxes of $2,287,224 or the equivalent of $19.06 a share on the capital stock as compared with $6.63 a share in the preceding year. After dividends of $600,000 there was a surplus of $1,687,224.

MOTORS OFFER EXPLAINED.

Corporation Announces Terms for Obtaining New Stock.

In a circular which has been mailed to stockholders of the General Motors Corporation the plan of exchanging the 6 per cent. debenture or preferred stock for the new 7 per cent. stock is explained. It is pointed out that the holder of a share of the preferred or debenture stock has the right to exchange for two shares of the 7 per cent. issue on the payment of $100 in cash. The holder of the 6 per cent. stock now obtains $6 a year, but if he takes the two shares of 7 per cent. available by exchange it is argued that the yield on the $100 cash investment is actually 8 per cent.

The corporation has offered to subscribers the privilege of paying for their subscriptions to the new stock in installments on the following basis: 62½ per cent. of the amount of the subscription on Feb. 2, paying 12½ per cent. in cash and 50 per cent. by surrender of the certificates of the 6 per cent. preferred or debenture stock at par; 12½ per cent. in cash on or before May 1 and similar payments on or before Aug. 2 and Nov. 1.

MOTORS PROFITS JUMP.

The report of the Continental Motors Corporation for the year ended Oct. 31 shows a net profit, after deducting Federal taxes of $3,425,725, equivalent, after preferred dividends, to $2.21 a share on the outstanding 1,453,925 shares of common stock of $10 par value. This compares with a net income of $1,939,785 or $1.17 a share on the common stock in the preceding year.

The profits were $5,125,725 or more than double those for 1918. The allowance for Federal taxes was $1,700,000, an increase of $515,000 over the same item in the report of the preceding year. The surplus at the end of last year was $2,274,097, as compared with a surplus of $538,179 in 1918.

CITIES SERVICE GAINING.

Current Assets Increased $6,400,000 in Nine Months.

During the first nine months of 1919 the Cities Service Company and its subsidiary properties retired or paid through sinking funds $9,300,000 of their funded debt, and in addition reduced their floating debt by approximately $2,000,000. During the same period, according to an announcement issued yesterday, current assets increased by $6,400,000.

During 1919 the company completed 400 producing oil wells, of which approximately 300 were completed in the State of Kansas. The outlook for the Mexican oil properties is considered bright. One well on the Barragan property was brought in with a production of 50,000 barrels a day. The company is also ready to begin drilling operations on its properties in Colombia.

Lincoln National Pays Bonus.

Employes of the Lincoln National Bank were told yesterday that in addition to an average increase of 10 per cent. in salaries, a bonus of 25 per cent. would be paid in 1920.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Money and Discounts.

So far as having any pronounced, or even noticeable, effect on call money market conditions yesterday, the action of the Federal Reserve Bank fell flat. Call money opened and renewed at 6 per cent. Then it went up to 8 per cent., and finally it closed at 7. And those rates, compared to some seen in the recent hectic times, look very mild and, relatively speaking, cheap. All of which probably substantiates the contention of leading stock market observers that the market is completely sold out. If there had been any aggressive demand for bank accommodation yesterday, it seems inevitable that the money market would have experienced another flurry. But it did not. In fact, it didn't do anything worth mentioning.

Foreign Exchange.

The foreign exchange market, which has been going down of late largely because banks are refusing to extend further credits to the export trade and are calling in some of those previously extended, all in compliance with the general scheme of reducing loans, also failed to become disturbed over the Reserve Bank's rate increase. In the earlier part of the day exchanges rose quite briskly, and while they reacted somewhat later, the reaction did not go far and amounted to little. Here is another cause, in all probability, of an oversold condition, for it is common gossip that the exchange speculators have been doing their full part in helping the recent fall, and at current low rates are taking profits, thus furnishing a buying demand which has been sufficient to advance sterling several cents from the extreme low, and continental rates accordingly.

Fixing Money Rates.

Reports from Washington which credited Senator Owen with a desire to have legislation passed which will limit call money rates, thus, the Senator is alleged to believe, assuring low commodity prices, met with only scant consideration in banking circles. There may be ways of artificially depressing commodity costs, but few bankers will agree with the idea that one of them is an artificially low rate for money, call or any other kind. As a matter of fact, most bankers and most economists believe cheap money makes for inflation and, if continued long enough, for depreciated buying power of money, which is to say, high commodity prices. Most students now think that one of the prime causes for present high commodity costs is the policy of "cheap money" adopted about the time of our entrance into the war.

No Equipment Relief.

The statement by the Director General of Railroads that the Railroad Administration was not in a position to aid the carriers in relieving their equipment wants served as somewhat of a bearish factor in the action of the railroad shares as a group. Prices were irregular, and trading in the rails was characterized as "spotty," with some issues showing a turnover of only a few hundred shares of stock. Another depressing item was the apparent deadlock in the joint conference on railroad legislation at Washington, and on the rumor that the two bills might have to be reported back to their respective houses. The opinion continued to be expressed in some quarters that an agreement would be reached, despite the Washington reports to the contrary.

The International Mercantile Marine Company common and preferred stocks were a feature of the trading yesterday. Following the publication of news that definite steps had been taken for the consideration of shipping legislation, the demand for the shares increased, and as the movement progressed the speculative element bought stock. Recessions before the close gave evidence that the in-and-out traders were taking a quick profit. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, on the other hand, which would be just as much benefited by the adoption of conservative shipping laws, closed unchanged after moving over a comparatively narrow range.

The Traction Decision.

The decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court that the Manhattan & Queens Traction Company was only entitled to a five-cent fare was somewhat of a blow to local traction interests.

Is Labor Quiescent.

In local railroad circles the question is being asked why labor leaders are so quiet when the anti-strike clauses of the Cummins railroad bill are being discussed in conference at Washington. In some offices the opinion is expressed that inasmuch as the leaders of the railroad brotherhoods are shrewd and intelligent, they apparently are not making a campaign on the strike clauses in either the Esch or the Cummins bills because they believe that the situation will be handled on its merits and that labor will get a square deal.

Market Shows Strength.

There were more than a few disappointed shorts in Wall Street yesterday. Many traders who learned before Thursday's close that the Federal Reserve rediscount rate was to be advanced to 6 per cent. took the opportunity to get in on the short side, feeling confident that prices would decline yesterday just as they had at other times when the discount rate was advanced. With the perverseness for which the market is famous it refused to follow the plan mapped out and the shorts to their consternation saw prices advance rather than decline as they had hoped. It was simply another case of the market having discounted the news. There was little that was unexpected in the rate advance except that it was a trifle more drastic than had been anticipated in most quarters. Here and there attempts were made to drive prices down, but the strong technical position in which the market is now placed made the endeavors unsatisfactory in the design to cause liquidation of long stock. There is an old adage in Wall Street that when the market fails to respond to good news it is overbought and the converse is held to be true when bad news fails to bring about a decline. In the latter case the market is presumed to be oversold. This condition apparently existed yesterday. Furthermore, there was the understanding that the rise in rediscount rates was not aimed at the stock market, in which liquidation is presumed to have gone to satisfactory lengths, but at speculation in commodities. This was reassuring to holders of securities.

Short Covering.

There was some endeavor to cover short commitments and this brought out the fact that stocks were not in anything like plentiful supply at present levels. The case of Crucible was an outstanding example. After a trifling show of hesitancy at the opening the price moved steadily up under the impetus of short covering and the net gain at the close amounted to 7 points. Opinion in the Street is inclined to believe that the short interest in some stocks is decidedly large. The quiet market of the last few days has not afforded the opportunity to cover and with a better sentiment prevailing now it is believed that there may be a squeezing of the shorts.

Drive Against Motors.

The motor stocks showed a greater degree of weakness than for some time. General Motors was under pressure during most of the day and declined more than 6 points, closing well below 300. Studebaker was off 1⅛ and Stromberg was down 1⅛. Other motor shares suffered likewise. Apparently there was some thought that the motor industry might be affected more than others by the increase in rediscount rates because of the extension that has been necessary in handling the tremendous business of the last year. The drive on the motors was attributed to the "Waldorf Crowd."

Replogle Stocks Weak.

The so-called Replogle stocks—Replogle Steel and Vanadium—had another day of decline. Ever since these two issues were listed a few weeks ago they have been steadily declining without any artificial pressure. It is the opinion of many, in the case of Vanadium, which is now some 14 points below its high, that insiders have been steadily liquidating their holdings on every bulge in the market. It has been noticeable that Vanadium failed to rally in the slightest when the general list was advancing. The quotation on Vanadium at yesterday's close was 47¾ and the subscription to the new shares, which will nearly double the authorized capital, is $45.

NEW FILM COMPANY HAS 8,000 THEATRES

PATHE HEAD INTERESTED

The Associated Exhibitors, Inc., with franchise-holders representing 250 important motion picture theatres in the country and affiliations bringing a total of about 8,000 theatres within its circuit, was organized in this city, it was announced yesterday by Messmore Kendall, President of the Capitol Theatre Realty Company and of the new corporation. The corporation, he said, is "backed by an unlimited amount of capital," the financial interests concerned representing "many millions of dollars" and having pledged themselves to co-operate in fostering the association. Paul Brunet, head of the Pathé Company in this country, is a member of the new corporation's Board of Directors, and the Pathé exchanges will be used for the distribution of its pictures all over the world.

The formation of the Associated Exhibitors, Inc., is considered of importance in motion picture circles, because it is regarded as a move by strong forces against the alleged attempt of picture-producing houses to acquire chains of theatres for the exhibition of their own films and relatively few, if any, others. By purchasing pictures for the theatres allied with it the corporation, it is said, hopes to organize a demand that will assure independent producers of a profitable market and thus induce them to remain producers and independent. Also, according to the announcement, every exhibitor affiliated with the organization "will be assured of productions of the highest class and will not be left at the mercy of those who are endeavoring to obtain a monopoly on the production and distribution of motion pictures."

The Associated Exhibitors, Inc., is represented as being the largest of a number of organizations of exhibitors with practically the same purpose. Another large group is that known as the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, which recently was reorganized as the First National Theatres, Inc., and the Associated First National Pictures, Inc., with a combined capital of more than $16,000,000. The Strand Theatre is the principal New York member of this organization, as the Capitol will be of the Associated Exhibitors.

The plans of the Associated Exhibitors include the production as well as the purchase of films.

The directors in addition to the Messrs. Kendall, Bowes, Crandall, and Clemmer are: Michael Shea, Buffalo; Dennis Harris, Detroit; I. Libson, Cincinnati; Samuel Harding, Kansas City; Joseph Lubliner, Chicago; Hugo Lambach, Spokane, and Paul Brunet, New York.

Lubliner and Trinz Theatres, Chicago; Reuben & Finkelstein, Minneapolis; The Capitol Theatre, New York; The Capitol Theatre, Boston; Harris & Ackerman, Los Angeles; H. Cornwell Theatres, St. Louis; Harris & Ackerman, San Francisco; Harris & Libson Theatres, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati; Paul Gustanovich, Cleveland; J. H. Cooper, Oklahoma City; Harry Crandall Theatres, Washington; Samuel Harding, Kansas City; Bishop Cass Investment Company, Denver; Harding & Cohen, Omaha; J. Q. BANKERS' ACCEPTANCES UP.

Market Rates Rise Following Advance by Federal Reserve Bank.

The most positive effect of the Federal Reserve Bank's advance in rediscount rates on Thursday afternoon was a general increase in rates for bankers' acceptances yesterday. The Federal Reserve Bank raised its buying rate, which previously had been 4⅞ to 5 per cent., to 5¼ per cent. for all maturities from 15 days to 90 days, and the market rates moved up correspondingly. The call money market was extremely dull and the range for the day was from an opening and renewing rate of 6 per cent. to a maximum of 8 per cent. Later the call market closed at 7 per cent.

Time money rates were said to be a shade higher, and there was some difference of opinion as to the effect on rates for commercial paper. Some of the largest dealers insisted there had been no change from the rate established some little time ago of 6 per cent., while others said that "commissions" of ¼ of 1 per cent. for 90-day bills, or at the rate of 1 per cent. per annum, had raised the actual cost of financing through commercial paper to the 7 per cent. level.

The rate at which J. P. Morgan & Co. was willing to make demand advances on loans secured by bankers' acceptances was reported raised to 5 per cent., as against the 4¾ per cent. which the firm had been asking previously. The Guaranty Trust Company, which had been charging 5 per cent. on loans of this description, continued the rate unchanged.

It was reported that a number of other banking houses which had been lending fairly heavily on bankers' acceptances called most of the loans yesterday. However, there was little evidence of liquidation in the market, and dealers said they were still able to find accommodation.

HIGHER PRICES FORECAST.

General business conditions continue good and prices of many articles appear to be moving into even higher figures, according to the weekly reports of Dun's and Bradstreet's. However, the demoralization of the foreign exchange market, making it increasingly difficult to finance exports, is becoming a factor in the situation, and there is noticed some slight concern as to the probable influence this will have on prices later in the year. Commenting on the outlook, Dun's Review says:

> Contrasting with recent declines in certain foodstuffs, prices of various raw materials and manufactured products, notwithstanding their already abnormal position, have risen further, and the competitive bidding that has developed in some quarters may conceivably cause additional increases. While speculative purchasing in anticipation of even higher levels to follow has been a factor in the current movement, yet the main force behind the upward swing of prices is the pressing call for supplies with which to meet actual domestic and foreign requirements. With the renewed demoralization in international exchange the difficulties of financing overseas trade are likely to be accentuated; but American exports remain heavy, and the wants of consumers here are so extensive as to stimulate a demand for goods beyond the ability of manufacturers to satisfy.

Bradstreet's says:

> A speeding up of manufacturing output, increased buying from jobbers, and sanguine views as to the future at leading Western and Southern centres, some slight quieting down particularly in textile purchases at a few primary points, and an increasing projection of the discussion of money market and exchange conditions into general business are among the salient features in the week's reports. It is significant that while Spring trade is esteemed secure, and scarcity talk as to current supplies continues in nearly every line, there is more disposition to discuss the further future with an eye to possible price revisions. The large majority of reports as to retail trade indicate full buying for this usually quiet season, stimulated by clearance sales.

POPULATION FIGURES TO BE KNOWN EARLY

COVER NATION BY OCTOBER

Enumeration May Be Completed by March, but Tabulation Will Be Heavy Work.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Announcement of the population of practically all cities of the country by May or June, and the total population of the entire country in September or October, is the expectation of the Director of the Census, Sam L. Rogers.

Population statistics of some of the cities probably will be completed by March or earlier. Washington is expected to be the first known, as it was in the thirteenth census in 1910.

"The enumeration is in progress throughout the entire country," said Mr. Rogers today. "Advices from the supervisors indicate that during the first week of the work at least 70,000 enumerators were started.

"We are now organizing a force of clerks who will be equipped to examine the schedules as rapidly as they are received from the supervisors. These clerks will make a preliminary count of the population. This preliminary count will be made public as rapidly as the totals for the cities and the minor civil divisions are obtained. The population of the cities will be announced first. We hope that the total population of the country will be known in September or October of this year, and the population of the cities should all be announced by May or June."

TO SELL REMINGTON PLANTS

Five new companies have been organized to take over the five mushroom war plants of the Remington Arms Union-Metallic Cartridge Company, and dispose of those plants to the highest bidders, according to Walter K. Earle, a Director in all of the new concerns, who was seen in the offices of Sherman & Sterling yesterday. The new companies are the Fairfield Liquidating Company, the East End Realty Corporation, and the Bridgeport Liquidating Company, Connecticut concerns; the Ilion Liquidating Corporation of New York and the Swanton Liquidation Corporation of Vermont. The five war plants of the Remington Company were located at those points.

Mr. Earle, who with Chauncey B. Garver and John F. Dempsey, also of Sherman & Sterling, 55 Wall Street, are Directors in all of the companies, said that he was not at liberty at this time to disclose the identity of the interests behind the new companies. He did say that automobile companies were not interested. Mr. Earle said that the Remington Company was paring down its war structure to resume operations on a peace basis.

STATES TREASURY VIEW OF FOREIGN SECURITIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The attitude of the Treasury Department toward the issue of investment securities by foreign Governments and by States, municipalities and private borrowers of foreign countries, a number of which are seeking to float loans in this country, was outlined tonight by Secretary Glass. He made it plain that the department did not look with favor on such issues unless they involved "new savings" and did not dislodge United States Government securities by inducing the holders to sell or exchange them.

"During the war," said the Secretary, "including that portion of the post-armistice period during which the United States Government was financing the requirements of the Allies, the Treasury was unwilling that their Governments should compete with it by the issue of securities in our markets. Latterly, the attitude of the Treasury has been favorable to the issue, under proper safeguards in our markets, of sound investment securities of foreign Governments, and of States, municipalities and private borrowers, when emanating from those countries with which the international exchange is favorable to the United States, and it may be assumed without inquiry that the Treasury does not object to such issues. But the effort must be to sell the securities, and procure the investment in them of new savings and not to dislodge United States Government securities by inducing the holders to sell or exchange them.

"Neither the Capital Issues Committee nor the Treasury has ever undertaken to authorize, approve, or pass upon the merits of any issue of securities whatever, whether of private companies, municipalities, States or Governments, and the fact that any such issue was not objected to must not in any case be construed as carrying authorization, approval, or recommendation. The use of the name of the United States Government, or of any department of the Government in connection with the issue of any such securities, is unauthorized."

Geo. P. Ide & Co. Incorporated.

The incorporation of George P. Ide & Co., of Troy, with a capital of 20,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value, and 85,000 shares of common stock, without par value, of which 75,000 shares will be presently issued, was announced in the financial district yesterday. The company manufactures collars and has been in business as a partnership for more than 50 years. A public offering of the stock will probably be made soon.

Trust Companies' Elections.

The Board of Trustees of the New York Trust Company on Wednesday re-elected the present officers of the company. Mrs. Key Cammack and Russell V. Worstell were also appointed Assistant Secretaries. The Board of Directors of the Columbia Trust Company yesterday re-elected the present officers. George S. Mills, who has been with the organization for several years, was elected Assistant Secretary.

BEARS WIN VICTORY IN JANUARY COTTON

GENERAL TRADING IS DULL

Far Distant Months Close About 10 Points Down—Ginning Report as Expected.

The bears in the January option finally managed to win a partial victory yesterday, just before the option expired at noon. From an opening price of 38.10, which equaled the closing of Thursday, they succeeded in driving the quotation down to 37 cents flat, covering a good part of their shorts on the way down out of the selling by belated bulls who had held on to the last minute in hope of seeing a realization of the predicted squeeze. Then, in the last half hour of the contract's life, the market rallied again, going up 90 points, to 37.90, at which price it ended.

Aside from the activity and wide fluctuations of January the market was dull and rather irregular. The depressing of the near month sent the rest of the market off 40 to 50 points by midday, and after the flurry was over the market climbed slowly back. At the top, reached in the late afternoon, March and May were up about 13 or 14 points net, and the rest of the list was just about on a parity with Thursday's closing. These figures were held to the end of the day. The far distant months were down about 10 points each at the close.

There was little of interest in the news developments, except for the action of the Federal Reserve Bank, which had marked up the discount rate on commercial paper overnight. This action had been pretty well discounted in the market and there was little response to it yesterday. In trade circles it is expected to have the effect of forcing further liquidation of spot cotton held in Southern warehouses, and this, if it really assumes any considerable proportions, may well force the general level of the staple a good deal lower than it is now.

The Census Bureau's report on ginnings to Jan. 16 was about as expected. Possibly the figures were a trifle larger than many expected, but the difference between anticipation and realization was not great. The display showed 10,322,148 bales ginned this year, as against 11,048,652 bales ginned to this time last year.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

BUTTER—The receipts yesterday were 5,169 packages. Light receipts, fair demand and a firmer market on the higher grades of fresh creamery were the features of the market. Medium qualities were fairly plenty and quiet. Less was doing in storage creamery and the market was weak, especially on the lower grades; renovated steady; ladles and packing stock lower and dull. EGGS—The receipts yesterday were 7,451 cases. The market opened with an uncertain tone on the Exchange. Buyers were cautious, and for some time no bids were made above 69c. Offerings, however, were limited, and before the close the market strengthened with free business at 70c, and some closing bids above that. Trading from store at the close was at irregular prices, ranging from 69@71c. Advices indicated only moderate supplies in transit from most sections. Storage eggs of high quality were firm and slightly in sellers' favor, while the medium and lower grades were still urgently offered at a wide range of unimproved prices. White eggs were in pretty good demand and steady. BUYS FLEET OF COLLIERS.

W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc., Gets Transportation Stock Control.

W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc., have acquired a controlling interest in the Coastwise Transportation Company through the purchase of 26,046 shares of the company's stock, of which there are 35,000 shares outstanding, for approximately $6,511,000. It is understood that the deal was closed with W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc., agreeing to buy, as of Feb. 28, the stock mentioned, from the Consolidation Coal Company, the present owner. At the same time the minority stockholders are being offered the same price for their stock on the same date.

The fleet of the Coastwise Transportation Company consists of ten modern 7,000-ton colliers, nine of which are in commission and one of which is still building. The purchase of the new property is said to be along the lines of purchaser's program for the extension of its shipping interests. The ten colliers are adapted for the transportation of ores as well as coal.

RESERVE BANKS URGE LOW RATE ON BALANCES

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Recommendation to banks and trust companies in all Federal Reserve districts that no rate in excess of 2¼ per cent. be paid on net and available daily balances were made in resolutions adopted today at a meeting here of bankers from the twelve Federal Reserve districts.

The action was taken in order to conform to the approval expressed by the Federal Reserve Board through Governor Harding of the action of the New York Clearing House in adopting 2¼ per cent. as its maximum rate.

The conference, which was presided over by James B. Forgan of the First National Bank of Chicago, followed a meeting in Washington Jan. 6 of bankers representing the Clearing House Association, called by the Federal Reserve Board, at which final action on the question of interest rates on bank balances was postponed until the Chicago meeting.

In making the recommendations the conference declared: "It is the opinion of this conference that the Federal Reserve Board should be free to establish its rates of discounts without reference to any Clearing House regulations as to the payment of interest."

This view was expressed at the Washington meeting by Governor Harding, who appealed to the bankers not to "make a scramble for deposits," by advancing interest rates on balances, and protested against a tendency to turn deposits into investment funds.

FACTORY, BROCKTON, MASS. ESTABLISHED 1876

If you are looking for a safe and permanent investment we believe this 7 per cent stock will appeal to you. It is an old established business. That the Preferred Stock is amply well protected is shown from the fact that the net earnings available for dividends after the Federal tax and all other taxes were paid during the past four years have averaged nearly four times the dividends on the Preferred Stock outstanding. The Common Stockholders propose to give even greater protection to the Preferred Stock by leaving annually in the treasury a substantial part of the earnings of the Common Stock.

W. L. Douglas name is known throughout the world. The trade mark is a very valuable asset worth millions of dollars, and is the property of the stockholders. It is one of the most valuable trade marks in United States. Application will be made to have this stock listed upon the stock exchange.

This company owns and operates 107 W.L.Douglas shoe stores located in the large cities. W.L.Douglas shoes are also sold by over 9000 shoe dealers in the United States. During the past few years our shoes have been more extensively advertised than ever before. Stamping W.L.Douglas name and the retail price on the bottom of the shoes before they leave the factory has saved the wearers millions of dollars, and guarantees them the best shoes in style, comfort and service that can be produced for the price.

In the leading foreign countries a great demand for W. L. Douglas shoes has sprung up. Our domestic business has increased so that our sales have more than doubled in four years. In 1915 the sales were $8,069,628.41 and in 1919 $21,906,904.44. The past six month's business was at the rate of over $24,000,000 per year.

In common with other great businesses we need additional capital to meet the urgent requirements of increasing domestic and foreign trade. The new conditions of business also demand more capital. The cost of labor and material has nearly doubled so that twice the amount of capital necessary under the old business conditions is now required.

You will make no mistake to order at once as many shares of this stock as you can afford to buy, price $100.00 per share. If you care for more particulars fill out the coupon and mail at once.

Lessons In Oil

LESSON NO. XII.

Large Holdings in Proven Territory

Brown County, Texas, cannot geologically be considered in relation to its oil bearing characteristic without its western neighbor Coleman County.

Glancing at a geologist's map we see the present evidence of oil production indicated as a sort of imperfect oval covering the center and west of Brown and the eastern part of Coleman Counties.

In order to give some idea of oil possibilities, we shall refer to the report of John Cullen, geologist, considered one of the foremost and most reliable in the oil fields. His reference is to the Muhala Duncan Survey No. 55, located on the Pecan Bayou in the northwestern part of Brown County, four miles east and eight miles south of the Northwest corner. It will serve as an excellent example to familiarize the reader with the finer points of oil production.

Mr. Cullen says: "The surface structure consists of a well defined anticlinal terrace or flat anticline." An anticline, or, in other words, a ridge, is important, as it forms a sub-surface pocket in which oil may gather.

"There are ten horizons to be penetrated by the drill within a radius of 20 miles of this lease. Sands may be expected at depths ranging from 200 feet to 2,800 feet." "The Blacklime formation will be encountered at about 1,800 feet." "It is from the Blacklime that the production at Ranger and Desdamona is obtained. It has four horizons, is about 900 feet thick and produces oil in a radius of 20 miles of the Muhala Duncan Survey."

"The lease is recommended as profitable for the production of oil in profitable quantities, as it has a well defined structure of considerable dimensions. It is located near the axis of a bend arch on which there is, in all probability, a closed anticline, (closed anticlines trap oil). The most favorable location for a test well is near the center of the east line of the lease."

THE BRINKLEY PRODUCING AND REFINING CO. owns this 80-acre lease in Brown County, and is acquiring 2,110 acres adjoining, making a total of 2,190 acres; these among many others with reports just as clean and favorable. If you would like a copy of Mr. Cullen's entire report, together with more information about this Company, send your name and address at once.

COLUMBIA TRUST CO. BUILDING RESOLD

DEAL INVOLVES $4,000,000

The City Loses $11,300 a Year on Lease of the Claremont Owing to Prohibition.

The Columbia Graphophone Company has purchased as a permanent home the Columbia Trust Company Building located on the northwest corner of Thirty-fourth Street and Fifth Avenue, held at $3,000,000.

Nine additional stories will be added to the present structure bringing the total amount of the investment close to $4,000,000.

The property which consists of a four-story structure on a plot fronting 69.9 feet on Fifth Avenue by 100 feet on Thirty-fourth Street was sold by Max N. Natanson, an operator, who bought the land and building from the Columbia Trust Company on Nov. 25, 1919.

McKim, Mead & White are preparing plans for the additional stories, which, when completed, will be occupied as the executive offices of the Columbia Graphophone Company. During the alteration an ornamental bridge will be constructed around the building, and it is intended that the work will be carried on with the minimum of inconvenience, not only to the customers of the trust company, but also to the general public.

The corner, which was formerly the site of the famous A. T. Stewart marble mansion, was purchased in January, 1901, by Charles T. Barney for the Knickerbocker Trust Company from three different interests, the Butler family, the Clinch family and Bessie T. White, wife of Stanford White.

The property then included an additional forty feet on Fifth Avenue and an additional fifty feet on Thirty-fourth Street, which land was subsequently sold for other improvement. The Knickerbocker Trust Company then erected the present building as banking quarters for one of its branches. In June, 1912, the Knickerbocker Trust Company merged with the Columbia Trust Company. The Columbia Trust Company has retained a lease on the ground floor for a long term of years, and will continue to occupy the premises.

The present building was designed by McKim, Mead & White, and is one of the architectural landmarks of the city. It was originally built with the idea of at some time adding to its height, and the foundations are sufficiently strong for the erection of the nine additional stories.

Former Tenant Paid City $20,500 a Year with Liquor License.

F. R. Wood, real estate broker, was the successful bidder at the auction held yesterday in the office of Park Commissioner Francis D. Gallatin for the lease on The Claremont, the noted tavern in Riverside Park owned by the city, which in recent years has been a popular stopping-off place for automobilists. Henry Brady was the auctioneer.

Mr. Wood obtained a five-year lease on the tavern at an annual rental of $9,200, beginning Feb. 1. The contract permits the holder of the lease to dispense milk drinks on the premises.

R. A. Gushee, the previous lessee, paid the city over $20,500 a year for The Claremont, but at the last renewal he had a clause inserted which permitted him to surrender the lease if prohibition went into effect.

He took advantage of this clause several weeks ago and yesterday's sale was the result.

Park Commissioner Gallatin, however, inserted a similar clause in the lease sold yesterday, and if the sale of liquor is permitted within five years the contract becomes void and the property will be released with a license.

BIG DEMAND FOR SPACE.

Announcement of $5,000,000 Building Operation Brings Many Applications.

An excellent example of the constantly increasing demand for space in the Fifth Avenue retail shopping zone was shown by the fact that the firm of Pease and Elliman which assembled and negotiated the sale of the plot on Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Streets, just west of Fifth Avenue, as a site for a twenty-four-story commercial building, were kept busy yesterday answering queries and applications for space.

The property, 48 to 54 West Thirty-ninth Street and 45 to 55 West Thirty-eighth Street, has a frontage of 108 feet on Thirty-eighth Street and 113 feet on Thirty-ninth Street.

This section of the city has been remarkably active from a real estate standpoint during the past few months, and the demand for office and showroom space on and adjacent to Fifth Avenue, has far exceeded the supply.

Plans for the new twenty-four-story structure, which will probably be leased before the first story is up, are being prepared by Clinton & Russell, and it is expected that it will be ready for occupancy in the early part of 1921. When completed it will have the largest floor area of any building in the central mercantile zone. The entire operation involves about $5,000,000.

The whole operation involves well over $1,000,000, and the cost of the plot is reported to be over $300,000.

Egyptian Hieroglyphics

On many a set of books there are recorded daily numerous transactions, that after a period of time result in a mass of figures that become as meaningless as the symbols on the obelisk.

It is the function of the Certified Public Accountant to take these figures and classify them, so as to present clearly, vital facts essential for the guidance of the business man.

RAIDERS REPORTED CARRANZA ORDERS

AUTHORITIES GOT NO HELP

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 23.—County Sheriffs and officers of the Ranger Service, customs collectors, and District Attorneys testified before the Senate sub-committee investigating the Mexican situation today they never had succeeded in obtaining from the Mexican authorities any co-operation in the prevention of border raids. The declaration of these witnesses was supported by that of others who added to the committee's record details of numerous attacks made by Mexicans during the "border war, of 1915-1916."

Testimony corroborative of charges that Carranza and other Mexican officials were aware of and encouraged the leaders who were operating under the "plan of San Diego" was given. Sheriff Octavio Guerra, a naturalized Mexican of Starr County, told of a confession made to him by one of the raiders whom he captured, in which he was informed Carranza soldiers were the raiders and that their movements were directed by Carranza officers.

Documentary evidence to the same effect was presented. It was the attested confession of a Mexican prisoner and had been made a part of a report rendered by Captain Anderson, then commanding Troop A, Twelfth Cavalry. The prisoner had signed the statement saying his detachment was a small army unit commanded by a Major of the regular establishment. In the orders read to them they were told they were to assist in recovering land taken by the United States from Mexico. The Major, the prisoner had added, stated that Carranza had so ordered.

Mrs. Nellie F. Austin, whose husband and son were put to death by a raiding party in 1915 near Sebastian, Texas, told the story of their fate. She was ill when the Mexicans were at their home, she testified. When she recovered from a faint their appearance had caused, one of the Mexicans was holding a gun against her son, 30 years old, while her husband was held outside the house. Three times she became unconscious for brief intervals before the Mexicans drove away with the two men. Her husband called to her not to worry, they would return in a few minutes. They disappeared around a bend in the road and she heard the volley of the firing squad. When she got there the Mexicans had gone. Both her husband and son were dead.

Declarations that the raiders often wore Mexican Army uniforms; that their leaders in many cases were proved to be Mexican army officers, and that the raids were directed by high army officers were supplemented today by the placing in the evidence of a quantity of German ammunition and German-made guns taken from captured raiders in 1915-16. Additional reason for believing German nationality gave immunity even in 1915 was indicated in the testimony of John Kleiber, a District Attorney of the border county. He was on a train that was attacked and looted by Mexicans north of Brownsville. Two of the passengers who were reported to the attacking party as Germans were unmolested. In that raid Dr. E. S. McCain, the State Health Officer, three soldiers, and the engineer were killed. Almost all of the passengers were robbed.

Thomas Mayfield, then a Texas Ranger and now a Sheriff of one of the border counties, told of a raid on Sept. 4, 1915, in which four Americans were killed and one captured. The captured man was terribly mutilated before he was murdered by being thrown into the Rio Grande.

It appeared probable tonight that the hearings here would be concluded tomorrow, the committee going to El Paso on Sunday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—American intervention in Mexico would be bad for both countries, Manuel E. Espena, former Consul at New York and Philadelphia for Porfirio Diaz, Madera and Huerta, and an opponent of the Carranza Government, declared today before the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee investigating Mexican affairs.

Intervention, he said, would cause years of ill-feeling on the part of all Latin American countries. Lack of a definite Mexican policy by the United States, he added, increased the policy of intervention.

SEE PEACE IN OIL FIELDS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 23.—American business men here are pleased at the prospect of a settlement of the oil problem, which has prevented the expansion of American business. President Carranza's willingness to grant drilling permits subject to conditions which were proposed by the oil men is believed to be the beginning of a settlement of all dificulties and the first hopeful sign of a getting together by the Government and the oil companies. One prominent Cabinet official says that several small taxes over which there has been friction can easily be annulled if there is any chance of reaching an agreement.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 22 (Associated Press).—Representatives of petroleum interests will soon make application for permits to construct pipe lines to the principal Mexican ports and also to Mexico City, it was learned today in authoritative quarters. The expense of this work will approximate $50,000,000, it is said.

"The Allies owe us 450 million dollars' interest on the ten billion other dollars they owe us, but we're not going to collect even the interest just at present. For two reasons: first, we're sorry for them, and, second, they haven't got it."—Kansas City Star.

Must England Fight Reds To Retain Hold on India?

"To make a wide impression" on the elements of discontent in the Punjab, according to their commander, Brig. Gen. R. E. H. Dyer, British and Indian troops fired without warning last April on a meeting of Indians at Amritsar, killing five hundred persons and wounding about fifteen hundred in ten minutes. This action is now being investigated by a committee headed by Lord Hunter. The violent outbreaks of disorder in Calcutta, Bombay, and the Punjab, eventuated from the "passive-resistance" movement against the Rowlatt Act, which is directed at revolutionary and anarchical crime, and is made necessary by the attempts to overthrow British rule in India. Agitators seized upon this measure, the London Morning Post tells us, to organize an agitation which "threatened the very existence of British rule in India." Events in Afghanistan, and even in Bolshevik Russia, "may or may not have had a connection with this movement."

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for January 24th, there is an enlightening account of the unrest in India and how it menaces British rule in Asia. The article is accompanied with a map of the Indian trouble center.
